Editor's Column

STUART B. PADDOCK

This week we join all Arlington Heights in bidding Godspeed to a grand old man — Theodore Militzer — who has left his beloved hometown after 84 years to reside with a daughter in Tulsa, Okla.

He has left an imprint upon his hometown, as older residents well know.

The service of his family to Arlington Heights had its beginning in 1868, when his grandfather, the late Rev. J. E. Raeder, became pastor of St. Peter Lutheran church, a position he held for 31 years. When Rev. Raeder came to America on a business trip, he stayed to make his home here despite the wealth of his family in Germany. When ordered by his father to return nome or be disinherited, his reply: "I stay in America. Goodbye." Prior to coming to Arlington Heights, he studied for the ministry and was pastor to Indians in Michigan.

Mr. Militzer's father, the late Frederick Militzer, headed the Lutheran Christian day school for 51 years.

Theodore has been a teacher of music for 60 years, and it was only because of ill health that he gave up the last of his music pupils a year ago.

It is in recognition of those 60 years of community service that moved this editor to pay a farewell call upon him last Thursday.

Mr. Militzer has always been modest about his accomplishments, as shown when we inquired about degrees he has earned in music. "I have issued degrees to hundreds, but I have never had a degree conferred on me."

For five years, he was president of the Illinois Music Teachers association. He served for many years as a professor in music, harmony, and composition at the American Conservatory of Music and for some time had his own studio in the Fine Arts building downtown.

His service to local schools began when he was elected to the board of elementary school district 25.

Later, he was a leader in the legal battle to establish high school district 214 and was elected president of the newly-organized board, a position he held for 18 years. He was repeatedly re-elected without opposition because of his ability and loyalty.

When asked if he had any criticism to make about modern times, Mr. Militzer replied characteristically: "I have none to make because it wouldn't do any good if I did."

He did not hesitate to blame juvenile delinquency upon the parents. "The youth of today are normally no different than those of yesterday, except that there are no parents to give the school teacher authority to exert corporal punishment upon their sons. In the past, a son was held in check by his respect for his parents."

When Theodore was a boy, Saturday mornings were spent at household tasks; in the afternoon, he thought nothing of taking his gun and walking to Elk Grove. This provided the "physical education" we now expect schools to provide.

Youth in those days did not wait for schools to build athletic grounds. Games were played in pastures, particularly one large pasture which is now the site of Westgate subdivision.

School Doors Swing Open Tuesday to 7715

Arlington Heights elementary and junior high schools, both public and parochial, will open their doors next week to a record 7,715 students.

Accomodating 567 more pupils than they did last year, the village's eight public and three parochial schools will, as usual, be challenged to maintained high standards in the face of booming enrollments.

Classes in district 25 will begin Tuesday, Sept. 6, for grades three through eight. Kindergartners and first and second graders will start on Thursday, Sept. 8. The difference in starting time is because of parent-teacher conferences for the lower grades.

Enrollment in the district is expected to be 4300, up 309 over last year.

DISTRICT 25's Windsor school will run double sessions for its first, second, and third graders until after Christmas vacation when the new 19-room Kensington school is slated for occupancy.

Located just off Kensington rd. at the village's eastern limits, the new school will relieve crowded Windsor's 16 double session classes.

District 24's Wilson school, serving Hasbrook and Virginia Terrace subdivisions in north Arlington Heights, will open with close to 525 students as opposed to 440 last year. No double sessions are expected this year.

Limited space, however, prevents district 24 from offering kindergarten classes. The Wilson Community Kindergarten association, a private group of parents in the district, has arranged for the use of Prospect Heights elementary school. The association will conduct three classes of 25 children each starting Wednesday, Sept. 7.

OUR LADY OF the Wayside will begin classes Wednesday, Sept. 7, with over 1,000 students. This is about the number of students with which the school closed last year.

Classes at the Catholic school on the village's south side will be less crowded this year because of a six room addition, notes the Rev. Harold O'Hara.

Of the school's 21 teachers, 16 will be new. There will be 12 sisters, all new, and nine lay teachers.

St. James, the Catholic school on the north side of Arlington Heights, will open Wednesday, Sept. 7, with over 1400 students. It ended the year with 1300. The staff will be increased by four sisters and four lay teachers, for a total of 26 teachers.

ST. PETER Lutheran school's estimated 490 pupils, 50 more than last year, will open their school year with church services at 9 a.m., Tuesday, Sept. 6.

For the first time in its history the Lutheran school will have a full time principal in Mr. Edgar Spletzer.

St. Peter teachers have been attending workshops since August 15. The parents of each student have been visited by teachers this week for conferences.

Both the school office and the kindergarten have been moved into the old parsonage, making way for the increased enrollment.

Changes in district 25's curriculum include a compulsory foreign language program (French) for eighth graders with emphasis upon conversation.

THE DISTRICT is also extending its experiment with a different arithmetic text to one class of sixth graders at each of the two junior high schools. The text was used last year by third, fourth, and fifth graders.

Three committees in district 25 will continue their work in studying means of updating social studies, guidance, and language arts programs. Work of these committees is expected to be completed in the form of reports during the coming year.

In district 24 a speech correctionist and guidance counselor will be available for the first time. The district will also share the services of a nurse with district 25.

Physical improvements for Wilson school include a walk around the school and blacktop for the parking lot and playground.

Mrs. Thal Found Dead In Her Home

Mrs. Hugo J. Thal died Friday, Aug. 26. Her husband, former Arlington Heights trustee and village attorney for nearly half a century, passed away last March.

The 73-year-old Mrs. Thal was discovered dead from a heart attack at her home at 102 W. Euclid by her daughter, Mrs. Mildred Smith.

She is survived by Mrs. Smith of Palatine, a son, Donald, of California, and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at St. John United Church of Christ. Interment was in Memory Gardens.

Stoolies

Stolen money and valuables worth $772,533 were recovered last year through confidential tips to the F.B.I.

Take It Or Leave It Choice

The fate of controversial Oakton st. in north Arlington Heights has been narrowed to two alternatives —a 28 ft. wide street from Yale to State rd. or no improvement at all.

The question of public improvement to the street was brought to a head by board of local improvement members, who by a three to two vote directed engineers to draw up plans for a 28 ft. width.

After a formal public hearing, probably in October, the matter will go to village trustees who may either accept the board of local improvement's (BOLI) action or reject it. Trustees may not make a change in the BOLI's recommendation.

THE VILLAGE board will no doubt be divided, as they have in the past, over what should be done to Oakton. The width of the east-west street has provoked some of the most bitter debate on record among village trustees.

Mayor Edward Carlisle has repeatedly pointed out that village's master plan recommends a 40 ft. width for Oakton.

Home owners in the area, however, are almost to a man opposed to anything over a 30 ft. width. At least one trustee, William Sauer, feels likewise.

A 28 ft. width would allow two 10 ft. moving lanes and an eight foot parking lane. The project would be financed by special assessments levied on property owners benefiting from the improvement.

MEMBERS of the BOLI voting against 28 ft., L. W. Ewing and Russell Colvin, argue that school construction planned for the area, particularly the Catholic high school and junior college, requires a greater width than 28 ft. for Oakton.

"We'd all like to keep Arlington Heights a nice quiet village, but let's face it, times are changing. A 28 ft. width for Oakton is short sighted," says Colvin.

He argues that the Catholic high school will be responsible for at least 36 bus trips a day in the area plus many private cars and bicycles.

"The congestion caused by a 28 ft. Oakton will fan out onto residential streets, some not more than 25 ft. in width and create hazards throughout the area," says Colvin.

HAROLD Klingner, president of the BOLI, who voted with Edwin Culbertson and Edmond M. Shanahan in favor of 28 ft., argues that heavy traffic in the area can use Palatine rd. (planned as a limited access expressway) or Euclid (planned for widening).

"Oakton would never extend beyond the village limits unless we condemned valuable property at great cost," notes Klingner.

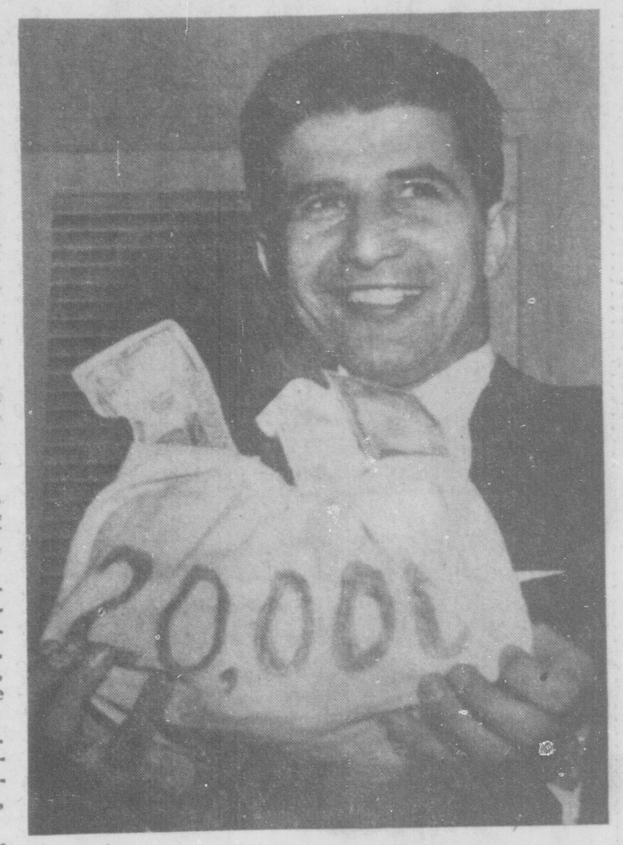
He also points out there will likely be little parking on Oakton because of the amount of side yardage bordering on the street.

Illegal Dip

Two 13-year-olds were picked up last week by Arlington Heights police for swimming in the Hasbrook retention basin at Thomas and Chestnut sts. The boys told police they had crawled under the fence.

'I've Lost Everything'

Dick Hauff Busted; Country Club Closed



THINGS HAVE gone the other way for Richard Hauff, owner of the Mt. Prospect country club, pictured above holding the bag of loot he offered in his women's golf tournament last summer. This week the young playboy said he was flat broke. His club has been judged bankrupt in District court and placed in receivership.

"I'm busted to the nail. The roof fell in. I've lost everything I've got. I'm defeated.

"Even the 'broads' have deserted me. They won't speak to me. They won't even answer the phone. I can't make a comeback. I couldn't afford to take Zsa Zsa to a drive-in.

"I never want to see another golf club."

The doors were locked on the Mt. Prospect country club last Friday by order of U.S. District court Judge Michael Igoe.

And Richard W. Hauff, the 26-year-old playboy—owner of the club, was out of business.

HAUFF'S FINANCIAL demise came after three creditors petitioned the court August 15 to declare the Mt. Prospect Country Club, Inc., the corporation that runs the course, bankrupt.

The creditors are A. G. Spalding, Inc., $579.16; Bowen, Inc., $540.48; and Jackman Sports Wear company, Inc., $415.53.

Judge Igoe appointed a receiver for the property August 23. He is Charles D. Maley.

Hauff's attorneys filed a consent to an adjudication of the bankruptcy two days later, and Igoe ordered Maley to take over the assets of the club Friday. The clubhouse was closed over the weekend, and several people were using the course without paying greens fees.

Hearings were held Monday and Wednesday to determine how much money is left in the corporation's coffers, and to gather a long list of bills outstanding that Hauff admits may run to $160,000.

WHAT WILL BE done with the vacant club was up in the air Wednesday morning. A rumor that Hauff was forming another corporation to run the business, and another that a group headed by a Palatine lawyer and Arlington Heights real estate man was going to take it over, were flying left and right.

Maley has the power to contract with a group to run the club while it is in receivership. His attorney, Howard Barron, said it was "possible" that this would be done.

Hauff, meanwhile, denied that he was going to have anything to do with the course.

THE QUESTION of the ownership of the club came up repeatedly during the week as Maley's office conducted its investigation of the property.

The bankrupt corporation, according to reports, was leasing the facilities from a trust set up in Chicago's American National bank. The beneficiaries of the trust which reportedly include Hauff and comprise a separate corporation, are unknown.

Hauff has repeatedly denied that he is backed by hoodlum elements.

Village officials and club members were shaking their heads over the latest escapade of Mt. Prospect's "most notorious citizen."

The village has shut off water to the cubhouse for nonpayment of back bills. And trustees were considering pressing President Theodore Lams for revocation of the establishment's liquor license, which is in Hauff's name.

A LARGE GROUP of club members were forming a committee to see if they could take over temporary operation of the course.

Talk of reviewing proposals for the local park district to step in and buy the club was in the air.

Park District President Edward Boddy said Wednesday that he thought this would be a good idea, and that he believed the club could be operated successfully by the district.

"If the pubic interest was strong enough to warrant our taking steps, we would move," he said. "But the people of the district would have to start the movement."

Meanwhile, police were investigating a week-end breakin at the club during which vandles damaged cigarette machines, furnishings, and other property. A can of black paint was measured across a plate window in the southwest corner of the building.

Classes Begin Tuesday

High Schools Expect Record 4300 Pupils

Classes begin Tuesday for a record 4300 high school district 214 students.

Superintendent H. L. Slichenmyer disclosed the enrollment figure Tuesday, but pointed out that "it isn't complete yet." So far, the count has 2049 students slated for Arlington high school and 2340 for Prospect high school.

Freshmen make up a large percentage of the schools' enrollment. There will be 708 first year students at Prospect and 696 at Arlington. Prospect also has a senior class for the first time. If all graduate, Prospect will hand out 512 diplomas at commencement in June.

Arlington seniors dropped from an 800 plus figure last year to less than half that number, 390.

TO MEET the increased enrollment the district has hired 57 new teachers, including 32 replacements and 25 new positions. The schools' combined faculty now numbers 226, but Slichenmyer hopes to make it 227 before Tuesday. "We are still trying to find another French teacher," he explains.

Students have been paying fees, picking up their schedules and books, and officially registering last week and this week. "Many newcomers have become part of the student body since school closed last spring, but we expect that some of last year's students will not show up this year," Slichenmyer stated.

The superintendent expects the final enrollment figure to be around 4300 for the two schools. Both Arlington and Prospect high have capacities of 2500 students.

THE DISTRICT'S teaching staff consists of 158 men and 68 women. Of these, 147 have earned masters' degrees, five have 32 hours past their master's, and two have doctorates.

The two high schools have reversed time schedules this year. Arlington will begin classes at 8:30 a.m. with dismissal time set at 3:20 and the activity period extending to 4:10 p.m. Prospect's schedule calls for an 8 a.m. opening and 2:30 dismissal, the activity period extending to 3:40 p.m.

With the exception of the addition of senior courses at Prospect high school, the district's curriculum has not changed from last year's. Such courses as English IV, sociology, physics, world affairs, political geography, and Far-Eastern history will be taught at Prospect for the first time.

STUDENTS WILL notice a change in cafeteria prices. Miss Mary Handlin, cafeteria director for the district, has announced that "due to the higher cost of food and the increased expense of preparing meals, lunches will sell for 40 cents instead of the 35 cents charged last year."

Teachers have been attending a workshop this week. The meetings began Monday for the teachers new to the district, the "old timers" joining activities Tuesday. A potluck dinner for teachers, staff and board of education members is planned for this evening.

Pay Taxes To Collector

All real estate and personal property taxes for 1959 must now be paid to Francis S. Lorenz, County Collector at 118 N. Clark st., Chicago, township tax collectors announced this week.

The local collectors cannot accept payments after September 1, 1960 and a penalty of one per cent per month must be included with the delinquent payment. Receipts will then be mailed out from the Chicago office.

Annual Finance Campaign Set

Arlington Heights League of Women Voters will conduct its annual fund drive September 2-12.

The League furnishes factual non-partisan information on candidates and issues, works to arouse citizen interest in government, and conducts such civic projects as publication of the "Presenting Arlington Heights" booklet.

Educators Probe Why Of 'Under-Achievers'

(This is the second in a series of articles on elementary and junior high school education procured for Paddock Publications from the National Education Association by Arlington Heights school district 25).

If your child is intelligent, but not as successful in school as he should be, he may be what educators call an "underachiever." As such, he and the thousands of others like him have recently been analyzed, surveyed, researched, probed, and conferred about by teachers, psychologists, curriculum supervisors, and guidance counselors.

Their purpose? To discover why people of similar intelligence often differ widely in school achievement. The National Education Association has been conducting a special project on the academically talented for the past two years. These are some of the things the experts have discovered about the underachieving child, and how he gets that way:

MORE BOYS than girls are underachievers. One researcher found that twice as many boys as girls fail to do the school work of which they are capable.

Lack of family interest in learning is sometimes the reason for scholastic underachievement in children of ability. In one study, a group of children who had failed the first grade were put into a special room for the next year. During the period of investigation, teachers visited the home of each child. One of their observations was the lack of any kind of reading material in many of the homes. In others, they found these underachieving children had never visited the public library, only three or four blocks away. The children had seldom traveled outside of the city.

Underachievement sometimes results from a child's serious emotional disturbances.

UNDERACHIEVERS are usually less mature, lack self-confidence and have fewer real and deep interests compared with high-achievement youngsters.

Underachievers have less drive or determination to achieve than the high-achievement group. Boys who succeed best in school usually had early home training in independence, self-reliance, and self-direction. Many had been encouraged before the age of eight to find their way around the city, to try new things for themselves, to do well in competition, and to make their own friends.

What can be done to help bright underachievers live up to their high potentials? Educators are working on that problem, one of the most important and difficult ones to solve in every school. They do say this: the underachiever in high school should be taught the learning skills he failed to acquire in earlier years. He will probably improve, too, if he has a teacher who is consistently interested in him as an individual, and who accepts him as a bright and able person with a need for special help.

Good Vision Is Vital For Grades

Dr. Paul Newman and Dr. Ben Weprin, Westgate Medical center, Arlington Heights, remind you that the young, vigorous eyes of children can be overworked. Children use their eyes constantly, often overtaxing them to the point of eyestrain.

Moreover, youthful eyes do change - sometimes much earlier than you might expect. That's why you should safeguard your children's precious vision by taking them for regular eye checkups. . .just as you take them to the doctor and dentist for their regular medical and dental checkups.

SUCH EXAMINATIONS are especially important because people still have eyes that nature created for distant seeing - a heritage from our prehistoric ancestors. But today, much of the visual activity of children (and of adults, too) is at close range. Homework, reading, watching television, to mention a few examples.

Thus, periodic examinations by your eye doctor—for the whole family—are now more important than ever. For the sake of their health and happiness, you should have your children's eyes examined at least once every year. (A

GOP Candidate

Lodge Slates Suburban Talk

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice presidential candidate, will make a major campaign speech before an estimated 35,000 people at Old Orchard shopping center, Skokie, Thursday, Sept. 15 at 7:30 p.m., it was announced Thursday by Congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church.

Rep. Church, whose district comprises 12 Cook county townships and all of Lake county, including Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove and Schaumburg townships, said that Ambassador Lodge's appearance would culminate one of the largest motorcades ever attempted in the district.

Thousands upon thousands will pour into the massive shopping center by bicycle car and bus from throughout the 13th district as well as nearby communities, the north side of Chicago and the south end of Wisconsin.

OLD ORCHARD has parking space for more than 7,000 cars and nearby areas will swell that total to more than 10,000, Mrs. Church said.

Spearheading the motorcade locally will be the Republican township committeemen. The first preliminary meeting of the township committeemen and Mrs. Church has been scheduled for Friday, September 2, at 7 p.m. at Dohl's Morton House restaurant, Morton Grove.

Ambassador Lodge will arrive in Chicago Wednesday, Sept. 14, to address a $100 a plate dinner sponsored by the Witwer for Senator committee.

HE WILL campaign throughout the city Thursday, Sept. 15, culminating his day at Old Orchard.

It is expected that scores of other state, county and local candidates, including Samuel Witwer, Governor William G. Stratton, Secretary of State Charles Carpentier, State's Attorney Ben Adamowski and Circuit Court Clerk Francis Connell, GOP candidate for Cook County judge will be in attendance.

Policeman Cited For Solving Case

BUD BISCHOFFER
Arlington Heights Police Officer Bud Bischoffer has been cited in a commendation for "his alertness, diligence and his faithful attention to duty," for breaking a hit and run case.

Police Chief L. W. Calderwood noted in the commendation that Bischoffer, while off duty, spotted a car in a repair shop at Algonquin and State rds. that fitted the description of an auto involved in a hit and run accident August 17 at Vail st. and the Northwest hwy.

BISCHOFFER inspected the car, checked its license, and reported his findings to headquarters.

The car was checked out, and the owner, Lance A. Jahnke, 22, of 419 N. Douglas, was called into the station last week.

After questioning, he signed a statement stating that he had sideswiped the rear end of a car on Northwest hwy., but had panicked and sped home.

Bischoffer, 31, joined the force in February, 1959. He is married and became a father for the first time last week. (AF

OK Park Funds For 2 Courts

Arlington Heights' park board this week approved funds for construction of two tennis courts adjacent to Dryden school. The work will be completed this fall.

The decision to improve the park district's two acres next to the school is part of a park plan to develop other similar sites next to school property, according to Tom Thornton, park director. He noted the facilities would be used by school children during the school year and by the park district during the summer.

The park board also approved construction of hard surface multiple use areas for two neighborhood parks.

MULTIPLE USE areas, suitable for basketball, volleyball, and games, will be constructed in Klehm park at the corner of Wilshire and Hawthorn, and in Banta park between Phelps and Waterman in the Kensington Manor subdivision.

In other action the board approved the installation of sidewalks along Grove and Kennicott streets next to Pioneer park.

THEODORE Militzer as he appeared in his home at 302 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights, before leaving last week for his future home with a daughter at 1004 E. 36th place Tulsa, 5, Okla. Files of Paddock Publications reads in part, "Fifty four years ago Mr. Militzer established a concert orchestra in Chicago in order to give native born musicians an opportunity to play together in a symphony. The orchestra struggled on for several years until it eventually merged into another group and the present symphony orchestra was formed." He was born in Arlington Heights April 8, 1876. His wife died in 1945, since which time he has resided alone until a year ago. There are two sons, a daughter and five grandchildren.

ROBERT D. WOLFF

Robert D. Wolff, 720 N. Kaspar, is the newly appointed director of music at Our Saviour's Lutheran church, 1234 N. State rd., beginning today, September 1. The new position of music director there was a church council action, resulting from a general desire to broaden and intensify the sacred music program of the congregation.

The initial beginnings of the enlarged music program will occur the second week in September and will activate four choirs. These will be: Carol choir for fourth, fifth and sixth graders; Chorister choir for seventh and eighth graders; Chapel choir for high school students, and the Chancel choir for adults. In addition to directing these choirs, Mr. Wolff will also play the organ.

Mr. Wolff is a 1943 graduate of Carthage college, at which school he rose to the rank of full professor in 1955 and became head of the organ and church music department. In 1948 he received a master's degree from Northwestern university. In June of this year he was awarded the doctor of philosophy degree in music education at Columbia university, New York.

Well-known at Arlington high school as a vocal music director, he has held this position since 1955. He directs the programs of the school's senior choir, the Choraliers, the girl's glee club, and participates in teaching the music and fine arts course. He has also directed operettas and other musical productions at the school.

Mr. Wolff, his wife, Carol, and their 6-year-old daughter, Sherilynn, have been Arlington Heights residents for five years, and members of Our Saviour's for three years. During the past five years, he has been director of music at South Community Baptist church in Mt. Prospect.

ENJOYING A game of chess are Mr. and Mrs. B. Jamnadass of Nairobi, Kenya, Southeast Africa, right, and their weekend hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patterson, 1116 E. St. James, Arlington Heights. The couple is on a world tour sponsored by the World Assembly of Youth and arrived in Chicago from Washington, D. C. Saturday evening. Jamnadass, president of Central Youth League in Kenya, spoke to the junior department of the Presbyterian church school Sunday morning and in the evening met with 18 members of the church's discussion group in the Patterson home. The couple will next visit the west coast, then go on to Hawaii and Japan and complete the last leg of their around-the-world lecture and discussion tour. (A

Hasbrook Happens

Thursday, Sept. 1, 1960

Steve and Billy Grabowski, 1818 N. Mitchell are now concentrating on school after having returned from an extensive vacation trip to Colorado as guests of their grandparents, the Walter Grabowskis of Chicago.

The Dan Fishers of 520 Ridge ct. have returned from an insurance convention held at French Lick, Ind.

The Buchanan family, 1639 N. Chestnut, drove Mrs. Buchanan's parents to Greencastle, Ind. and from there went to Land O'Lakes to visit Mrs. Buchanan's brother and his family.

The Kupinens of 1720 N. Chestnut have returned from a 2-week vacation at their cottage in Wisconsin. And Bev Caulfield and her children have returned from a 2-week vacation in Waterloo, Iowa, visiting her mother.

AFTER AN extended trip to the west coast, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wood of Mt. Vernon, Ill. are visiting the Jack Woods at 1625 N. Chestnut.

Mrs. Katherine Johnson of Williams Bay, Wis. was a weekend guest of Mrs. A. Foerster, 1541 N. Ridge.

Hasbrook has lost another well liked family, the Jake Gordons of Ridge ct. The Merrill Nelsons and all the folks in Ridge ct. gave a farewell party for the Gordons who moved to Atlanta, Ga.

The Vincent Rhoneys of 1809 N. Mitchell are newcomers to this area, having moved here from Niagara Falls, N.Y. Mrs. Rhoney's parents, the Thomas Wards, also of Niagara Falls, have been recent visitors.

The Dave Hartmans of 1702 N. Chestnut are still being congratulated on the birth of Lori Eileen born June 17; also the Bob Albrights of 1542 N. Ridge ave. Their first child, a girl, was born in Augustana hospital August 23.

MARG KNOTT of 1717 N. Chestnut and Sue Jends recently gave a baby shower for Pat Pasquale, 1805 N. Walnut. Those present were Nora Devine, Kathy Miller, Dotty Wilshire, Jean Sjogren, Rose Metcalf, Lois Hansen, Helen Sheahan and Barb Gecan.

Joan Fisher, 520 Ridge ct., is convalescing from a broken ankle.

A number of baby showers were given recently. Carol Kendall, 716 Thomas, gave a shower for Joan Ruggeri attended by close neighbors. Merle Swanson, 708 Lynnwoo gave a shower for Shirley Patterson attended by neighbors.

Carol McCullough and Ann Lowe of Lynnwood ave. gave a shower for Mary Grant; and Merel Anderson, 704 Thomas, had a baby shower for Gail Pustaver.

Mrs. Dorothy Smith, 712 Lynnwood, and children, spent two weeks in Quincy, Ill. visiting her mother.

Block parties are popular in Hasbrook and District 10 was not to be outdone. Lynnwood ave. was roped off at Thomas to permit extensive activities. Everybody had a good time and hoped for another one next year.

Enrollment in Suburb Schools Increase 7%

Enrollment in suburban elementary and high schools will increase seven per cent this year.

Announcement of the increase was made this week by Noble J. Puffer, Cook county Superintendent of Schools.

The suburban elementary school enrollment this September will be 209,256, and the high school enrollment will be 75,921.

A total of 412 new elementary classrooms will be available this fall, providing seating facilities for 12,000 students.

"To the layman," Puffer noted, "412 additional classrooms seem like a great deal of progress toward meeting the schoolhouse needs of suburban schools. However, a year ago there were 580 new classrooms made available for elementary pupils, which would seat more than 17,000 students."

TW NEW HIGH school buildings will be open for the first time this fall, with a total of 50 classrooms. Another 67 new classrooms will be added through additions to existing high schools.

Last year there were 323 new classrooms. The cost of new high schools and additions this year was $4,889,000.

Puffer said: "We can expect increasing high school enrollments for the future as long as we continue to hav increased elementary enrol ments. It is too bad that i some communities the cit zens have seemingly show their resentment toward th young people of their com munity by their unwillingness to provide additional needed educational funds for the operation of our schools."

He also noted that half-day sessions are on the increase this year for elementary students. Last year there were 11 districts having 171 half-day sessions. This year, there will be 15 districts having 317 half-day sessions.

Youths Are Urged: Complete Schooling

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell issued the following open letter to young people this week, urging them to complete their schooling:

"Studies by the Department of Labor show that during the next 10 years new young men and women in the U. S. labor force will have unprecedented opportunities for advancement. Due to the low birth rate of the 1930's there will be a shortage of trained and experienced people in the 25 to 44 age brackets and these jobs will be open to those qualified to handle them regardless of age.

Thus, young Americans of the 1960's will be able to advance faster than any similar age group in history.

"TO OBTAIN and hold these jobs, however, young people will need all the schooling and training they have the capacity to absorb. College and postgraduate degrees are, of course, required in most of the professional and technical fields. A high school diploma is already demanded by many of the skilled trades before they will accept a young person for training.

"There can be no doubt that additional years of training pay off. Our studies show an increase during the 1960's of 40 per cent in job opportunities in the professional and technical fields, with similar expanding opportunities at managerial, clerical, sales, and skilled trade levels.

"These studies also show a steady decrease in the number of jobs requiring little education and training. In the past these were the jobs absorbing the greatest number of the new young workers but today many of them have disappeared and as our technological age advances more and more of them will have ceased to be available.

"AS A GROUP, the young men and women now entering the labor force are better educated than their predecessors but still far too many of them are without the basic education demanded today. Present estimates for the 1960's indicate that about 7½ million of the new entrants to the labor force will not even have a high school diploma.

"These youngsters will be seriously handicapped in their search for work. They will have to compete with better prepared school graduates, and the competition will be stiffer than ever.

In the 1960's there will be 140 new young workers for every 100 in the 1950's. For young people without a high school diploma, getting and holding a rewarding job will be difficult. (B8

Newspaper Serves As Teaching Tool

Use of the newspaper in high school English classes to help students improve their reading ability, their comprehension and their knowledge of current events, is officially recommended by the New York State Education Department in a new brochure prepared by Ralph E. Decker, a former high school English teacher.

Some of the suggestions made to teacher in the brochure are almost game-like, with a view to stimulating interest and speed.

One suggestion, for example, is that copies of the same newspaper be distributed among pupils following preparation of a list of pertinent questions by the teacher. Pupils are told to find the answer in the process of scanning the papers.

Timing the results is suggested to add zest to the test.

Another suggestion is that students try to improve the headlines on news stories by rewriting them. The object is to stimulate them to discover the main points of the article, and to state them briefly.

Reading speeds may be tested with due consideration for time necessary to absorb stories of straight fact, reasoning in editorials, and instructions in how-to-do-it features.

Awareness of structure also is made a subject of analysis by comparisons of the various types of articles, as an aid to speeding both reading and comprehension.

Stimulation of discussions with respect to the comparative value or importance of news is suggested also as an aid to the student's comprehension.

The brochure, "Use of Mass Media in Teaching English," also deals with magazines, movies, radio and television, with suggestions to the teacher similar to those applied to the newspaper.

Gordon E. Van Hooft, Chief of the Bureau of Secondary Curriculum Development, emphasizes, in a foreword, the constructive use that can be made of mass media normally observed by the students.

Bus Schedules Listed For Arlington Schools

Arlington Heights Public Schools District No. 25 Arlington Heights, Illinois

Bus routes for all public school children of District 25, Arlington Heights, are listed with the starting points and bus stops. Buses will not stop at any corners other than those listed to pick up or discharge pupils.

The bus transportation will be furnished by the Ritzenthaler Bus Service. Only children having a free bus pass issued by the School District or a bus ticket purchased from the School District will be allowed to ride the bus after the morning of September 6, the first day of classes.

The cost of a bus ticket is $4.75 per calendar month and can be purchased from the principal's office of any school for which bus service is provided. The monthly ticket for May will be good for the days of school in June without extra charge.

Notice of Public Hearing

By Zoning Board of Appeals of the Village of Arlington Heights, Ill.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a public hearing will be held Tuesday, Sept. 20, 1960 in the Municipal Bldg., 107 W. Davis st., Arlington Heights, on a petition for variation in zoning to allow a reduction in the required number of parking spaces for stores and offices to be erected on the following legally described property:

"Lots 1, 2, 3, & 4 in Block 16 in Arlington Park, a subdivision of the North ½ of the N.W. ¼ (except the No. 25 feet thereof) of Section 30, Township 42 No., Range 11, East of the 3rd Principal Meridian, lying North Easterly of the Northerly line of right-of-way of Chicago & North Western Railway Co. in Cook County, Ill.," commonly known as Race & Northwest Highway.

All persons interested will be given an opportunity to be heard.

Eastwood Events

The Walter Spinti family of 314 N. Lincoln lane entertained visitors from St. Louis last week. Mrs. Spinti's brother and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cason, and daughters Janet and Barbara, stayed in Arlington Heights Wednesday and Thursday, enroute home from a visit in Philadelphia with their daughter, Mrs. Steve Brown, and her family. A trip to Lake Geneva, where they enjoyed picnicking and boating was on the entertainment agenda.

Frankfort, Ky. was the recent vacation site of the Matt Cockrell family. They visited there with Mr. Cockrell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Cockrell. On the way home they stayed for three days at the Mayfair motel in Indianapolis. The motel's pool was thoroughly enjoyed by Mary Elizabeth, Carol and Matt Jr., and just relaxing provided a pleasant interlude for Mr. and Mrs. Cockrell.

On August 5 Mr. and Mrs. William Bunn moved into the home formerly occupied by the Wilbert Hartmann family at 603 N. Beverley. A business transfer brought the Bunns to Arlington Heights daughter, Gale, who is 9½, will enter fifth grade at North school in September.

MR. AND MRS. Edgar Neas with Caroline, Philip, David and Betsy, traveled to Knoxville, Tenn. to attend the 50th wedding aniversary of Mr. Neas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Urban Neas. Sunday, Aug. 7 an open house for friends and relatives was given in honor of the occasion. Before returning home, the Neas family enjoyed a stay in Gatlinburg in the Smoky mountains.

For the past week Caroline Neas has been among the 75 Arlington high school band members who have been staying at Interlochen music camp in Michigan. The youngsters have been living in cabins, and besides practicing their music, they have enjoyed swimming and trips to Traverse City. Caroline plays the clarinet in the Arlington high band.

August 18 Chuckie Fill celebrated his sixth birthday with a party for 11 boys all from the 600 block on N. Beverley. Chuckie's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fill, 642 N. Beverley.

Mrs. Fill and the children, spent last week at a cottage on Wonder lake. Swimming in the lake, rather than in a crowded pool, was thoroughly enjoyed by the Fills.

Why Did They Die?

Safety Council Studies Why Holiday Auto Horror Mounts

Four hundred and forty-two Americans took to the road over the recent Fourth of July holiday weekend — even as millions upon millions of other folks.

But these 442 men, women and children differed from the other millions of holiday celebrants. They didn't return. They died in the holiday traffic — some as drivers, some as passengers, some as pedestrians.

Why did they die? What were the conditions and circumstances of their death on the streets and highways? Was there a pattern to their deaths? Does holiday horror on the highway follow a formula?

IN AN EFFORT to dig still further into the hidden causes of holiday traffic accidents, the National Safety Council asked traffic safety coordinators of the 50 states to obtain answers to questions that normally are not asked in police investigation of holiday traffic crashes.

When the returns were in, the Council found the answers it had received to its questions covered more than 400 of the 442 holiday traffic deaths.

Here are the highlights of what the survey revealed:

1. Not a single one of all the people who lost their lives in these holiday traffic accidents wore a seat belt!

In 42 per cent of the fatal crashes which did not involve a pedestrian and in which the Council's question on the advantages of seat belts was answered, the investigator stated definitely that the seat belts would have saved the victims' lives. In another 20 per cent, the investigator felt seat belts probably would have prevented death.

2. FIFTY-ONE per cent of the fatal holiday crashes occurred in the first 30 hours of the 78-hour holiday period which began at 6 p.m. Friday.

Nine per cent of the accidents came in the first six hours (the Friday night period), 42 per cent in the 24 hours of Saturday and only 23 per cent in the final 24 hours on Monday.

"This," commented the Council, "indicates that the shock of the rising holiday toll, plus the impact of constant warnings of traffic danger by the press, radio and television, got through to the drivers. It emphasizes the need of getting similar warnings across to the public before the holiday begins."

3. During the first 12 hours of the holiday period, traffic deaths averaged almost six an hour. In the final 12 hours — from noon to midnight Monday — the average came down to just a little more than four an hour, despite the rush of homebound traffic.

4. THREE OUT OF five of the fatal holiday traffic crashes (62 per cent) involved only one vehicle. That is, the car either ran off the road, hit a pedestrian, or crashed into a fixed object.

5. Almost one third (31 per cent) of the drivers involved in the fatal holiday crashes were under 25 years old. Eighteen per cent were under 20.

The council pointed out that information is not available on what percentage of the total holiday driving was done by younger drivers. It emphasized, therefore, that the figures showed only involvement of younger drivers and did not definitely rate their driving ability.

6. Where drinking or speeding were involved in the fatal holiday crashes, half of the drivers had records of previous violations — mostly for speeding or drinking.

7. Three out of four of the fatal holiday accidents reported (73 per cent) occurred in rural areas, as contrasted with city or built - up suburban areas. Fifty - four per cent of the accidents in which pedestrians were killed occurred in rural areas.

8. ALMOST THREE out of five fatal holiday crashes occurred on roads with which the driver was familiar.

Fifty - eight per cent of the drivers involved in the fatal accidents had driven the death road frequently, 29 per cent had driven it occasionally, and only 13 per cent had driven it rarely.

"This suggests, of course," said the Council, "that familiarity does breed contempt — for signs, signals, and for life itself."

9. Half the fatal accidents occurred within 10 miles of the driver's home. More than one third came within five miles of home. Two thirds came within 25 miles and three fourths within 50 miles. Only 7 per cent came more than 250 miles from home.

"This," commented the Council, "definitely dispels the notion that short trips are relatively danger - free. Care must start when the car leaves the garage."

10. FOUR OUT OF five of the fatal, accidents occurred in the driver's own state.

11. Twenty - five per cent of the trips which ended in death were for the purpose of visiting friends or relatives. Twelve per cent were for picnicking, 11 for business, seven for shopping, five for going to or from work. Only two per cent were for vacation trips which just happened to include the holiday period.

12. Fifty-five per cent of the fatal holiday accidents came on the way home, and 45 per cent while going. On picnic trips, two out of three fatal accidents occurred while returning. On business trips, three out of four came while returning. In trips for visiting, however, they occurred more frequently while going.

"Much of all this information," said the Council, "merely confirms what we have known from previous and constant study of traffic accidents on a year - round basis.

"But some of the data does give us valuable new leads on where to concentrate our efforts and what to emphasize in our suggestion to the public.

"The fundamental lesson to be learned is that an accident may happen anywhere, any time, if caution and common sense are relaxed."

Form Nixon Group; Seek Volunteers

An additional spark to the coming Republican campaign in the suburbs is being given by the Northwest branch of Volunteers for Nixon, which is gaining momentum thruout the country.

Carl R. Hansen, 102 S. Edward st., Mt. Prospect, is chairman and Mrs. Way Thompson, Iverness, is co-chairman for the six northwest townships. Charles Bane is Cook county chairman.

Hansen was formerly the chairman of Young Republicans of Cook county. He will especially seek Republican support among independent voters.

The group's goal is an active unit in every community. They will go all out for Richard Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge

Champion Twirler On Staff

Marcene Larkin, twirling champion from Kansas, has joined the staff of Miss Jennie's School of Baton, Jennie England, director of the school, announced this week.

Mrs. Larkin has won three consecutive Kansas state championships, a Tri-state championship, and second place in the national finals.

Jennie's School of Baton has a studio in Arlington Heights, and is opening new studios in Mt. Prospect and Palatine.

MRS. LARKIN began twirling as a four year old. She attended the University of Kansas for four years, graduating in 1959. In addition to being featured performer for the marching band, Mrs. Larkin was given Mortar Board honors for high scholastic achievement, leadership and service to the university.

She moved to Palatine this year, and will instruct first grade at Paddock school.

Forest View school will open Tuesday, Sept. 6, at 8:30 a.m., for all grades, first through sixth. The teachers are Mrs. Bengsten, first, Mrs. Simpson, second, Miss Kershner, third and fourth, and Mrs. Miller, fifth and sixth. Mrs. Jan. Dwyer is the new school secretary.

Karin Anderson celebrated her 13th birthday with a luncheon party August 26 for a group of friends.

The Russell Andersons attended the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free church couples club family swimming party and picnic at Wooster lake Saturday afternoon and evening.

The Ed Lauings attended a Toastmasters' summer supper at the residence of President Jim Kulz Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Krause and son, Leroy, of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. A. Gorr of Prospect Heights were visitors at the Fred Gorr home Sunday.

The M. Kanies family of Franklin Park spent Sunday with the Bill Sundblads.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Paus celebrated their 13th wedding anniversary when they went to Old Heidelberg for dinner and took in a movie on Saturday.

OVERNIGHT GUESTS on Tuesday of the Henry Rossbergs were the Gene Panjan family. Weekend guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Lipke and children, Mrs. Viola Weiss and Mrs. Josephine Dumke, all of Chicago, and Bob and Diane Dumke of Oak Lawn. Sunday the Rossbergs and guests attended the Pleasant Valley farm in Woodstock for services and social gathering.

Mrs. George Mailfold, George Jr. and Jayne went to see the Cubs beat the Phillies, 5 to 4, Saturday afternoon.

Sunday the Harvey Mehlhops attended the seventh birthday party for Michael Schultz, nephew of Mrs. Mehlhop, in Chicago.

Surprise visitors in the Baldassari home Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kroll and daughters, Pat, Nancy, Holly and Sherry, of Elmwood Park, former home of the Baldassaris. Sherry Kroll is Tom and Goldy's godchild.

Mrs. A. Nangelsdorf, Chicago, mother of Mrs. Ernest Paus, is spending this week with her daughter and family.

Greetings go to Larry Mailfold, who celebrated her birthday August 26, and to John Turner, August 25.

Sharon Luczak's annual splash party for her friends and classmates was held at her home Sunday. It included a weiner roast over an old fashioned log bonfire.

Arlington Greens

The William Ravas family, 1102 N. Beverly lane, enjoyed a 12-day Florida vacation earlier this month, which included a short stay at Daytona Beach, another few days at Miami and a drive along the scenic Tamiami trail. A stop at Tennessee's Lookout mountain and jaunts through nearby caves was the last of things to see before the trip home.

To celebrate Karen's first birthday, August 18, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Chase entertained a number of relatives and friends at a cook-out party at their home, 634 E. Clarendon ave. Attending the affair were Karen's godparents, Miss Ayleen Malburg of Arlington, Richard Chase of Palatine, the Jerry Chase family of Woodstock, great aunt, Miss Marie Raupp of Buffalo Grove, great grandparents, the Harry R. Obrests of Chicago, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Obrest.

Mrs. Vivian May, her son, Bob, and mother, Mrs. G. Johnson, of 1149 N. Hickory ave., ended a 4-day trip on Thursday. Heading north along the Lake Michigan shoreline, they stopped for sightseeing at Sturgeon bay and the Menominee State forest in Wisconsin, then on to Sault Ste. Marie, in upper Michigan, and Mackinac City.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Dettloff, 1160 N. Hickory, for a week were the Russell Hoffmanns and their sons, Timmy and Roger, of Sioux City.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Nichols, 1185 N. Beverly lane, and the children, Terry and Janie, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Harding at their summer cottage on Lake Ripley in Wisconsin recently.

MR. AND MRS. John Davis and daughter, Linda, of 1134 N. Dryden, spent Wednesday through Saturday of last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Julian DeWindt in their home in Grand Rapids.

The George Kellers, 1155 N. Douglas, entertained cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Kolmacic and their children, Lorraine and Johnny, who travelled from Youngstown, Ohio, for a 2-day visit, beginning on Thursday of last week.

House guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thorsen, 661 E. Clarendon, for the past two weeks has been their niece, Miss Joyce Thorsen of Twin Lakes, Wis.

The Stan Reeds of 1148 N. Hickory entertained house guests, Marty and Will Schram and their children, who motored from their home in St. Louis, Mo. for a 3-day visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Heffernan, 1176 N. Beverly lane, sans the little ones who were visiting with friends, enjoyed a week's motor trip to Toronto, Canada, along Georgian bay and Sault Ste. Marie before returning to the routine last Saturday.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dart, 679 E. Clarendon, were grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Ewing and their sons of Pensacola, Fla., who spent a week with the Darts while on a vacation trip north.

The Ken Jahnke family of 1116 N. Belmont returned home Monday of last week after a 3-day stay at Wisconsin Dells.

The Harry Gildemeisters, 615 E. Olive, vacationed in Sayner, Wis. for a week, where they toured Aqualand, a wildlife park near Star lake. They were house guests of Mrs. Mary E. Sayner, an aunt, and returned home last week Saturday.

NEW RESIDENTS in the Greens are Roland and Lynne Lundell, who moved into their new home at 1163 N. Hickory August 22 from Chicago's northwest side. Mr. Lundell is a buyer for the Cummins-Chicago Corp., Chicago, and Mrs. Lundell is a speech correctionist for the public schools in Franklin Park.

Mrs. Pete Johnson, 709 E. Olive, accompanied by her sisters, Mrs. Norman Press of LaGrange Park and Miss Virginia Whalen of Chicago, motored to Derry, Pa. last week. They enjoyed the long weekend visit with their aunt, Mrs. Agnes Hunt, and picked up Susan, who had been vacationing there for the past three weeks.

The William Millers, 1218 N. Hickory, ended their 2-week vacation Sunday. First they had a short visit with the George Lillquist family in St. Paul. A resort on Washburn lake near Outing is where they spent the balance of their holiday, enjoying the water skiing, fishing and swimming. Former neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Carlsen of Oak Park, also vacationing in the area, joined them on many of their activities.

The Amos Kalkhoffs, 909 E. Olive, motored to Louisville, Ky., last week and spent four days visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. E. MacDonald and to pick up their daughter, Ann, who had been visiting her aunt for two weeks.

The Tom Johnsons and their daughter, Sandy, of 815 E. Olive drove to Milwaukee Saturday to attend the exhibition football game between the Green Bay Packers and Chicago Bears at the county stadium. (A

GEORGE HARRIS

Just sitting around and cudgeling my brain trying to think of something that would be an interesting column for you people and whatya' know, nothing will come out. Well, how about a little informal chit-chat.

You know, Marian and I actually like the business we are in, and we find that we like the people of this community. Liking what you do, liking the people with whom you deal makes the ordeals of business easier to bear and many of the tasks bearable. Being schooled in this business since I was a little tyke has helped, but the fact that all you people have been so nice has made our past few years a pleasure. We want to keep this "Friendly Pharmacy" trade-mark of ours an ever present theme so each and everyone of you will always feel welcome.

Glad I didn't go commercial and try to sell you something. It was just nice to tell you that we hope you will continue to let us help you whenever we can. Adios Amigos.

Service Is Keynote For VFW Activities

(This is the fifth in a series of articles on Arlington Heights organizations. The articles will discuss who belongs, services performed history, and future plans.)

A battle is fought every night at the corner of Yale and Northwest hwy. in Arlington Heights.

It might be the storming of San Juan hill, the battle of the Marne, Guadalcanal, or the invasion of Inchon.

Refought is perhaps a better word, since the building at that corner is the home of the Arlington Heights Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 981. The 476 members of the post include veterans of World Wars I and II, the Korean war, as well as three who saw service during the Spanish - American war.

But the post members do not spend all their time discussing past glories.

"THE V.F.W. has always been a service organization," said Harold Luettschwager, past commander and manager of the post.

Among the post's service operations are:

—The furnishing of flags for grammar, junior high and high schools in the area.

—Sponsoring grade school track and wrestling meets.

—Awarding trophies to top high school athletes.

—Sponsoring an Arlington Heights explorer troop.

—Making donations to various charities.

—Escorting patrol boys from Arlington Heights to a Cub ball game each year.

Post 981 also contributes to a national V.F.W. home at Eaton Rapids, Mich., which is a refuge for children whose fathers are totally disabled or deceased. Luettschwager noted that a year ago two children from Arlington Heights were admitted to the home after their parents had died.

FOR THE PAST 50 years, according to Luettschwager, the V.F.W. has contributed more than any other organization toward helping veterans and protecting dependents of those who died.

The Arlington Heights post, founded in 1922 and later rechartered in 1933, went for many years without a home of its own. Members met at such locations as Kellings Hall, Northwest hwy. and Evergreen st.; the village hall, and the Republican club, 17 E. Miner st.

In 1954 construction began on the club house at Yale and Northwest hwy.

Much of the work, including plastering, laying tile, sanding and landscaping was done by members of the post on Saturdays and Sundays, Luettschwager noted. "Expenses for building the club house were so high that we couldn't even afford beer for awhile," he joked.

DEDICATION OF the club house was August 6, 1955. The red brick building contains a large basement with kitchen bar and dining area. A dance floor, office and utility bar are on the first floor.

Luettschwager considers the building of a club house the main factor in the increase in the club's membership since five years ago, when it was under 300.

Another reason for the large membership in the post, which draws veterans from Rolling Meadows, Mt. Prospect and Chicago as well as Arlington Heights, is its large recreational program, Luettschwager said. The organization is represented by 10 men's and six women's bowling teams, and a VFW golf league and 60 members.

Post 981's 26 man drill team recently placed first in competition with 25 other teams at the Maywood loyalty day parade, he noted.

Membership in the VFW is open to any male who served in the United States armed forces in any foreign war, insurrection or expedition for which the government has issued a campaign badge.

SOME 140 wives of members form a VFW auxiliary, which takes an active part each year in raising funds for cancer research.

The organization meets the second and fourth Wednesday of every month, although members can use the club house any evening, Luettschwager said.

William E. Kopplin is commander of the post. (A

A COPPER EAGLE, a relic of the civil war, is one of the antiques owned by Arlington Heights Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 981. Harold Luettschwager, past commander, is polishing the eagle, set on top of the flag. The eagle was a gift of one of the members, who had a relative who served in the War Between the States. Post 981 also owns a 13 star flag which was flown by a ship in putting down the Philippine insurrection around the turn of the century. (A

Construction Begins On High School

Ground was broken without ceremony last week for high school district 214's third school on Goebbert rd. in Elk Grove township.

The $4.4 million plant, named the Forest View high school, will open in September, 1962. It will have 101 rooms in three tiers of one, two, and three-story lift-slab construction. Voters in the district approved a bond issue for the work last fall.

At Monday's meeting the district's board of education approved a $3,361,850 budget and a $3,091,000 tax levy for 1961. The figures were approved after a short public hearing during which no objections were raised.

BOARD SECRETARY William Spomer said that he was personally "very proud" of the new budget. He said he thought it reflected constructive thinking by the board and represented a good deal of hard work by board members.

"It is a strong, hard-hitting, tight budget that the administration can live with," he commented.

In another action the board granted the requests of three students from the Stonegate section of Arlington Heights to attend Arlington high school rather than Prospect high. Other students who have made similar requests will be contacted this week and given an opportunity to restate their case before school opens. The board agreed that all cases would be handled individually by the board after a review of the circumstances.

THE BOARD also announced that bus service will be available this year. Any student who wishes to ride a bus should call Dean Nelson Lowry or give notice at registration. A list will be submitted to the bus company after registration, and routes will be set up.

A request from the Mt. Prospect park district to install permanent playground equipment on the Prospect high school grounds was turned down by the board. The board did agree that the equipment could be installed if it could be removed during school months.

The Prospect high drainage problem, the cause of a controversy in Mt. Prospect's Randview Highlands subdivision, was referred to the board's building committee, engineers, and attorney.

The where-did-the-summer-go ailment that is epidemic every September 1 appears to be more acute this year than ever before. As an antidote, families on vacation are squeezing out every last day of the no-school time that's left and many families at home are quickly summers-end entertaining. There is no known cure, though, for the funny fellow who says, "First thing y'know, Christmas'll be here."

Twenty-five families of the 400 block on S. Evanston Saturday night had the first of what they hope will be a series of annual get-togethers of Greenview Estates families. The initial party was blessed with fair weather for the outdoor barbecue supper, program and street dancing that made a full August evening. Hot dogs estimated by the mile rather than by number and about two steers' worth of hamburgers joined the potluck dishes to fill the menu.

Joseph Kovacs, 420 S. Evanston, teamed with John Hoefler, 423 S. Evanston, in a master of ceremonies duo that informed and entertained the gathering of 66 moms, dads and kids. There was community singing and dancing and much enthusiasm for next year's party.

DICK STOEHR, 441 S. Prindle, came home last Friday night after 10 days with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Brown and their son Rusty, on the Brown farm in Bloomfield, Iowa. Dick and Rusty became friends earlier in the summer when their families vacationed in the same place at the same time, and plans for Dick's visit with the Browns began as the families parted. In Iowa last week the boys went bull-froggin', fish-spearin and frog-gigging' and Dick learned how to milk a cow, went to a country fair and stayed on the farm two days longer than he originally planned.

The Lewis Browns, 509 S. Chestnut, and their great-niece Monica Light of Lake-in-the-Hills returned last Wednesday from 11 days in the east. It was business for Mr. Brown and a non-stop sightseeing tour for Monica and Mrs. Brown. The girls viewed New York city from the 102nd floor of the Empire State building and shared the excitement in Yankee Stadium as they watched New York win over Baltimore. They shopped on Fifth Avenue and had a river cruise, so that Monica could see the Statue of Liberty; ate at the automat and dined at the Waldorf Astoria. There was time to see Radio City Music Hall and its famed Rockettes, then off to Boston for a tour of its historic landmarks, a weekend at Bar Harbor, Me. and Acacia National park, a trip through the White mountains of New Hampshire and back to Boston.

THE R. M. ARENA family, 726 S. Mitchell, returned last weekend after two weeks in Hayward, Wis. There was fishing, swimming, sunning and loafing.

Weekend visitors in the John Kitch home, 1032 S. Dunton, were Mrs. Kitch's brother and family, the Warren Meekers of Iowa City, Iowa. As the Meekers left Sunday to return to Iowa the junior John Kitches left by plane for Andover, Mass., where he is visiting this week with his sister, Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hawkins, 721 S. Chestnut, and Mrs. Hawkins' father and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Maguire of Chicago, celebrated their respective August wedding anniversaries together recently. The Maguires observing an August 14 anniversary date hosted the August 17 bride and groom of 20 years ago at Medinah country club for a festive dinner. On the Hawkins' anniversary date they entertained local friends, the Chet Raasches, to celebrate Mrs. Raasch's birthday as well as their anniversary. A neighbor, William Phares, 725 S. Chestnut, also observed a birthday that day, and the Phareses planned with other neighbors, the Quentin Nagels and Martin Blieses, to surprise and honor the anniversary couple at a pseudo birthday party. The would-be surprisers became the "surprisees" when they discovered their intended honor guests had conflicting plans. Mr. Phares' birthday was subsequently well celebrated.

EARLIER IN the month the Hawkins' daughter, Linda, was co-hostess with Sue Phares and Jo Ellen Ottengheime at a farewell party given in the Hawkins home for Carol Chapin and Barbara Johnson, neighborhood girls whose families are leaving. The hostesses took a cue from their elders whose recent farewell party for Carol's and Barbara's parents included all residents, past and present, of the 700 block on south Chestnut. Ten young ladies, formerly as well as currently of that block, had a happy-sad time with an outdoor barbecue supper, lots of girl-type chatter and solemn promises to never lose touch. Carol and Barbara received group gifts of remembrance from their friends. The Chapin family, recently of 728 S. Chestnut, left Saturday for a new home in Springfield, and the Johnsoon leave the home at 709 S. Chestnut for another in Arlington Heights.

This week Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins are in Cleveland with former neighbors of the block, the Frank L. Travers family, who attended the recent adult Chapin-Johnson neighborhood farewell. The Hawkins' son, Jerry, is this week visiting in Pittsburgh with other former neighbors, the C. W. Mills family, who also recently visited here.

Mrs. R. H. Heberling, 819 W. Fairview, entertained 30 local friends and neighbors at an open house Sunday evening to introduce her son-in-law, Lt. Richard Shrove. Mrs. Herberling's daughter, Lynn, and Lt. Shrove were married in Biloxi February 8, and Mrs. Shrove arrived here to visit her mother two weeks ago. Her husband joined her at the Heberling home last Wednesday for a week's vacation and get-acquainted visit. Monday Mrs. Heberling, Mary Jane and the Shroves visited in Streator with the girls' grandmother, Mrs. Heberling. Lt. and Mrs. Shrove left yesterday for Grand Island, Neb., where the lieutenant will introduce his bride to his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Shrove and other family members. The couple will then return to the south, where Lt. Shrove will attend squadron officers school in Montgomery, Ala., for three months before returning to Keesler air base in Biloxi.

ELEVEN neighborhood women farewelled Mrs. David Gleckler last Friday afternoon at a potluck luncheon in the home of Mrs. Ernest Poulos, 1225 N. Dunton. The Gleckler family left the residence at 1212 N. Dunton Wednesday for a new home in Cincinnati.

The H. T. Lemmons family, 624 S. Walnut, returned Saturday from a week of fine weather with fishing and swimming to match in Baraboo, Wis.

The Robert Perschbacher children. Lisa and Rex, celebrated their respective month-end birthdays last Thursday and yesterday, each in his own way. Lisa was 11 years old Saturday and took a girl friend, Wendy Johnson to Riverview park last Thursday evening. Information from a reliable source is that the girls went on every ride in sight and on a few that went out of sight. The reliable source remained with her maternal feet on the ground, getting her enjoyment from watching the girls have fun. Lisa's pre-birthday celebration included having Wendy as an overnight guest.

Yesterday Rex was 14 years old and chose to celebrate with a family dinner party at home, 310 N. Derbyshire.

Mrs. Elmer Ferguson of Annaheim, Cal., returns to the west coast today, Thursday, after a 3-week visit here with her daughter and family, the Calvin Hubers, 1021 S. Dunton.

The exodus of local young people to colleges of their choice begins soon and among the first to leave will be Barbara Johnson, daughter of the Edward Johnsons, 714 S. Walnut. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will drive Barbara to Bloomington Sunday where rush week is followed by student orientation week before the actual begining of classes at Illinois Wesleyan college.

MRS. ROBERT Gentile, recently of 615 W. Fairview, was honored on and since her August 15 birthday by former Fairview ave. neighbors and other friends. On the afternoon of her birthday she was a guest in the home of Mrs. Joseph Doherty, 609 W. Fairview, when by prearrangement unknown to her four other Fairview friends arrived to make a surprise party. They were Mrs. Robert Echtenacher, Mrs. Charles Holmes, Mrs. Anthony Daidone and Mrs. Arthur Peterson.

The Gentiles are temporarily residing with their daughter and family, the George Kellers, 1115 N. Douglas, where surprose birthday evening visitors were Phoenix, Ariz., friends, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brach. During the next few days Mrs. Gentile received more birthday congratulations at coffees and luncheons in the Echtenacher home, 606 W. Fairview; the William Henriksen home, 618 Cantino; the John Wirtz home, 628 N. Hickory and the Frank Jorstad home, 611 S. Ridge.

SATURDAY the Gentiles' niece and her husband, the John Kolomics of Struthers Ohio, ended a 3-day visit with the Gentiles and Kellers.

The Herman Meyer family returned to 507 E. Euclid a week ago after a few days in Fort Wayne, Ind., with former Arlington Heighters, the Dale Bowers. The Bowers had been guests of the Meyers the weekend before. Saturday Mary Kay, the Meyers' daughter, celebrated her 15th birthday a day early at an outdoor supper party with 30 Chicago and local friends in her parents' home. Among the guests were Chicago friends, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Krieger, with whom Mary Kay returned for a few days visit in Chicago.

The J. A. Smith family, 909 S. Dunton, returned a week ago after two weeks at the YMCA family camp in Estes Park, Col. One day there was snow although the weather, scenery and relaxing was generally perfect. One day of snow would have been considered perfect here to relieve humidity-and-hay-fever sufferers.

Mrs. Herman Berthold Jr., 746 S. Highland, entertained at her home Monday, Aug. 22, at a luncheon and stork shower honoring Mrs. Joseph Campbell Jr. of Colesburg, Iowa. Twenty-five guests were included in the courtesy for Mrs. Campbell, whose husband is the student pastor of the Methodist church, Colesburg. The guest of honor is also the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. George W. W. Kincheloe of Arlington Heights.

Bob Wellman, son of the James Wellmans, 1610 Brown, arrived here August 24 after completing the summer quarter at Ferris institute, Big Rapids, Mich. He will return to Michigan September 13 to register for the fall term.

THE ROBERT Kramers, 1717 Kensington, left over the weekend with their daughter, Miss Janet Kramer, for Cedar Rapids, where she is enrolled as a freshman at Coe college.

Mrs. Joseph Bosch, longtime resident of Stonegate, has moved to a new home in Barrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barton, 321 S. Windsor, and their children, are back from a 2-week camping trip. This summer they chose Pancake Bay at Provincial Park, north of Sault Ste. Marie, for their campsite.

Mrs. Edward O. McKown, 206 S. Gibbons, her two children and her mother, Mrs. G. W. Fraley, spent the past two weeks vacationing with her sister and family, the Joseph Phelps, at their summer home on Leech lake, near Walker, Minn.

During their stay at Leech Lake, Karyl McKown was feted at a party in honor of her eighth birthday and August 24, both families left for the Phelps home in Fargo, N.D. for the christening of the Phelps' infant son, Paul James.

MR. AND MRS. Karl Shuart, 214 Stratford, joined five couples August 17 to attend a performance of 'Damn Yankees,", with Shelley Berman at the Melody Top theatre in Hillside.

The performance, a charity benefit, was sponsored by the TWA Clipped Wings, a group of ex-stewardesses of which Mrs. Shuart is an active member.

Mrs. J. L. Shaw and Mrs. Walter Strobel of Stonegate and Mrs. Charles E. Black of Ridge Park played in the Medinah country club golf tournament August 25. Low net scores brought handsome prizes of silver to Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Strobel.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bredehoft of Springfield visited here over the weekend with his brother and sister-in-law, the L. W. Bredehofts, 201 S. Wilshire.

THE LEE KIESIGS, 1709 Kensington, entertained at a barbecue Sunday for her mother, Mrs. L. Lopez, and brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lopez and their three children, who were visiting here for a week from their home in Washington D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Ian MacLachlan, 1230 Woodford, gave a dinner party Saturday for her sister, Mrs. Carl Spaeth Jr., of Jackson, Mich., and her daughter, Dosia, who spent a week with the MacLachlans.

Miss Arline Kelly, daughter of the Lloyd Kellys, 734 Bristol, leaves Thursday for Dallas to begin her freshman year at Southern Methodist university.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wickens, 819 E. Park, and Mr. Wicken's mother, Mrs. Olive Wickens, recently took their daughter, Miss Pamela Wickens to New York City, where she sailed for Spain on the S. S. Leonardo da Vinci.

Miss Wickens, a Dennison university student, will spend her junior year at the University of Madrid and will live with a Spanish family while she attends classes at the university.

After seeing their daughter off, the Wickens drove to Wykoff, N.J. to visit former Scarsdale neighbors, the Fred Strobergs, and then went to Erie, Pa. to visit another Scarsdale neighbor, Mrs. Mortimer Hawkins, and to Akron, Ohio, for a short stay with relatives.

MISS FAITH Samson, 618 Burton, recently returned from a vacation touring Europe. With seven of her Miami university friends, Miss Samson left by jet from Idlewild airport July 16 for Rome, and for the next five weeks, travelled through nine countries.

Miss Samson's parents, the Parker E. Samsons, accompanied her to New York and then remained in the east to tour the New England states.

Miss Samson will leave Saturday for Oxford, Ohio, to begin her senior year at Miami university.

Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Davenport, 314 S. Beverly, spent the weekend in Madison visiting their daughter and son-in-law, the Clarke Garretts, and to bid goodbye to Mr. Garrett, who will sail for Europe Friday. Mr. Garrett is going abroad to study for his doctors degree and will go to London first to study at the British Museum, and then to the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris to study French history.

Mr. Garrett is the son of the William Garretts of Inverness.

MR. AND MRS. Douglas Stalker, 635 S. Lincoln, returned Sunday, from a 3-week vacation in Duluth with visits to both their families, the Donald Stalkers and Mrs. Harry Clark.

The John Hermes family, 717 Mayfair, spent 10 days in Ocean City, N. J. and returned to Arlington Heights with Mrs. Hermes' niece, Miss Joan Russell, who will visit here for a week.

Kathy Seetch marked her eighth birthday Wednesday with a swimming party and barbecue for seven guests. Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Seetch, 353 Burton.

Linda Brown and Vicki Truax entertained their Bluebird group August 22 at a luncheon at the Truax home, 720 Burton. It was a farewell party for two of their members, Linda Ruprecht and Lynn Fruechtenicht, who are moving away. Guests were Lynn Johnson, Judy Meyer, Darlene Cherry, Judy Ruprecht and Nancy Harris.

MR. AND MRS. Fred Schultz, 630 Newbury, and their children, spent 10 days fishing at Blindfold lake, near Kenora, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Housenecht, 510 Mayfair, and their two children, spent two weeks vacationing in Colorado. Going out by train, the Housenechts rented a car, and toured all of Colorado, visiting its cities, parks, universities and everything of interest. In Boulder, they spent several days visiting Mrs. Housenecht's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Reickert. (A Family of the week. . .is that of Sandy and Bruce Mullins, 1415 N. Illinois, and their children, Michael, 4, Kevin, and Marianne, 7 months. Sandy, a Chicagoan, met Bruce, who claims Quincy, Ill. as his birthplace, when both were students at Quincy college. Upon his graduation Bruce served with the armed forces for two years at Fort Sill, Okla., in the special services division. Upon completion of three years at college for Sandy, their courtship culminated in marriage in 1955.

Bruce's position as a budget analyst with a Chicago firm, plus the fact that Sandy's mother, Mrs. Arnold Spietz, resides in Park Ridge prompted the couple to purchase their first home here almost four years ago. Needless to say, Mrs. Spietz and Sandy's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Robinson, who lives with her, are delighted with the Mullins' frequent visits, although Sandy and Bruce try to see his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morse Mullins, Quincy, often, too.

While Sandy and Bruce are parishioners of St. James Catholic church, their outside activities are limited for the present to Bruce's membership in the budget association, his firm's Men's club and the Drum and Bugle corp. He is also a sports enthusiast, likes to hunt but devotes most of his spare time to fishing and gardening. Sandy enjoys homemaking, is an avid reader and would like to pursue her own hobby of art as the baby's schedule lets up. Both enjoy music, the theatre and dining out with friends. The immediate future holds plans for redecorating their house, with traveling a must on the agenda as the opportunities arise.

TERRY, SON of Kathy and Don Munk, 1230 N. Race, celebrated his 13th birthday August 24 in what Kathy terms "typical boy fashion." Terry entertained his brother, Richard, and five schoolmates at a barbecue luncheon; however, it was concluded with a grand slam watermelon fight, which, of course, the boys claimed was great sport. In conclusion, they all settled down to spend the rest of the afternoon watching a ballgame.

Jo and Les Rozdalovsky, 1321 N. Race, and their daughters, Shirley and Mary Jo, made the most of their 2-week vacation by visiting Les' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rozdalovsky in Crete, his sister and her family in Pilger and good friends in Hastings and Lincoln, Neb. Enroute home the Rozdalovskys stopped in Milwaukee visiting Jo's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph LaPresti, and her brother and his family. There they all celebrated Shirley's seventh birthday August 22 at a family dinner party and her cousins, Laura and Linda, and her sister, Mary Jo, assisted in blowing out the candles on her cake. The families then went on to make the treat complete by attending the State Fair.

August 21 Betty and Carl Bloom, 1345 N. Illinois, entertained former Terrace neighbors, Carol and Norm Hoeffleur, now of Chicago. While the men attended the sports car races, Carol, Betty and their respective children enjoyed a good visit, with the day concluded with a supper party. The Hoeffleurs have just returned from Switzerland, where Norm had pursued his studies, and he plans now on finishing his education in Chicago.

The Blooms also entertained friends of their daughter, Cheryl, at an afternoon party August 24 in celebration of her sixth birthday. The children who played games, received favors and indulged in birthday cake and ice cream were Cheryl's sister, Wendy, brothers, Eric and Lars, Donna and Allen Moore, Jody and Pam Jedd, Chicago, Debbie, Donna and Scotty Dahlberg, Rolling Meadows, and Peter and Philip Hansen, Cheryl's cousins who are here on a visit from Lincoln, Neb.

A BIRTHDAY dinner party was held August 25 for Robert, son of Joan and Ken Herrmann, 1443 N. Race. Wishing him a happy third birthday were his brothers, Kenny and Tommy, sister, Lori, maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Johnson, Palatine, as well as aunt and uncle, Marilyn and Bill Owen, and their daughter, Carol, of the Terrace.

Another family party was held Saturday evening, and helping to blow out the candles on the cake were his borthers, sister, paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Herrmann, aunt, Mrs. Marcella Prestiano, and cousins, Carol and Marlene, all of Chicago.

A week's vacation in Phelps, Wis., was enjoyed recently by Jane and Don Von Ebers, 1410 N. Illinois, and their children, Steve, Don and Suzanne. Accompanying them was Jane's uncle, Gunnar Peterson, Highland Park, who enjoyed the fishing, swimming and general relaxation, too.

Tomorrow is moving day for Ruth and John Griffith, 1326 N. Race, and their children, Mike and Julie. Their move to Peoria, the result of a company transfer, is regretted by not only the Griffiths, but by their Terrace friends as well.

A birthday dinner party was held last Friday evening for Jimmy, son of Rose Marie and Jim Amann, 1409 N. Wilke. Present were his brother, Bob, sisters, Catherine and Dawn, maternal grandparents, Mrs. and Mrs. Leonard Weidner, Rolling Meadows, and great grandmother, Mrs. Marie Nolting, who lives with the Weidners. On hand later in the evening for ice cream and birthday cake, adorned with one candle this year, were his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Rosella Amann, Arlington Heights, and Jimmy's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Amann, Rolling Meadows.

DARLENE KRUG, 1212 N Race, and her co - hostess, Connie Dolejs, invited friends and neighbors of Kay Jacobsen, 1210 N. Race, to a farewell kaffee klatsch last Monday. Among those wishing her much luck in her new home and presenting her with a farewell remembrance were Carol Reed, Connie McBride, Shirley Vogtritter, Edith Larson, Rita Talaber, Phyllis Marshall and Jo Hult.

Another long time Terrace resident to leave soon is Phyllis Marshall, 114 N. Race, who was guest of honor today at a get - together in the home of Jo Hult, 108 N. Chicago. Jo and her co - hostess, Connie McBride, invited Elaine Petrucci, Darlene Krug, Carolyn Parkin, Dorothy Henneman, La Verne Reichert, Marva Kuhl, Carol Narup, Connie Dolejs, Shirley Vogtritter, Edith Larson, Charmaine Sayre, Ruth Liebenow and Maxine Mells, Mt. Prospect, in to wish Phyllis happiness in her new home and to present her with a farewell gift.

Grace and George Rogers, 1313 N. Chicago treated their daughter, Linda, who was 9 August 29, and her friends, among whom were her sister, Patsy, Debbie Husted, "Chipper" Kuntsman, Karen Garland and Karen Burkhardt, Mt. Prospect, to a barbecue supper party, after which the girls enjoyed a splash party at the park pool.

Silver Lake, Mich., was the scene of the 2-week vacation recently enjoyed by Hazel and Taft Lowell, 1246 N. Yale and their children, Claire, Kay and Reid, all of whom had fun just relaxing, dining out, climbing the sand dunes and swimming. Highlight was the ferry boat ride enroute home from Ludington to Milwaukee.

An afternoon party was held last Friday for Kurt, son of Pat and Dick Davis, 1255 N. Race, as he celebrated his fifth birthday a day ahead of time. Birthday cake, ice cream, games and favors comprised a happy time for him and his playmates, Randy Lechelt, Paul Hacker, Dick Lyons, George Wilmot, Rick McCabe and Johnny Pemberton.

Mary and Ray Funk, 1401 Clarendon, had fun a week ago Saturday night entertaining friends and neighbors at a patio party. Cathy and Bill Gunnison, Julie and Frank Fietsch, Polly and George Herbert, Jane and Joe Lennon, Westgate, "Oak and Jim Kuhnheim and Carol and George Seyfert, both of Sherwood, all agreed that the game playing and dancing, concluded with a late buffet snack made it an evening to remember.

SUSAN LEE, daughter of Jeanne and Jim Denson, 1608 Oakton, recently celebrated her first birthday. Helping her to blow out the candle on her cake at a dinner party held in her honor were her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Denson, Barrington.

The Densons enjoyed a trip to Springfield, where they had a pleasant visit with Jeannes brother and his family, the Jack Watsons, and enjoyed touring and seeing the sights at the State Fair.

Multiple news comes from the home of Doris and John Gabel, 1252 N. Yale. Their son, Gary, celebrated his third birthday the afternoon of August 27 by entertaining his neighborhood playmates at a party.

Monday morning Gary was informed he had a sister, Faye Ann, born in Ravenswood hospital, Chicago, weighing 6 pounds 15 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gabel, Mt. Prospect, and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Fuhr, Arlington Heights. While Doris is hospitalized, Gary will be visiting his aunt, Mrs. Julia Drietlein and her family in Lake Zurich.

Michael, son of Marianne and George Lindholm, 1338 N. Chicago, who was 5 August 27, celebrated at a supper party with his friends Monday evening. On hand to wish him many happy returns were his sister, Judy, Danny, Healy, Jimmy Kohler, Richard Sorensen and Alan Cech.

Rep. Church Is Awarded

Congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church, (R), 13th District, Illinois, has been honored with a merit award for service in behalf of economic and political freedom from Civic Affairs Associates, Incorporated.

The award was given on the basis of her voting record during the 86th Congress in support of economy in government, limited government, free enterprise, economic growth with stability, and equality under the Law.

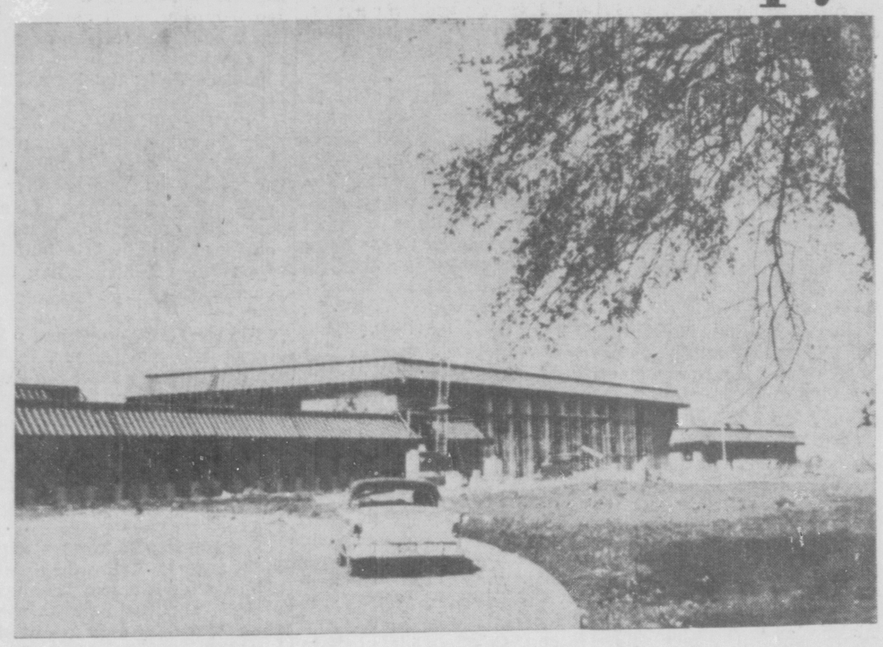
THE CITATION reads in part:

"The Honorable Marguerite Stitt Church, Congressman from Illinois, has demonstrated by her voting record that she is an advocate of economy in government, limited government, free enterprise, economic growth with stability, and equality under Law.

"On key roll-call votes during the 86th Congress, Congressman Church scored in the top ten percent of the House of Representatives in her support of these principles of sound and forward-looking government."

Beginning October 31

Pure Oil to Occupy New Palatine Office



D-DAY IS October 31 for employees of Pure Oil company. That's when the 1,000 employees of the Chicago office will move to this building nearing completion outside of Palatine. (B8

There will be some vacant seats on commuter trains in this area beginning October 31.

On that date more than 1,000 Pure Oil employees will report for work in the company's new general office building at Meacham and Golf rds. south of Palatine instead of at 35 E. Wacker dr. Chicago, according to John G. Cherry, director of public relations.

More than 300 of them live in Arlington Heights, Palatine, Elk Grove Village, Hoffman Estates and Rolling Meadows with many more in other nearby communities.

Construction of the building is in its final stages, Cherry said. The east wing of the building is nearly finished with lighting, air conditioning, and heating equipment completed, floor and ceiling tiles and panels installed, and the partitioning panels now being erected for private offices. Concentration is now on the west wing.

Basically, the building is a one-story structure with a red brick and limestone exterior and copper roof whose style is reminiscent of Williamsburg. The building, which covers 250,000 square feet of floor space, faces south toward Golf rd. and encloses four attractively landscaped courtyards.

THE NINE-ACRE circular parking lots are completed and in their design provide convenient space for 1,000 cars. Landscaping and the planting of grass, trees and shrubs is to begin soon in the courtyards and around the building.

Completion of the second floor executive offices, however, is not scheduled until the first of the year, Cherry said. Employees with offices in this space, he said, will remain at the Chicago office until this portion of the building has been finished.

To complement the preparation of the new building for the employees, Pure has also been busy preparing employees for the building. Employees have attended a series of meetings at which details of the move and working arrangements at the new location have been explained. At the last meeting slides were used to illustrate a typical "day" at the new office. At the next meeting, the employees will be given details concerning the moving of all office equipment.

PURE HAS also given assistance to its employees who have had to relocate their homes to be within a reasonable driving distance to the new office. To aid these employees, the company created a Suburban Office Coordinator, an office now headed by Verne Whitnell, a resident of Arlington Heights. Pure also established a company policy for covering moving expenses incurred by employees.

The job of the Suburban Office Coordinator, according to Cherry, has been to serve as a clearing house for information on the entire Northwest area. To date this department has helped with the details of relocating more than 350 employees and their families.

In addition to helping its present employees to move into the Northwest area, Pure has also concentrated its recruitment of new employees from these areas for the last three years.

WHITNELL'S records show that since 1957 the number of Pure employees living in Palatine has leaped from 12 to more than 100; in Arlington Heights from 32 to more than 150; in Elk Grove Village from 0 to 23; in Hoffman Estates from 0 to 21: and in Rolling Meadows from 0 to 29.

Outside of these communities, but living within a 16-mile radius of the new building, the number of Pure employees has gone up from 194 in 1957 to more than 400 at the present time, Whitnell said. (B8

Kids Amateur Dog Show Lures 64 Canine Entries

Glendale, Wheeling, pose beside trophy that chihuahua won for "best of show" in Arlington Market dog show.

Sixty-four canine entries of all sizes, classes, and descriptions strutted their stuff in the first annual Arlington Market-Ken-L-Ration Kids Amateur Dog Show on Saturday in the Arlington Market shopping center.

Over 400 spectators gathered to watch the dogs compete for prizes for best costumed dog, smallest dog, largest dog, most obedient or best trick dog, and best groomed dog.

Winners in each of the classes received trophies, ribbons, and other prizes. All entrants were awarded gifts to help them care for their pets.

The Arlington Market Merchants association presented a gold trophy to the dog who was judged "best of show". This dog was selected from the first place winners of the five classes. The trophy was presented to Ronnie Abraham, 135 Glendale, Wheeling, and his chihuahua "Senor Chico."

LINDA BIRINGER, Palatine, and "Banner von Fleetwing" took the gold trophy for most obedient dog. Philip Carlsen, Arlington Hts., and "Dusty" won first place honors for the largest dog. Gail Waggoner of Wheeling and her collie, "Murphy," were given the first place award for the best groomed dog. A boxer wearing dark glasses and answering to the name of "Russell" brought his master, Pat Harbour of Arlington Heights, the gold cup for the best costumed dog.

Winners from nine similar dog shows that were under the sponsorship of the Jewel Food stores gathered in the afternoon following the local show to have four winners selected.

Robert Hanley, manager of the Arlington Market Jewel Food store, and Bill Miller, representing the Quaker Oats company, presented the prizes. A globe as 4th place prize went to Carol Cochrane of Mt. Prospect and her poodle "Mimi." Jane Janecek of Des Plaines and her miniature schnauzer received a girls watch. John Walpole, Prospect Heights, and his blue jade collie took home a transistor radio. The grand prize of a girl's bike went to Kathy Casteel of Arlington Heights and her German shepherd, "Vahallian Lady."

Judges for both shows were Lt. Thomas J. Vidrick of the Arlington Heights police department, Mr. Charles V. Berry, of the Northwest Obedience club, and Dr. John Palenske.

Art Center Plans Films

The Countryside Art Center, formerly Northwest Art Center, will present its first fall program on Sept. 8, at Pioneer park in Arlington Heights.

Two color films of two outstanding painters will be shown. "Rembrandt, Painter of Man," will include over 60 selected canvases gathered from 29 museums in 12 countries to illustrate the artist's amazing ability in the use of light and shadow and his genius in expressing human compassion for his subjects.

A FILM on John Marin, one of America's leading water colorists will be accompanied by a musical background of Bach.

The color camera reveals how completely the hues of nature enter his pallette — the greens, blues and olives of a Maine seascape, the greys, pinks and browns of the New York skyline.

The meeting will begin at 8:00 p.m. and members will elect a new vice-president to fill the office vacated by Carl Zehner who accepted the presidency at the last meeting.

(B8

MERLIN ENABIT, internationally recognized portrait painter and color authority, will paint and demonstrate techniques in oils at the first season's meeting of the Mt. Prospect Art League, 8 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 6, at Lions park fieldhouse, Mt. Prospect.

Q. When one is at a banquet and doesn't care to drink coffee, is it proper to turn one's cup over as a signal to the waiter?
A. No. It is better to indicate the fact by a slight shake of your head, and a "No, thank you" to the waiter as he is about to serve you.
Q. What really is considered the proper time of day to make a call of condolence?
A. This type of call may be made at any time of day.

New Booklet Tells Parents "How to Help Child Learn"

Many wonderful ways for parents to stimulate study interest are set forth in a new handbook issued by the National Education Association. Entitled, "How to Help Your Child Learn," by Beatrice M. Gudridge. Pointers on homework and evaluation of report cards are also included.

"Children are practical souls — they like to put newfound knowledge to immediate use," says Miss Gudridge. "So encourage your child to double-check your grocery tape to see that it adds up correctly; have him help Dad measure wood for the picnic table in the patio encourage him to keep the mileage and gas records when you take an automobile trip.

"You may be astonished to discover that on his own, and because it was fun, he's spent considerable time figuring out the batting averages of some 200 baseball heroes, or that he has less trouble than you have reading a timetable," says Miss Gudridge.

Starting a child on an allowance and letting him manage it, playing number games like dominoes or bingo, thinking of things in numerical terms (Just how much is a million?) and encouraging a child to use measuring instruments (thermometer, barometer, weather map, floor plans etc.) are easy methods of applying arithmetic.

With a little imagination, a parent can help a child see how our whole civilization is built on mathematics — the building of a house, designing of a TV set, wallpapering a room or making a dress.

Greater enthusiasm for social studies, on the other hand, can be created by family hobbies. Collecting miniature antique trains teaches the history of railroading. The girl who collects dolls in native dress of many lands, learns geography almost by osmosis! Stamp-collecting, too, sparks interest in other people, dates and events.

There are ways to encourage reading, too. Among these is the family reading period, where members take turns reading aloud and discussing other material they have read. Gifts of books, a personal magazine subscription, visits to the library (esp. for answers to questions) are also helpful.

This and other practical advice prepared in consultation with classroom teachers, parents, elementary education specialists, is now compiled in the handbook, "How To Help Your Child Learn."

Copies may be ordered from the Department of Elementary School Principals or the National School Public Relations Association, 1201 Sixteenth st., N.W., Washington 6, D.C. Single Copy, 50 cents.

Worth More

Grads with Masters degrees usually get jobs at $50 a month more than those with BA's.

LEADING the way back to college is the fashionable flat, here in brushed leather with new pear-shaped heel. Suggested by Leather Industries of America.

Sweaters Are For School

The shetland crew neck tops them all in the sweater derby. Heathery tones of olive, lovat and mustard gold are new colors this year. And sweaters have become a staple in the student's everyday wardrobe.

In dress shirts, the tab collar is on the way up this year. The ever-popular button-down oxford is still the top choice in dress shirts. It looks equally well under a crew neck or with a suit for that Saturday night date.

Indian madras plaids and checks will be widely worn in sports shirts.

Grade Schoolers Like Fur Trim

Fur and the fur look take a prominent — and dressy — place in the outerwear picture for grade school girls.

Continuing favorites such as boy coats and car coats show this influence. The basic boy coat is dressed up with braid and lined with fake fur. Car coats and their matching hoods also have pile linings, while snow suits have fur-edged hoods and pile jackets.

The dress-up coat returns to the wardrobe frequently in pile. Another new "old favorite" fashion is the princess coat, in wool with a fur collar.

Cardinal Boosters Club Seeks Members

The Cardinal Boosters club, an adult group that helps support athletics at Arlington high school, is pushing off its membership campaign for the 1960-61 season.

Since its founding six years ago, the club has been primarily interested in coordinating school and community interests and maintaining adult interest in athletics, according to John F. Newhard, 418 Banbury rd., Arlington Heights, president.

Its major projects are:

—Sponsoring buses to out-of-town athletic events.

—Providing oranges for athletes after scheduled athletic contests.

—Making scholar - athlete awards in all major sports.

—Sponsoring award banquets for athletes and cheerleaders.

SOURCES OF revenue for the projects, Newhard said, is money raised through the membership drive.

James Hendricks, 1506 E. Fremont st., Arlington Heights, is membership chairman.

Each year the club sponsors a fund raising event This year it is a sportsa-rama scheduled for January.

The club has also contributed film, projectors and tape recorders to the school for general use.

Other officers are Hendricks, first vice-president; Max L. Friendlander, 747 S. State rd., second vice-president; Mrs. William Erwin, 908 W. Campbell, secretary; Mrs. George Hoban, 645 S. Burton, treasurer; Harold Vaughn, 412 Banbury rd., member-at-large; and W. G. Inman, 513 N. Douglas, past president.

DIRECTORS are H. C. Slichenmyer, 1001 N. Highland, superintendent of high school district 214; H. W. Grace, 15 N. Vail, athletic director; Dr. Eugene Oliver, 343 S. Evergreen, representative of the high school; and Robert P. Campbell, 611 S. Mitchell, representative of grade schools.

Hundreds Crane Necks To Watch Aerial Show

FAMILIAR SIGHT on east side of Elmhurst rd. at Devon ave. is line of cars which flank the edge of O'Hare International airport watching jets take off and land. Above, some motorists are seen perched on car hoods viewing jet (circled) take off exhaling plumes of vapor. (A13

"Here they come," the cry goes up, and the crowd cranes its collective neck tracing the movement of the giant jet aircraft lifting aloft from the edge of the runway — trailing long plumes of vapor which fan out like the feathers of a peacock.

This aerial show goes on day and night — a continuous 24-hour showing — on the east side of Elmhurst rd. and Devon ave., where people come from all over Chicago and the suburbs to witness takeoffs and landings at O'Hare International airport.

"We must have had 400 cars out here last Sunday," said Georgia Wilkinson of Bensenville, whose enterprising boss has been operating a hot dog stand at the site for about three weeks.

GEORGIA SAID there were ordinarily 25 to 30 cars parked on the grounds where Cook and DuPage counties meet at the Devon ave. boundary line. "I think a lot of salesmen hid out here during the day," she laughed.

At night, the winking runway lights and aerial spectacular of seeing these airborne behemoths come and go draws lovers to the scene like moths to a light.

"I'd say 80 per cent of the people here at night are lovers," said a man who was parked with his wife and little girl at the place. "Look at those beer cans around," he gestured at the littered grounds.

"It is pretty with the runway lights on," commented Georgia Wilkinson. She said that people keep coming in all kinds of weather to watch the planes. "There isn't a man or boy who comes here who doesn't know all about jets," she observed.

"There're all former pilots, to hear them talk."

THE HOT DOG stand attendant said that people even sit through the rain just to watch the aircraft arrive and depart. "The kids will be out all bundled up, sitting on the roofs of the cars," she pointed out.

"I swear there's going to be a terrible accident out here some weekend," she continued. "The people drive by, and none of them look at the road; they're all looking at the planes."

For those youngsters who still get excited by anything as passe as a "choo-choo," there's also a railroad which runs right in front of the parking area. A sign on the wooden concessionaire boasts in reeling red paint: "Transportation by car, train and plane."

MANY OF THE iron bird-watching enthusiasts are regulars. "We usually come out here two or three times a week," confirmed another motorist who conversed while keeping his eyes riveted on the progress of a jet airliner climbing off in the distance.

One reason for the popularity of the place, Miss Wilkinson thinks, is the obvious. "It's free," she said. She thought it was somewhat uncanny the way people always arrive when the show's at its best.

"I'd swear they know the schedule of the airlines."

There is also a more intangible motivation which draws them, it appears. It might be presumptuous to assume that there is something which whets the aesthetic tastes about plane-watching, but as one man says:

"It's really a beautiful sight watching these jets go over."

GOP Registers Area Voters

Republican headquarters for Wheeling township has begun a telephone survey conducted by volunteer workers to complete registration of unregistered voters in the township.

Absentee ballot forms for college students, traveling businessmen, and voters otherwise unable to get to the polls are also being ordered. Any voter needing such a ballot may obtain one by calling the headquarters at CL 9-0861.

Plans for the official Republican headquarters grand opening, September 16, are being completed this week.

Registration Set For Sunday School

The children of members of Beth Tikvah Congregation who will be four years of age or over by September 1, are eligible for enrollment in Sunday school classes.

Registration forms were printed in the last issue of the Congregation bulletin "The Tikvahite" and are to be completed and returned to Sam Arcus, 316 Ridgewood, Elk Grove Village, by September 1.

The Sunday school will be principaled by Rabbi Hillel Gamoran, who will be assisted by a staff of qualified instructors in Jewish and Hebrew education.

SCHOOL will again be held in Elk Grove Village and will begin on or around Sunday, September 18. Details of class assignments, class schedules, and other pertainent information will be made available at a later date.

Families residing in any of the west or northwest suburban communities who wish further information on this Jewish Congregation are asked to contact Sam Arcus at HE 7-0508 or Sam Sakansky at TW 4-6875.

Cullerton Golf Day Is September 13

Leading political, civic and industrial figures in the state will attend the annual golf day and outing in honor of P. J. Cullerton, Cook county assessor, at the Chevy Chase Country club, September 13.

The affair is sponsored by the 38th Ward Regular Democratic organization. Cullerton is committeeman from that ward.

A NUMBER OF prominent Republicans, however, will also appear at the affair, including Walter McCarron, coroner; Edward J. Kucharski, county recorder; and William J. Erickson, commissioner of the county board.

Mayor Richard J. Daley and United States Senator Paul Douglas will head the Democratic contingent, which includes Judge Otto F. Kerner, candidate for governor.

Upon her return Miss Splitberger will be associated with June Rold School of Dance in Des Plaines. She is a graduate of Arlington high school.

At Haverford

Daniel N. DeWilde, 1102 Burgoyne, Arlington Heights, is among the six Chicago and suburban area students who are members of the Haverford college freshman class which convenes on the campus in Haverford, Pa., Sept. 20. The date begins a 4-day orientation program, with regular classes at the men's liberal arts college starting Sept. 27.

At Concordia

Concordia Teachers college, River Forest, closed its 96th academic year with a summer graduation service at which 12 graduates received master of arts degrees in education and 63 undergraduates received the bachelor of science degree in education.

Receiving his master of arts in education was Robert W. Huebner, 23 E. Maple, Roselle. Among the 63 undergraduate students awarded their bachelor of science were Kermit Lauterbach, Roselle; Roland Kiel, 205 W. Fremont, Arlington Heights; Paul Buelow, 216 S. Walnut ave., Itasca.

At Wheaton

Clayton R. Baumann, 21 E. Dryden, Arlington Heights, was awarded a bachelor of arts degree in business and economics at the 27th annual summer convocation of Wheaton college August 19. The commencement was held in the campus chapel with 43 undergraduates presented with degeres.

Baumann, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Baumann, is a graduate of Arlington high school. He attended Moody Bible institute before transferring to Wheaton college. While at Wheaton he was active in the Business Forum and was business manager of WETN, the college campus radio station.

In WAVE Training

Carole Lee Cagle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Mueller, 4 Hatlen ave., Mt. Prospect, has completed nine weeks of basic training at Recruit Training - Women, United States Naval Training center, Bainbridge, Md. She was graduated during a military review August 19 and is now spending a 14-day leave with her parents, before reporting to Newport, R. I., for Storekeeper school.

The local WAVE is a former student of Arlington high school.

Youth Writing Contest Set by VFW Auxiliary

The opening of its 26th annual National High School Writing contest was announced today by the auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The topic will be "Law and the Free Citizen."

Students in all public, private and parochial high schools are eligible to enter the contest. National prizes are: first, $1,000 cash; second, $500; third, $250; fourth, $100, and 20 other cash awards for honorable mention. State and local contest winners receive additional auxiliary awards which vary with the community.

The writing contest was begun by the V.F.W. Auxiliary in 1935 to encourage young people to think and write on patriotic subjects. During the last school year more than 30,000 students from all 50 states entered the national contest.

Further information on the 1960-61 contest may be obtained from local auxiliary units or from the contest department, V.F.W. Auxiliary, 406 W. 34th st., Kansas City, 11, Mo.

In Graduate School

Miss Nanci Yoder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton T. Yoder, 832 S. Evergreen ave., Arlington Heights, has been awarded a scholarship for a year of graduate study at the Merrill - Palmer institute of Human Relations in Detroit.

Nanci has been on the staff of the William Healy school for emotionally disturbed children in Chicago since her graduation from college in 1959.

Her mother is a teacher in the Arlington Heights public schools.

At Illinois

Richard R. Seibel, coordinator of the distributive education program at Arlington and Prospect high schools, attended the annual Illinois Conference of Distributive Education and Office Occupations coordinators held at the University of Illinois' Allerton Park during the past week.

Theme of the conference this year was "New Standards of Vocational Excellence." Distributive education and office occupations programs are showing remarkable increases, according to Mr. Seibel. Coordinators throughout the state are now placing student - learners in local business firms where they will receive practical on-the-job training, which is correlated with classroom instruction.

At Olivet Nazarene

Carolyn Rowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Rowe, 402 Miner st., Bensenville, has been admitted to Olivet Nazarene college, where she will begin her freshman year September 7.

Olivet Nazarene college is one of six liberal arts colleges in the United States owned and operated by the Church of the Nazarene. It has a student body of 1,000.

Former Resident Is Now an Architect

D. Thomas Kincaid, a former Palatine resident, has passed the Florida state board examination and is now a registered architect. Tom has been engaged in architectural design in Winter Haven, Fla., for several years. He resides there with his wife and year-old son. Mrs. C. E. Mitchell of Palatine is his mother.

Tom received his BA degree in industrial design from the University of Iowa and later a BA degree in architecture from the University of Florida. He then served as an instructor in the Florida university's College of Engineering, and to complete his military service was an Air Force project officer at the Air Proving command at Elgin AFB.

You Can't Run Away from Life

By Leland Ellis Truxell

Many of us can remember how as children, we ran away from home. Most of us just went around the block, or out to the apple orchard, then, after facing an unknown and therefore frightening future, turned around and came home.

It is too bad that our attempts to run away throughout life did not all end in that way: but many of us are always running away from something. We are afraid to face ourselves, and think: to set down alone, and to look at ourselves and say: "This, John Jones"; or "This, Henny Jennison," is exactly what you are like."

WE ALL BRISTLE at the thought of being called a liar, yet we will lie, and know that we did, and go on living with that fact, because we justify ourselves quickly. There is always a reason why we HAD to do it, so it was not our fault. It eases our conscience that otherwise would make us unhappy. It doesn't make much difference what grounds we use to justify our untruth, because we are the ones we are trying to convince we HAD to do it, and of course, we want to believe it.

We gossip about our neighbor—tell some juicy bit of news about the gas man that stayed so long, or what a lady did to pay for that COD. Not really any of our business, you see. And we had no real reason for believing anything wrong, except that our neighbor hadn't spoken when we spoke to her on the street, or we tried to borrow sugar from her, and she had said she was out. Perhaps we know, in our hearts, that she is a good neighbor and a good person. But it was fun telling, and we were led away with the fun; and we got even with her, all right! She had it coming!

So we gossiped, and tried to justify it, so we could sleep. Late at night, we succeeded, went to sleep, and slept the sleep of the just. She DID have it coming!

BUT SUPPOSE you and I keep running away from the kind of person we knew we are. Suppose for years and years we are able to justify our short comings, instead of changing them. Are we not fighting a losing battle, because we grow to hate ourselves, and everyone about us, and feel miserable because of our conscience? Perhaps, if we persist, we will come to the place where we refuse to recognize ourselves, and slip into the world of make-believe.

We will be far happier and much more at peace with ourselves, if we seek God's forgiveness—then start living a life in which we love both God, and others.

Returns from Duty

Ervin R. Morrenzin, 942 Cedar lane, Elk Grove Village, recently returned from a 2-week tour of active duty at Brunswick, Maine Naval Air station. Morrenzin is a member of Naval Reserve Patrol squadron 722, based at Glenview Naval Air station.

While on their annual training duty, the squadron participated in Fleet exercises, flew operational surveillance patrols far out over the Atlantic Ocean and were trained in the operation of the latest electronic gear.

9 Local Reservists In Joint Maneuvers

Several men from this area recently participated in Operation Bright Star/Pine Cone III, joint Army - Air Force maneuvers held in Fort Bragg, N. Car., and Pope AFB, S. Car., August 13 - 27. The men are members of the 64th Troop Carrier squadron reserve located at O'Hare airport.

The local reservists are as follows: Capt. Joseph Schlosser, 617 Wilshire ln., Arlington Heights, serving as pilot; Capt. Richard A. David, 307 Ash rd., Hoffman Estates, an information officer; A/2c James Bacciocco, 201 N. Pine st., Mt. Prospect, a warehouse specialist; A/2c John A. Slapak, 140 N. Clark dr., Palatine, mechanic; Claude Jones, 401 Glendale rd., Roselle, machinist.

ALSO T/SGT. John H. Klebenow Jr., 227 MacArthur dr., Palatine, s mechanic; S/Sgt. W. E. Treadgill, 604 N. Elmhurst rd., Prospect Heights, an aircraft mechanic; S/Sgt. Samuel Chereskin, 2105 School dr., Rolling Meadows, a sheet metal worker; Jack Sullivan, 750 Thorndale ave., Medinah, pilot.

The purpose of this exercise is to determine and increase the combat readiness status of the Air Force, Army Air Reserves and Air Guard units. It provides a realistic opportunity for the men of the 64th squadron to demonstrate their capabilities to function as a unit.

Change Made in Voluntary Recall of Navy Officers

A continuing shortage of Line officers in the Navy has initiated a change in policy in voluntary recall of Reserve Naval officers. Officers in the rank of Lieutenant (junior grade) are eligible to apply for recall with a date of rank for Lieutenant which is junior to July 2, 1955. Any Lieutenant promoted on that date or later is eligible. Officers must hold designators of 11 or 13.

To meet the challenge of the increasing responsibilities of the Navy, approximately 2000 officers on a voluntary basis are needed.

TO SIMPLIFY THE procedure for applying, a form is available at the Naval Reserve Training centers or any U. S. Navy Recruiting office.

The recruiter in charge of the branch station in the post office building in Des Plaines will assist those desiring further information, or they may write to the Recruiting Officer, U. S. Navy Recruiting station, 536 S. Clark st., Chicago, 5, Ill. Deadline for submission of application is Oct. 1, 1960.

Navy Seeks High School Grads for Nuclear Field

The Navy department has announced that enlistments are now being accepted from qualified high school graduates in the Nuclear Field program.

Young men with one year of algebra, trigonometry or geometry would qualify in the math department for the new Polaris Missile program. This program has two phases of training. the Polaris Field Launching and Polaris Field Electronics.

ENLISTMENT in the Launching phase would guarantee the applicant enrollment in the Navy's Class "A" Torpedoman's Mate School at the Naval Advanced Undersea Weapons school, Key West, Fla. for 10 to 19 weeks, followed by 35 hours Fleet Ballistic Missile System orientation and 175 hours Polaris Ordnance and Launching Equipment specialized training.

Enlistment in the Electronics phase guarantees that he would attend the Navy's Class "A" Electronics Technician school (28 weeks), the Fire Control Technicians school (19 weeks) or the Guided Missile school (24 weeks) followed by additional specialized training.

ALL GRADUATES of the Navy's Nuclear Power training receive an Atomic Energy Commission Reactor operator's license upon graduation. In addition to the Class "A" schools, Nuclear Field applicants go to Submarine school and have six months duty between schools on submarines to qualify as "Submariners."

Interested young men who are high school graduates should contact the recruiter in charge, U. S. Navy Recruiting Branch station, post office building, Des Plaines; or U. S. Navy Recruiting station, write to the Officer in Charge, 536 S. Clark st., Chicago.

Nearby Naval Officers School Starts September 8

The Naval Reserve Officers school, U. S. Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Training center, Roosevelt rd. and Hannah ave., Forest Park, will soon start the 1961 school year. The school was established by the Navy department to provide training for the Naval Reserve officers living in the western suburbs and offers those officers opportunity for advancement to higher rank.

Several men from this area have attended the school during the past year. They are Lt. Comm. Clyde Deyo, 10 S. Owen st., Mt. Prospect; Lt. j.g. Donald Johnson, 417 Bonnie Brae, Itasca; Lt. Comm. John Benney, 329 Alden dr., Addison; Lt. Howard Erickson, 324 Briar lane, Bensenville; Comm. Alexander Keyl, 321 W. Center st., Itasca.

Naval Reserve officers interested in furthering their careers and at the same time keeping up with the latest developments of the specialties in which they are interested can register in the training program any Thursday evening between 7 and 9 p.m. at the training center. Fall classes will commence Sept.

Shady Lane Playhouse entered the second week of the final offering on its 1960 summer schedule Tuesday. For the first time in the 19-year history of the big barn theatre on Route 20, three miles west of Marengo, Ill., Frank Bryan is playing a two-week engagement, The new musical version of "The Drunkard: or, The Fallen Saved" is the most eagerly attended production of the season.

Quaint addenda, recalling long-ago playgoing, enhance the playgoer's enjoyment, a hissing calliope before the show, gaslight era costumes, candy butchers peddling prize-laden confectioneries in the aisles, and fourteen new songs, including "Oh, Old Demon Rum's a Bosom Friend to Me," "Pass The Hat and Save a Sinner," "For I Am a Drunkard's Wife," and "Clang, Clang The Cymbal, To Celebrate The Ending of Demon Rum."

The staging is no hiss-the-villain, cheer-the-heroine burlesque, but rather an affectionate approach to a durable piece of indigenous folk art, inviting indulgent laughter.

Curtain times are 8:45 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 7 and 10 p.m. on Saturday and 7:45 p.m. Sunday. September 4, the closing performance. Shady Lane Farm restaurant offers country style dinners and city cocktails. Reservations in the dining room can be made by calling JOrdan 8-7218.

Urges Citizen Action

Famed Counterspy Delivers Plea for Fight on 'Reds'

America's best-known counterspy appeared in Glenview Monday before several thousand Naval Air Reservists and others to speak on the "Communist Criminal Conspiracy."

Herbert Philbrick, author of the book and television series, "I Led Three Lives," received a standing ovation after a dynamic plea for citizens to join in the day-to-day fight against Communism at the Glenview Naval Air station base theater.

But there were overtones of McCarthyism in his talk, in some of the vague generalities and clouded accusations of doom and implied threats of Communism infiltrating all educational, civic, fraternal and governmental bodies. One gathered the uneasy impression that Communists were so well-organized they were standing behind every tree and bush in the land.

ON THE OTHER hand, Philbrick gave the impression that every Communist cell and organization were so infiltrated with FBI agents that the agents unknowingly were spying upon themselves and three out of every four Communists were federal men.

Philbrick called himself a volunteer counterspy for the FBI, and began his address quietly with the observation that a great deal of time was being spent on who would be the next President of the United States.

"No one can tell how many months or years of freedom we have left," he commented. "What difference will it make for us, the people of the United States, which President is elected to negotiate our surrender to Soviet Russia?"

HE NAMED groups and organizations whom he said were making an appeal to the public now to surrender to Russia, by doing everything in their power to avoid risking death in an atomic war. Surrender now, is what these groups were saying in effect, he reasoned.

Climaxing a five-day school titled "Education for American Security," sponsored by the U. S. Naval Air station, Philbrick became more impassioned as he went along, hammering points home with his left hand and gesturing sharply with his right hand.

A handsome looking man, Philbrick removed his spectacles, when he spoke, revealing an almost Oriental appearance because of his small, partially-closed eyes.

"For nine long years," he said, "I led three lives. Number one was an ordinary average American citizen in suburban Boston. We had a home and I commuted, a car, a family of six children."

Second of his jobs, "not even my parents knew of my secret life in the Communist underground," and even more secretive was his third life as a "secret volunteer counterspy for the FBI."

"HOW DID all this begin?" he asked rhetorically. "By accident," he answered himself, "as it does for most people."

To "get acquainted with the good people of Cambridge," he joined what he had heard was a "new wonderful youth organization" with "fine high-sounding purpose and motives."

Six months later, he said, he awoke with shock to discover the group was controlled by the "Communist criminal conspiracy." Becoming chairman, he found himself, he said, "in trouble up to my ears."

At first, he wanted "to get away from that mess as quick as I could," and then he decided "someone should know how large numbers of young people were victimized." After a visit to the FBI, he was convinced to work for them.

"Had I known what I was getting into," he said with wry humor, "I would have hesitated—for two or three minutes. After all, I had no opportunity to observe the TV series."

FIRST STEP was to join the Communist Front organization, one of many he said, of such Fronts for other young people, for older people, for prominent people, for political groups, artists, scientists, religious groups. He referred to a book called the "Guide to Subversive Organizations," of some 140 pages, each of which had eight, nine or 10 subversive organizations listed.

He spent what he catalogued "two fantastic years" in the Communist Front group. He has been asked repeatedly if all the stories portrayed by Richard Carlson, the actor, on TV, were true, and his answer invariably, he said, was:

"Yes, they are based on actual case histories, two-thirds my own, one-third of other counterspies, some still working within the Communist groups. This is impossible, I am told. It can't be taking place in the United States.

"Far from exaggerating, we've been forced to cut them back, because much (of what went on) would not be permitted by the moral code of TV."

Young people who joined the Communists, he insisted, were not poor. "I never met a bricklayer in the Communist party. They wore Brooks Brothers clothes, came from the finest families, had homes and were provided with everything they needed, went on to become college graduates. Most of my comrades were authors, writers. . . ."

ANOTHER thing he learned when he rose in the Communist ranks was the paucity of members they would accept. After recruiting for a year, he was astonished to learn that of all the possible new members they had developed, only one man was being considered.

"All we need," he was told, "was one Communist in the right place at the right time."

Philbrick became a member of the agit-prop group, and was called upon to teach the elements of Marxism. Leninism, Stalinism in a secret school, instructing, he said, that the ultimate day of destruction of the United States by force was the goal. teaching an absolute contempt for the law through the books and party manuals. All of this time he was in contact with the FBI.

He contradicted the philosphy that Communist aims had changed with Krushchev. "There is no danger of World War III," he added. "We are in World War II, right up to our ears.

"We have a ruthless enemy, and are at war on every front, a war which the enemy expects to win, in a fight to the finish. If we are to win, we must fight back. Every citizen from every home in every family must play an important role, such as supporting this school. Pass the ammunition," he concluded. "pass the ammunition," and referred to books, pamphlets and other media telling the Anti-Communist story.

DURING THE question period, he was asked: "Is the Communist party riddled with counterspies?" and replied: "I hesitate to use the word riddled," then went on to describe his own experience, where the FBI knew where he was going to be sent by the Communists before he knew it himself, and spoke of a Greek counterspy he had thought and who thought of him as a Communist. Each of the two FBI agents were spying on the other. He named another case of three out of four supposed Communists who had been FBI agents.

He told of a standard Communist joke that there was nothing left in the Communist party but FBI agents.

Another question posed the infiltration of Communists into the United States National student organization, then meeting in Minneapolis. His answer was that it would be stupid to think that the Communists would neglect such an important organization.

A QUESTIONER wanted to know if the State department was losing the cold war, in Congo, in Cuba, Japan, Turkey, because of Communists in the higher echelons.

"Part of the disastrous defeats," said Philbrick, "were due to Communists infiltration, including the State department. The record is very clear. Part of it is due to subversive influence of the Communist cell.

"Today, it is difficult to say accurately, but stupid to say that there are no Communists. I believe most of the disastrous defeats are due to apathy, stupidity, lack of ability to cope with political warfare."

A final question as to whether this nation was in a "state of Socialism" brought his retort that one authority believed we were, but that the danger arose not so much from socialism in the United States, but from our desire to leave more and more decisions to Washington.

ALAN SMEBY, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Smeby, 108 S. Albert, Mt. Prospect, is presently attending the Air Force ROTC summer training unit at Lincoln AFB, Nebr. This 4-week summer session is part of his reserve officer training at Drake university, where he will be a senior in fall. Cadet Smeby will be eligible for appointment as a second lieutenant in the Air Force following graduation from Drake. (Wus

Thompson Rally Is Creating Interest

Thousands of 13th Congressional district residents this week are receiving formal invitations from Adlai E. Stevenson and backers of Tyler Thompson, Democratic candidate for U. S. Congress.

The invitations are for a rally to be held in Thompson's honor on Sunday, Sept. 11, from 3 to 5 p.m., at Stevenson's Libertyville home.

"Of course, everyone in the district is welcome to this great reception," said Thompson for Congress chairman Dale O'Brien, of 1216 Hinman, Evanston. "It would simply be impossible to extend a personal invitation because this is the most populous district in the entire country!"

O'BRIEN SAID that more than a dozen volunteers in Thompson's Evanston headquarters alone, worked the weekend through making preparation for the event.

"Initial response to the Thompson rally has been overwhelming in Lake county also," said Daniel M. Pierce, of 528 Burton ave., Highland Park.

Tickets to the reception and rally may be obtained at five dollars each by writing Thompson Headquarters, 610 Dempster st., Evanston.

Growth of Mailing Lists

Name-Selling Has Mushroomed Into a Profitable Business

by BRUCE LADD

A 15-year-old boy was surprised to receive an advertisement for risque literature in the mail one summer morning.

A grandmother was confused when a stream of insurance salesmen began to knock at her door.

A young mother was flattered when notified by her baby had won a free photographic sitting.

The lives and interests of these persons are decidedly different, but the three had been unknowingly linked by a common bond: their names were being sold on lucrative "mailing lists."

Today there are organized concerns reaping huge profits from doing little more than accumulating and selling other people's names. Those interested in purchasing names are legitimate businessmen and not - so - legitimate businessmen.

At any rate, name selling is becoming a business of growing importance. Investment houses, realtors, insurance companies, publishers, photographers and other salespeople realize they need markets for their messages.

AND THE QUICKEST and most efficient means of finding prospective buyers is to purchase a mailing list.

Citizens wonder how their names get onto mailing lists. Obviously, a telephone book provides a ready, thorough listing, but the more popular lists are professionally compiled.

Take, for example, the youth who received the invitation to buy suggestive reading material. The letter was postmarked in California. It was signed by "Mary Lou Smith, Box 123, Los Angeles."

THE BOY'S MOTHER was understandably concerned. She was advised to present the contents of the letter to her local postmaster and to sign a complaint. The post office department has jurisdiction over mail frauds and unsavory proposals by mail.

In reviewing the boy's background, it was learned he'd signed his name and address to (1) a summer camp enrollment sheet, (2) a stamp club roster, and (3) a teenage group membership list.

These affiliations are healthly and essential but somewhere along the line one of the signature lists found its way to a professional compiler. The unsuspecting youth's name and address, along with thousands of others, was later sold to "Mary Lou Smith."

IN THE case of the grandmother being hounded by insurance salesmen who were offering special old-age policies, it was determined her name had been lifted from the books of a local Golden Age club, of which she was a member.

Club records disclosed her age too, and that's the scent the insurance people were after. The grandmother was advised to succinctly, politely say "no" to the salesmen. It was her only recourse.

The young mother, whose new baby had been "selected" to sit for a free photograph, was contacted on the telephone. She agreed to let the photographer visit her home for the sitting.

When the photographer returned in a few days with the picture proofs, the mother explained her inability to place an order. The photographer feigned surprise and took off into a long forceful sales pitch. Soon he was asked to leave the house.

AUBRA JOHNSTON, director of the Better Business Bureau of Chicago, reports the "selection" of the baby for a photograph is "soley a vehicle for selling photographs and nothing more."

The young mother's name was attached to a mailing after it was picked from hospital records or from a newspaper announcement of the baby's birth.

The three cases cited here are not extreme. They are, in fact, rather mild. The persons involved did not suffer monetary losses.

Interesting to note are the three varied approaches to the potential buyer: mail, personal contact, and telephone. Each approach is especially effective for a particular sales pitch.

How can you protect yourself from unwanted sales schemes? Your adherence to common sense is the best means of protection. The Better Business Bureau recommends that the public be leery of something - for-nothing propositions.

THE BUREAU hesitantly admits that it's impossible for citizens to keep their names off mailing lists. "But we can protect ourselves from financial losses by remembering that no individual or company is going to give us something without getting something in return," Bureau Director Johnston says.

He suggests residents turn suspicious proposals over to the nearest post office. Legitimate mail propositions can be discarded if not wanted, he adds.

The best defense against door-to-door solicitors is the emphatic "no" answer. Most communities require solicitors to register with the local governing body. A check can then be put on the salesman's background.

Gene Montgomery, of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, reports it is exceedingly difficult to crack down on telephone solicitations. Only in cases where profanity is used or threats are made, he points out, can the phone company take action.

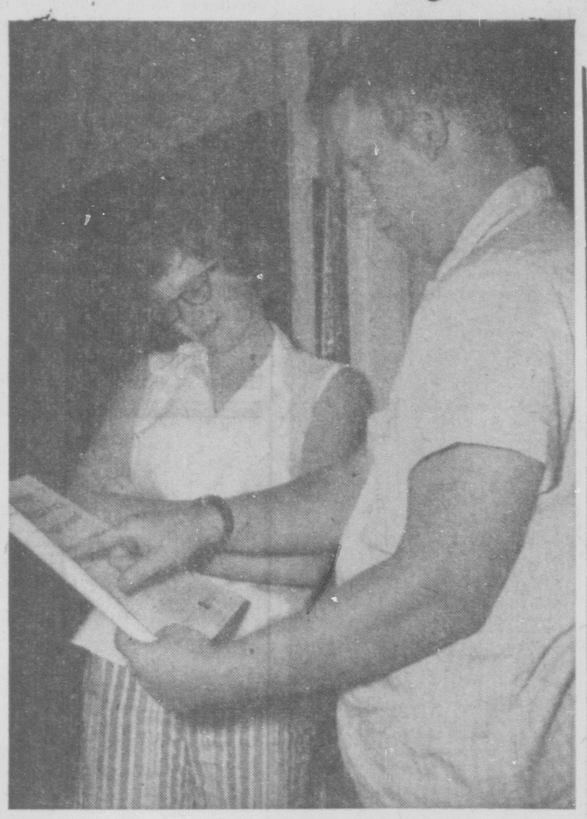
"WE REALIZE selling by phone is sometimes an invasion of privacy," Montgomery says, "but it is completely legal. The best escape is to hang up the phone."

It is true that mailing lists provide names of "suckers" for confidence game operators and shady businessmen. But the vast majority of those using mailing lists are sincere, legitimate businesses interested only in getting through to the most people possible.

Rather than worrying about keeping off a mailing list, it is suggested citizens concentrate on separating the bad from the good proposals which result.

Huckster Barnham once said, "There's a sucker born every minute." Take care not to let this statement apply to you.



HOUSEWIFE HEARS salesman outline his company's plan for low-monthly-payment swimming pool. The homeowner's name landed on a "mailing list" of families with annual incomes of more than $8,000. Though company makes legitimate offer, housewife is not interested. She told salesman "no." (A13

Luncheon To Benefit Retarded

Northwest Suburban Aid for the Retarded is planning a salad bar luncheon and card party at the West Park field house, Park Ridge, for Saturday, Sept. 17. Luncheon will be served from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. and will be followed by an afternoon of card playing.

The public is invited and tickets at $1.50 are available by calling TA 5-6464.

TWO MEMBERS of Wheeling Township Women's Republican club discuss arrangements for tea and reception scheduled for Tuesday, September 20. Finalizing plans are Mrs. Andrew Duros (left) and Mrs. Henry Korff. The tea, being held in Mrs. Duros' Prospect Heights home, will honor Mrs. William G. Stratton and the wives of other prominent state and local Republican leaders. Invitations to the function are being sent out this week. (B8

Six Victims of Nails Are Treated by Hospital Staff

Last week was the week for nails — the stepped — on kind, that is. Six nail-stepper-oners were treated by the emergency staff at Northwest Community hospital.

First was Daniel Reder, 5, of Mt. Prospect. He came in to have the wound cleaned dressed, Tuesday, Aug. 23. The next day, August 24, three nail victims were treated. They are Dennis Foreman, 8, of Arlington Heights; Judy Keifer, 9, of Palatine; Paul Smith, 14, of Arlington Heights.

Thursday's nail victim is Michael Malone, 11, of Palatine. Three-year-old John Hanse, of Palatine, completed the sextet, Friday, Aug. 26.

MORE SERIOUS injuries were also treated during the week. Lillian Krohn, 47, of Prospect Heights, cut off the tip of a finger in a food slicer, Wednesday, Aug. 24. She was admitted for observation for one day.

Camiele Lemon, 73, of Arlington Heights, broke her left shoulder in a fall at her home. Victim of a trampoline is Bonnie McKenzie, 16, of Springfield, who hit the posts while jumping. She had a cut on her face stitched.

Sheila Condon, 11 of Arlington Heights broke her left arm Friday when she fell out of her parents' station wagon. Two-year-old Steven Petelle, of Mt. Prospect, suffered a broken foot when a patio stone fell on it.

Those treated with needle and thread are Mark Franicskorich, 19, of Arlington Heights, who suffered a one-inch cut when a wrench slipped from his hand.

Ellen Soderholm, 10, also of Arlington Heights, fell on concrete while running at the Arlington Pool. She had stitches in a 1½-inch cut on her forehead. Lydia Borne, 55, of Rolling Meadows, tripped on some building materials on the sidewalk at Kirchoff rd. and Meadow dr. She was admitted after deep cuts on her legs were sutured.

Bill Sedgwick, 7, of Mt. Prospect, tangled with a parked car, Wednesday, Aug. 24, and had a 2½-inch cut on his left cheek treated. A cut from stepping on glass was suffered by Mike Berry Jr., 6, of Arlington Heights. Stitches were taken in the 2½-centimeter wound.

HATTIE NORTON, 41, of Mt. Prospect, suffered a two-inch cut when her head was hit by a door.

David Salman, 21, of Des Plaines was admitted to the hospital after he suffered facial burns and cuts and lacerations on his arms and left knee Sunday. Another accident victim, Pete Puisifer, 54, of Palatine, was treated for a cracked rib and bruises. In an accident at rte. 83 and Dundee rd., Merrill Crimmin, 66, of Chicago, suffered a bruised neck.

Agustin Arroyo, 54, of Chicago was admitted for observation after he was thrown while exercising a horse at Arlington Park. (B8

Mail Invitations To Republican Tea

Invitations to the September 20 tea sponsored by the Wheeling Township Women's Republican club are scheduled to be in the mail within the next few days.

The tea and reception will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Andrew Duros, 15 Glenbrook, Prospect Heights.

Over 125 invitations will be sent to club members and interested GOP women in Wheeling township. Admittance will be by invitation only, with no charge to those attending the tea.

AMONG THE prominent women who have accepted the club's invitation to be honored guests are Congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church, of the 13th district; Mrs. William G. Stratton, wife of the Governor; Mrs. Samuel Witwer, whose husband is running for a seat in the U. S. Senate; Mrs. W. Russell Arrington of Evanston, wife of the GOP candidate for state senator; Mrs. Francis X. Connell, wife of the Republican candidate for clerk of the circuit court of Cook county; and Mrs. John W. Carroll and Mrs. Arthur E. Simmons, wives of the GOP incumbents to the Illinois General Assembly. Wives of other Republican candidates on the state ticket have also been invited.

Until election day club members will be busy canvassing the precincts in Wheeling township. Any woman who would like to assist in campaign activities is asked to contact Mrs. Edmond Shanahan, CL 3-8769, or Mrs. Eugene Schlickman, CL 5-5596. (B8

FROM SHERWOOD

The VFW annual national convention being held in Detroit recently made it convenient for the John Auld family, 1009 Watling, to be there for five days. Both presidential candidates spoke to the convention, however John was able to hear only the vice president's speech.

Proof of the popularity of the John Mintons was firmly established these last few days when Mrs. Minton and son, John, returned to Arlington Heights after having been gone several years. Mrs. Minton stayed with friends in Scarsdale while John was the guest of the Nat Burfeinds, 1130 N. Harvard. Saturday Mrs. Roger Ryden entertained at a coffee for Mrs. Minton, enabling her Sherwood friends and her to get in a good visit in one fell swoop. The Mintons lived in Sherwood for 10 years before moving to Beloit and then to Detroit.

Mary Kit and John Rankin, 1106 Harvard, have been playing host to their friend from south of the border, Mrs. Neil See of Saltillo, Coah, Mexico, for several days. Only last year they were guests in the Sees' home in Mexico and were delighted when they received word that Mrs. See was stopping to see them on her way to visit relatives in Wisconsin.

There were several reasons why the white elephant sale at the Robert Fernstroms' was a success last Tuesday. The committee, Mrs. Fernstrom, Mrs. Roger Ryden, Mrs. George Thieman, Mrs. John Rankin and Mrs. Ray Peck, worked hard to make it so, the patio and back yard were so attractive people just couldn't stay away, and it also gave all of them a chance to visit with one another at the close of a busy summer.

MRS. PETER Spindler, 1206 N. Harvard, hit upon the idea of combining work and fun Tuesday when she invited several Little League mothers for morning coffee. Tickets for Little League dance at the race track October 1 were available, and between sips of coffee the ladies got them all ready for mailing.

Bill, son of Marie and Tom Specht, 1118 Watling, has been working hard this summer up until August 20, when he and his friend from Wheeling took off for a camping trip to Canada. On their way up they stopped at Mackinac Island and took a bike tour of the island before heading north into Canada. They have been fishing, swimming, sightseeing and even dancing. Reports came back that they attended a teen-age hop in Canada. Before they return they will have traveled all around Lake Superior. Bill will enter North Park college as a freshman this month.

It is a business and pleasure trip for Jim Colvin, 1319 Watling, and Stephen. They visited relatives in Kentucky and Tennessee before coming over to Virginia Beach for a few days. Stephen chose Washington and Lee as the university of his choice and will be leaving this month for his freshman year.

FROM RIDGE PARK

When Virginia and Marty Munsen, 376 N. Harvard, learned he would be stationed for two weeks at Fort Sam Houston for reserve duty with the army they began making quick plans. San Antonio is her home and after making the drive down there together, Marty went to the fort and Virginia and Karen stayed with her folks. Marty was able to come home nights and visit with the family, making it one of the best training periods he'd ever had.

A visit from California relatives prompted the recent outdoor picnic at the H. W. Wiegels', 724 N. Kennicott. It had been 22 years since Margaret had seen her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Winterswijk and their sons, Art and Jack, of Chino. Another aunt, Mrs. Effie Spronk of Hardwick, Minn., came down for a surprise visit, so Margaret got her brother and his family to come over from W. Dundee to make the party complete.

Norma and Al Snap, 1012 N. Kaspar, are finding it hard to get back in the old routine after three wonderful weeks in Door county. They took their boat up there and camped in Nicolet bay in Peninsula State park. Having their own boat made it convenient to explore the many islands there. After they came home, they went to Urbana to see her folks and to Freeport to see Al's folks.

Mary and Jack Meade, 1003 N. Kennicott, and the four little Meades moved to Charlestown, Ind., last Friday. Although Jack had been transferred to the Louisville office of his company, the home office is in Chicago and he will be able to keep in touch with his friends here whenever his itinerary calls for trips to Chicago.

Jimmy, son of Joyce and Jim Lauer, 1020 N. Kennicott, is home after having spent a week with his grandparents, the senior Jim Lauers in Des Moines. They brought him home and are spending a few days here before returning to Iowa.

FIVE DAYS OF camping at Lake Shakamak in Indiana were just what Helen and Dick Bulinski, Jean and Kathy needed to condition them for the school year which is fast approaching. Beautiful weather made many things available to them, things like horseback riding, swimming and sunbathing and watching the AAU swimming and diving meet. The Bulinskis live at 725 N. Kaspar.

This time, when Harry Kunberger's brother and his family, Cmdr. and Mrs. George Kunberger, visited them they were on vacation and the two families made good use of their time. They spent a day at Riverview, took the boys to the ball game another day and sandwiched in between were trips to the pool. The adults had their fun too, going to the loop for dinner and a night on the town.

After Ginnie and Bob Read, 1019 N. Kennicott, took Pris to the Senior High conference at the Presbyterian camp in Saugatuck, Mich., this weekend, they drove to Marshall to spend the night with Rev. and Mrs. Douglas Trout and their family. Many Arlington Heighters will remember Rev. Trout who was the minister of education at the Presbyterian church here before he moved to Michigan.

The Larry Stockings, 1015 N. Kennicott, found that a 2-week vacation passes quickly. Nan and the baby stayed with her mother in Baraboo while Larry, the boys and Nan's father went on a fishing trip further north.

The aroma of an outdoor barbecue filled the backyard of the Richard Ketzas', 735 N. Princeton, Sunday and the Bob Balfours, Jim Spiels and the Alex Schanmeiers all discovered that the food tasted as good as it smelled. Afterward they played badminton and were introduced to muscles they never knew they had.

Tom, son of Grace and Bud Grey, 817 N. Yale, came home from a 3-week vacation in Montana completely sold on the west. He stayed at the ranch of his friend, Bruce McRae, where they rode horseback, shot prairie dogs and had their pick of several lakes on the ranch in which to swim. Tom took many slides of his trip and has the family almost as excited about it as as he is. When he returns to Dartmouth on the 13th for his third year, he will have many nice things to say about the state of Montana.

JON CHARLES, son of the Roy Holmquists, 918 N. Harvard, was baptized Sunday in St. James by Father Lane. Mr. Holmquist's sister and brother-in-law, Betty and Frank Slazes of Lake Villa were godparents. There was a dinner at the Holmquists' afterward and the Slazes and all of Roy's family were there, including "a million little babies" (to quote Mrs. Holmquist)--actually 12 in all.

The Jack Blackburns, 1429 W. Brown, spent a month at Houghton lake in Michigan at the cottage belonging to her parents. Located right on the lake, they fished, swam and lounged like real vacationers. Instead of driving home, they came across Lake Michigan on the boat.

After a summer at Camp Eagle Crest, Wis., Dot, Gene and Wally Friker, 713 N. Patton, are trying hard to get back in the old routine. Gene was a senior staff member of this co-educational camp and Wally was a senior camper there this year.

The house guest at the Werner C. Beckers', 1004 N. Ridge, over the weekend brought them news of Ronnie. David Baird, who has been Ronnie's shipmate for several months, brought them up-to-date on Ronnie, having stopped off to see them on his way from the west coast to his home in Salem, Ohio. The Beckers are looking forward to a visit from Ronnie the first of October.

The new baby at the John Oertels', 708 N. Salem, didn't complicate their vacation one bit this year, when they spent two weeks at a log cabin in the north woods. Located on the shores of Big Gilmore lake near Minong, Wis., there was plenty of fishing and swimming for the whole family and for their friends from Stonegate, the Paul Thompsons, who came up for the first week of their vacation.

AFTER A WEEK of vacation at Lake Namakogan near Cable, Wis., the Arnold Koriath family, 823 N. Kennicott, is ready to go back again. They stayed at the lodge there and proof of the wonderful meals they had is the fact that they all came home weighing more than when they did a week ago. When they weren't fishing or swimming in the pool, they were taking side trips to Hayward, Ashland and Lake Superior.

There will be plenty of fish stories to tell when Herman Koeneman, 908 N. Fernandez, Kenny and Kevin and their Uucle Tom return from a fishing trip to Eagle River, Wis., Friday. They left last Friday and two more excited boys would be hard to find.

Mrs. Fred Siemro, 929 N. Yale, is taking her 2-week vacation at home this year, getting caught up on visiting and a few projects around the house. Her sister's birthday fell during her vacation, making it possible for her to spend the day with Mrs. Sam Nordmeier.

As long as the Carl Schlomanns, 924 N. Harvard, were moving, their friends are glad that it was as close as Norwood Park so that they will be able to see them occasionally. They moved last week.

When the temperature dropped to the 30's in upper Michigan, Ann and Joe Pecoraro, 727 N. Kennicott, decided that four nights of camping was enough for them, and their son, Mike, agreed. They began their trip around lake Michigan by driving up through Wisconsin, visiting the Cave of the Mounds, Little Norway and Fort Wilkins at Copper Harbor on the way. They were real tourists this time, stopping to go through iron and copper mines and a paper mill. The stopover in St. Ignace also included a boat trip to Mackinack Island, which they all enjoyed. From there they headed up to Sioux Ste: Marie, staying long enough to see boats going through the locks. Since they had done so much sightseeing on their way up, they had to fly home and make the extra time.

KENNICOTT AVE. was well represented Saturday night at the wedding of Joyce Engelking and Ralph Carlino in Faith Lutheran church. Joyce is the daughter of Peg and Bob Engelking who formerly lived on Kennicott ave. The reception was held in Palatine.

Last Friday evening began in ordinary fashion for the Donald Mohrs, 927 N. Fernandez, but it didn't end that way. They went to an early movie and when they returned home 45 people were waiting there to help them celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary. It was a complete surprise to Mrs. Mohr, but her husband had a hand in it and enjoyed the expression on her face when she walked in the door. Even friends from his office were there, along with many other friends and neighbors. At midnight they all sat down to a dinner. Mrs. Mohr is now completely sold on surprise parties.

It took two parties to celebrate the birthdays at the Ed Seamans', 919 N. Fernandez, last week. The first was for Eddie, who was 11 August 23. His dad took Eddie and the following boys bowling: Kenny Koeneman, Fred and Don Grote, Jerry and Bob Bebber, Eddie's cousin from Chicago, Dennis Nantelis, and his sister, Susan. The bowling was such a hit that only ice cream and cake waiting for them at home could get them to leave.

Saturday was Greg's day. He was 5 and had a movie party to which he invited Donnie Barnak, Tommy Holub, Jimmy Hedger, Barbara Rait and Danny Mohr. It was a program to delight any 5-year old. Not only was there the ever-popular movie, but the Three Stooges and a Robin Hood movie besides. Between mouthfuls of ice cream and cake afterward at the Seamans', they rehashed the movie, laughing all over again at the antics of the Three Stooges. (A

Round 'N About Westgate

Walt and Helen Aagaard, 1508 St. James, recently returned from an 8-day business trip to Akron and Cleveland and then on to Jamestown, N. Y., where they stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Smith on Lake Chautauqua. Parties and boating kept them well entertained during their visit. Before returning home, they drove to Buffalo and then Ontario to see Niagara Falls from the Canadian side.

After living here for five years, Norah and Dick McFarland moved Monday from their home at 1614 Johanna terr., together with their daughters, Susie and Mary, to Highland, Ind.

Alan, son of Esther and Tony Van Bladel, 108 N. Reuter, who was 12 August 24, celebrated with a beach party at Lake Zurich with his brothers, Gerald, Kenneth and Robert, sister, Patricia, and his friend, Jerry Smith. Also present were his aunts, Mrs. J. Oomens and Mrs. R. Liebert, and cousins, Steven Liebert and Irene and Karen Oomens.

Mrs. Andrew Venglarchek Sr. returned to her home in Euclid, Ohio, last Sunday after having spent the last three weeks with her daughter and son-in-law, Dorothy and Bob Agnes, 1503 Fremont. She was here to give Dorothy a hand with the newest addition to the family, Rosemarie. Roberta and Dennis also enjoyed their grandmother's visit. Mr. Venglarchek and son, Andrew, spent the last weekend with them also, to see the baby and take their wife and mother home.

Larry Smith Jr., 1611 Johanna ter., had David Gaydos of Joliet as a house guest last week. Larry and David are classmates at St. Procopius academy.

WESTGATE II

Lucile and Wallace Mitchell, 110 S. Renter, attended the wedding of their son, Wallace Jr., to Mary Ann Mc Cabe in Rantoul last Saturday. Their son, Robert, served as best man and daughter, Diane, was a bridesmaid. After the services in St. Malichy church, they attended the reception at Shandell club, Chanute Air Force base. Wallace's sister and brother-in-law, Pearl and Daniel Evan Maury of Dallas, came for the occasion and afterward stayed for a visit.

The Eddie Berges and their daughter, Janet Allison, and the Leslie Kesels and boys, Leslie and Kenneth, spent a week's vacation together in Hayward, Wis., where they all enjoyed fishing and swimming.

Saturday evening Ellie and Eddie Berge celebrated their 12th wedding anniversary with an evening out to dinner. Later they joined several couples at the Rustic Manor and enjoyed the remainder of the evening dancing.

LAURIE, daughter of Teresa and Duke Parsons, 224 S. Illinois, celebrated her third birthday Friday afternoon. Her sister Lynn, along with Michael and Francine Willis, Bobby Cunninghan, Donny Bledsoe, Joan Sowers, Susie Perry, Diane Glomski and Vicki Melin were on hand to help blow out the candles.

Laurie's grandmother, Mrs. Harry Steuterman of Memphis came Sunday, just in time for a family celebration for her birthday. Her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gerber, Villa Park, and uncle, Jim Parsons, and his girl friend, Joan Laschinski of Evanston, were also on hand to share her birthday cake.

Mary and Bob Richard, 307 S. Illinois dr., and their children, Jimmy, Robin, Paul and Kelly, returned Saturday evening from a 3-week visit in Toronto, Canada, with Mary's sisters, and the John Rush and George Hancox families. While there they enjoyed seeing Mary's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Case, who lived nearby. Robin celebrated her seventh birthday while away on vacation.

SARA AND BILL Merkle, 219 S. Reuter, and their boys, Mark and Billy, returned this past week from a 6-week trip through Louisana, Texas and Oklahoma visiting relatives. They also spent a while at Colorado Springs and visited Estes park and Yellowstone National park.

Tuesday afternoon, Darwin, son of Darwin and Connie Townsend, 106 S. Reuter, had a few friends over for ice cream and cake in celebration of his third birthday. Those invited were Sara and Jane McKee, Billy and Kenny Kenney, Michael Kuehn, his aunt, Betty Lou Townsend; cousins, Pam and Pat; and his sisters, Cathy and Terri.

Mary Depew and her children, Nancy and Kathy, recently returned from a trip to Montana, where they visited Mary's family. Her husband, Bill, and son, Jim, drove out and joined them and then went on to Yellowstone National park for a few days. They spent a week in Jackson Hole, Wyo. before returning home.

Cindy, daughter of Fran Kolk, 19 S. Yale, is recovering from an emergency appendectomy in Northwest Community hospital. Friends all wish her a speedy recovery. (A

Experts Praise School Driver Training Class

You may be the world's safest driver and still do a very bad job of teaching your children how to drive, according to Frederick T. McGuire Jr., president of the American Automobile Association.

"Instruction of a new driver is a job for professionals," said the AAA official. "Most parents lack the patience and objectivity to teach driving to their family. Moreover, they often pass along bad habits."

Mr. McGuire urged parents of teen-age boys and girls to enroll them in an accredited driver education course available in 10,231 high schools, or nearly half of those in the U. S.

"Most parents learned to drive by the hunt-and-peck system," said Mr. McGuire. "Therefore, they see little reason why their son or daughter shouldn't do the same. Actually, home-trained drivers have 50 per cent more traffic accidents than persons who have completed driver education courses."

Objectivity is an important factor in all good teaching. Few non-professional teachers can meet this test, when it involves a member of their own family. Arguments and strained relations are a frequent result of home courses in driver training. (Spec Sec

Bikes Boom at Suburb Schools

As the suburbs grow and new homes are added to the far corners of school districts, the number of students depending on bicycles for transportation to and from classes also is growing.

Use of two wheelers, probably greatest among those of high school age, also is increasing in both grade school and college areas.

The trend is being hailed by many parents with satisfaction on at least two counts.

Pedaling to and from classes, many contend, insures essential outdoor physical exercise for growing children. It also gives them a new sense of responsibility for their own personal safety in traffic.

Some Limit Service

The growth in the use of the bicycle among children of grade school and junior-high level is being stimulated in some degree, it is said, by new limitations being placed on free school bus service.

Some school districts now limit the service to youngsters living a mile or more from the schools they attend. Those living at lesser distances walk or use their bikes — or in some instances depend on car pools.

The growth upward among the various age brackets almost literally saturates the college crowd, where bikes always have been popular. However, there appears to be more than increases in college enrollments to explain growing use of the bicycle on campuses.

The growth at this level is said to be stimulated by the almost universal rule among colleges forbitting students to own and operate their own motor cars. Many colleges and universities apply this rule to all students; some limit it to first and second year students.

Colleges Approve

In any event, there is a limitation of some kind almost everywhere. Bans are based sometimes on lack of parking space for student cars and sometimes on the principle that car ownership is distracting. Bikes, it appears, are frowned on nowhere among the colleges; on the other hand, their use is generally encouraged both at girls' schools and co-ed colleges.

Only five years ago, the Bicycle Institute of America made a survey indicating that two and a half million grammar school and high school students depended on their bikes for transportation. Projection of that survey to this period, indicates that somewhat over 4,000,000 young cyclists now pedal to school daily. (Spec Sec.

Watch 8th Grader; It's a Crucial Age

Te finger is on the 8th grade as a crucial time of decision for youngsters — and their parents. Many leading educators say that the 8th grade is none too soon for youngsters to start "jelling" on their future plan of study, particularly on the big decision on whether or not to go to college.

They suggest that 12-year-olds and their parents start visiting campuses and figuring finances for college.

Several recent studies show, too, that the 8th grade may be a stumbling block for the brightest youngsters, who, after doing well all through elementary school, begin stubbing their toes in junior high. This is where home, school, and community need to work together to ensure that these academically talented girls and boys don't drop out of high school (1 in every 5 does now.)

Now Dr. James Bryant Conant has added his findings. He feels 8th grade is the time when the child-centered curriculum of the elementary school must shift to the more intellectually-demanding subject-matter curriculum of the high school and university.

He would require all eighth-graders to study English, social studies, mathematics, art, music, and physical education. The boys should, in addition, take industrial arts while the girls take home economics.

He also says eighth-graders should be doing one or two hours of homework every night. (SS

Dr. Fred Schwarz, host and moderator, gave a speech on "Minds, Morals, and Motives of Communism" and Herbert Philbrick, of "I Led Three Lives" fame, gave a talk on how he came to work with the FBI and some of his experiences.

Ruth and Wilbur Dodge, 1407 Lynnwood, traveled to Glendale, Ohio, last week. Leaving Thursday, they stopped in Bloomington for their son, Bill. They dropped him off in Bloomington again Sunday on their return trip.

Five Journalism Students at Meet

Five seniors from Prospect high school accompanied by their sponsor, Miss Ida Burleigh, journalism instructor, attended the 33rd Annual Publications Conference of the National Scholastic Press association at the Conrad Hilton hotel in Chicago August 24, 25, and 26.

Barbara Youngren, Chris Wierzbik, co-editors, and Denny Dryjanski, Robert Christensen, and Rick Buchhuber, sports writers on the Prospector, heard prominent speakers from Chicago, Minneapolis, and New York publications. They also attended workshops on make-up, headline writing, advertising, editorial writing, and reporting.

THE OPENING convocation was held in the grand ballroom of the Conrad Hilton. Climax of the conference was the Friday luncheon at which Hedley Donovan, editorial director of Time, Life, and Fortune spoke on "The Time of Your Life."

Entertainment consisted of tours of the Loop, N. Lake Shore dr., Chinatown, and a boat trip on Lake Michigan.

The five staff members of the Prospector plan to use their instruction obtained at the conference in improving their high school newspaper.

To Reopen Hearings on Rezoning

The county zoning board will open rezoning hearings September 7 on a Wheeling township case.

At 8 p.m. in the Arlington Heights village hall, the board will take testimony on an application aimed at construction of a gasoline station at the northwest corner of Des Plaines River rd. and Euclid ave. in Wheeling township.

The owner, Ozell A. Atkins, 9650 Milwaukee ave., Des Plaines, was victorious in his fight to put up a gas station in a legal battle settled last January by the Illinois Supreme court. But the three-quarter acre tract later was classified as a residence district in a new zoning code adopted by the county last March. He now wants restricted service district zoning.

Open House for Carlisles' 30th Wedding Anniversary

Arlington Heights Mayor and Mrs. Edward Carlisle hosted 125 Chicago and suburban well-wishers Sunday at a 5 to 8 o'clock open house at 1006 S. Vail in celebration of their 30th wedding anniversary. Among the guests were some of the friends and relatives who were in their wedding party of 1930, and several persons who had been among the wedding guests.

The youngest wedding guest 30 years ago was the 3-month-old son of family friends, the Walter Rochows, who were at the party Sunday with their son, Jack, who was this time able to express his own congratulations.

Among wedding party members who added reminiscing and best wishes to the anniversary party was Mrs. Carlisle's sister, now Mrs. William Bonner of Chicago, who served as a bridesmaid. The youngest sister, who had been maid of honor, was represented Sunday by her son, David Rowley, here from the family home in Saddle River, N.J. Adding their blessings once again were the mother of the bride, Mrs. Edward Stengler of Chicago, and mother of the bridegroom, who makes her home with her son and his family.

Other original wedding guests at the anniversary party were Charles Rowley and Albert Kuhnke of Chicago and Mrs. C. F. Willis of Lake Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle were married August 29, 1930 in Chicago and moved to Arlington Heights 14 years ago. They have two daughters. A "This Is Your Life" display of photographs and movies were shown Sunday, outlining the couples' progress through the years. (A

CELEBRATING THEIR 30TH wedding anniversary Sunday, Mayor and Mrs. Edward Carlisle of Arlington Heights decided it was time for a special party. They are shown above as they hosted an open house for friends and relatives, including several who were in their wedding party of August 29, 1930. (A Goal for the village, according to the tag day director, Rev. Carl Nelson, is $1,000.

THE FUNDS are used to help mothers and children of broken homes. Rev. Nelson said about 40 children a day are treated by members of the home's staff.

Children stay at the home from one week to five years. The non-sectarian home employs six to twelve full time staff members, depending upon the case load.

According to Nelson, the number of homes seeking help has increased this year by eight per cent.

New Lohr's Pharmacy Open Soon

Lohr's pharmacy, 24 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights, will move to a new location in the village at 210 W. Northwest hwy., next to the Red Owl food market, September 4.

The store will open for business at its new location Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Something on Everything for Everyone

Arlington Heights Boasts Top Public Library in Area

by WILLIAM DULANEY

Interested in learni n g Chinese or boning up on the latest techniques in breeding African violets?

Then drop into the building at the corner of Belmont and Miner in Arlington Heights where nearly every subject imaginable may be found between the covers of the village library's 32,000 volumes.

Tucked away into one of the older residential sections of town, the library boasts one of the largest collection of books and periodicals in the northwest suburbs.

With its 14,000 adult nonfiction books, 8,000 adult fiction works, 10,000 children and teenage volumes, and 80 periodicals, the public library is on a par with Des Plaines and ranks far ahead of neighboring Mr. Prospect and Palatine, the latter having 20,000 and 12,000 books respectively, notes Mrs. Charles Stadelman, librarian.

PARTICULARLY proud of the periodical collection, Mrs. Stadelman notes she intends ordering 25 more this year. The library can then boast every magazine, bulletin, digets, and pamphlet listed in the abridged version of the Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature including the one on African violets.

One of the best endorsements of the library, notes Mrs. Stadelman, are the 424 persons who paid $5 for nonresident library cards last year. These persons came from Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove Village, Palatine, Mt. Prospect, and unincorporated areas.

Arlington Heights users of the library total 14,400 nearly 10 times the number that in at once (3,000 adult books checked out books in 1952.

ORIGINAL EDITIONS of "Wizard of Oz" books are admired by Mrs. Charles Stadelman, librarian, and Miss Edith Lindsey, children's librarian. The valuable books are part of library's 33,000 volumes. (AF

Things were not always so thriving for the library. Founded in 1894 by the Arlington Heights Woman's Club, it was housed in a home and dependent upon donated books.

AFTER VARIOUS moves, and constant promoting by the Woman's club, the books were moved into their present home in 1952. The library building was enlarged in 1957 and again last year, but has already outgrown all available space.

"If we had all of our books are circulating), we'd have them stacked on the floor," says Mrs. Stadelman. To complicate things public demand results in an ever increasing number of book purchases. Over 5,000 new books were purchased last year for $10,000. This year's budget allots $12,000 for book purchases.

Mrs. Stadelman weekly pours over 18 digests, bulletins, and book reviews in determining what books to order. She notes there has been a significant increase in recent years in requests for adult non-fiction.

She is particularly proud of the quality and variety of non-fiction offered by the library and cites a recent incident to support her position. An Arlington high school graduate received a list of suggested reading from Harvard university prior to his entering as a freshman this fall. The student could find only one of the 30 books listed at the high school library. The village library can count 27 of the 30.

MRS. STADELMAN notes the library has especially strong sections of biographies, science, and travel and adventure, and is building up its foreign language shelves (the Chinese language book has been checked out twice since it was acquired in July).

While the library tries to keep abreast of current events and popular subjects, Mrs. Stadelman laughingly recites the time she was caught off guard by a youngster who rushed into the library the morning after Russia launched the first sputnik and asked for all the books on sputniks.

Should the library receive a request for a book it does not have and doesn't want to order, it can obtain the book on loan through the Illinois State Library in Springfield.

AMONG THE libraries valuable books, Mrs. Stadelman numbers some original editions of the "Wizard of Oz."

While no group has ever attempted to exercise censorship in the library's choice of books, Mrs. Stadelman notes individuals have objected to such books as "Peyton Place" and books on Communism.

"I try to explain to them that the library is supported by the entire community, and when we have a wide demand for these books, we feel obligated to obtain them."

AS FOR BOOKS on Communism, the librarian points to the Library Bill of Rights hanging on her office wall. It speaks of free access to ideas and all points of view.

To assist patrons in finding "all points of view," or whatever information they may want, Mrs. Stadelman is assisted by seven part time helpers. There are four persons on duty at all times.

Reading habits vary, with non-fiction increasing in popularity, notes Mrs. Stadelman. She observes that if an author comes out with a best seller, she automatically orders his earlier work which will shortly be in demand.

SOME READERS pick out a subject and exhaust it. She cites a retired man and wife who read one section at a time.

"They check out eight books between them each week. So far they've gone through the rivers of the United States and the Civil War," she says. (AF

Ormsbee Launches 10th Year

Elliott "Bus" Ormsbee, a veteran of the Illinois prep coaching ranks, began his tenth season Monday as head man of the Arlington football Cardinals with one of the roughest assignments of his career.

After guiding the Cards to an impressive 6-2 mark in 1959 and a third place in the strong West Suburban conference, the former Bradley Little All-American moves into the 1960 campaign without the aid of a single letterman or any seniors seasoned in varsity competition.

ARLINGTON picked up 1,072 yards on the ground and 1.002 yards via the aerial route during the 1959 season. Those 2,074 total yards departed with the graduating seniors.

Arlington scored 24 touchdowns and 16 extra points in 1959 and averaged 20 points per game. Those points also left the AHS scene in the June graduation.

Chuck Aldrich's junior-varsity aggregation turned in a creditable 3-2-1 mark in '59 but, once again, seniors were used extensively to supplement the unfortunate scarcity of junior candidates.

Arlington's frosh - sophs stood 1-6 in conference competition and 2-6 overall with victories over East Leyden and Glenbard West.

ORMSBEE and his staff face a big rebuilding job, and they started right in Monday attempting to mold a creditable unit for the Sept. 16 opener with East Leyden's Eagles.

-The opening days of practice were devoted to conditioning exercises, including wind sprints, position assignments and drills on the fundamentals of blocking and tackling.

Ormsbee is assisted on a varsity level this fall by Norm Patberg and Steve Chernicky with Sid Brown heading the JVs. Bill Daletski and Dick Ohl will work with the frosh-sophs with Chuck Harrington, Julius Fliehler, and Bob Baker handling the frosh.

How They Tell

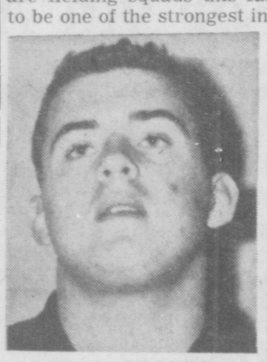
A 10-pound difference is the key by which Northwestern football coaches distinguishes between Elbert and Albert Kimbrough, twin brothers on the Wildcat squad. Elbert, an end, weighs 195 pounds and Albert, a halfback, weighs 185 pounds. The weight differential works fine when the two are together, but it becomes a guessing game when the boys are separated.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK

SCHOOLBOY FOOTBALL in Illinois, generally regarded as a classy example of how the gridiron sport should be played in the teenage ranks, has but two short weeks in which to take shape for 1960.

High school elevens throughout the state donned the pads Monday and launched stiff workouts in preparation for the season openers. Four hundred and thirty-five high schools are fielding squads this fall, and the '60 campaign promises to be one of the strongest in years.



JEFF ROGERS

It's true the Mike Dundys, Bill Smiths, Doug Schmidts, Bill Pfeiffers, and Jerry Mroczyks — the headliners in 1959 — have left the prep scene, but there are always the new stars coming up or the seasoned preps returning.

A list of some of the top talent available on the high school front this fall would have to include such names as Prospect's Jeff Rogers, a 6-0, 195-pound guard; Hinsdale's Jim Carmignani, 155-pound halfback; Downers Grove's Dan Jacobbazzi, 230-pound center-guard; Vocational's Dick Butkus, a 6-3, 230-pounder who can do anything on the gridiron; and Freeport's Willie Weisindanger, 6-4, 250-pound guard.

The pre-season prep prognosticators have already given those boys possible All-State tags for 1960. Prospect's Rogers was the only Interim assn., lineman honored on the special mention list of the '59 honor squad as he worked as field captain of the Knights' eleven.

Lane Tech, the mythical team champion in Illinois high school football last fall, was hit hard by graduation, but there are some talented prep units ready for action this season, including an East St. Louis aggregation that has southern Illinois coaches envious even at this stage of the campaign.

Morton of Cicero is expected to have a lot to say about the Suburban league race with the Mustangs boasting several returnees from last fall's standout club and a host of promising newcomers from an unbeaten soph unit.

However, several of the Morton players have been engaged in the Jr. Legion baseball playoffs for the past two weeks, representing the Berwyn legion post, and won't get in the required number of practices before the opening game.

Hinsdale's Red Devils could be headed for their finest season in years in the West Suburban, and Vocational, one of the semi-finalists in the Public league last year, appears ready to take over where Lane Tech left off in '59.

St. Phillip, Weber, and Mount Carmel are the three teams expected to fight it out for the Chicago Catholic loop championship, and Bill Beckman's Prospect Knights have been drawing some favorable comments in the press throughout the state.

Elsewhere on the prep scene, Freeport of the Big Eight conference has the bulk of its giant line back, and New Trier, Evanston, and Niles are rated the strongest challangers to Morton in the always-strong Suburban league.

Centralia looks powerful in the southern part of the state, but the Orphans probably won't take any of the glory away from Fred Cameron's East St. Louis Flyers, this corner's choice for the mythical state championship.

THIS 'N THAT:

Rich Donley of Kankakee, one of the top prep basketball players in the state last winter and a definite candidate for All-State honors this season, has been dropped from athletics for disciplinary reasons . . . Kankakee's Donley led the squad in scoring as a junior with 514 r ers in 29 games . . . The 6-2 guard also led the South Suburban league in scoring . . . Donley would have been one of the standouts in the Kankakee holiday tourney this winter, a tourney including Dick Kinneman's Prospect Knights . . . Bill Kelley, 30, of Arlington Heights, was injured critically Saturday in race car accident on the Missouri Fair's mile track . . .Kelley was reported in critical condition after the smash-up with head injuries after his car rammed another and flipped end-over-end for 300 feet.

Quick quote from Chuck Bennett, Lyons township high school athletic director: "You won't find any better backfields in this area, but LaGrange's success will depend largely on the line."

Fred Falkner, Willowbrook's outstanding athlete in 1959-60, is headed for Purdue on a scholastic scholarship . . . Falkner, a football and track star, had numerous offers of athletic scholarships but chose to accept the academic grant . . . He is planning to major in science and will compete in track . . . Other Willowbrook announcements find Tom Jobin at the Air Force academy, Buddy Kane and Jim Becker at Stout State college in Menominee, Wis., Ron Teed at the University of Illinois, Jon Hall at Illinois Wesleyan, and Ron Rau at Duke university . . . Two of the University of Kentucky's brightest frosh grid prospects this fall will be Bob Kosid and Andy Forgione, former Glenbrook high standouts

Illinois has had high schools which dominated the state in one sport for several years — Bloom in track — but how about Nashua high school in New Hampshire? During the past school year it won state titles in football, basketball, baseball, and indoor and outdoor track!

PASSING OUT the second place medals to Pure Oil team in the Paddock golf tournament Sunday was G. A. McElroy of Palatine, sports columnist for the papers and official starter for the tourney. Shown with "Mac" are Don Niemeyer, Lionel LeClaire, Bill McClane and Dave Eber.

Morton Pontiac Claims 1960 Paddock Golf Tourney Crown

Morton Pontiac of the Mt. Prospect Tuesday division, sparked by two hot rounds by Clarke Robinson and Ted Banka, came home with the big prize Sunday in the eleventh annual Paddock Publications Inter-League handicap golf tournament.

The Morton entry of Robinson, Banka, Walt Double, and Walt Kadlec toured the 6,304 yard south course at White Pines golf club in 335 strokes and thanks to their 54 team handicap registered a winning total of 281.

Team three of the Pure Oil Men's league finished 18 strokes off the pace with a net 299 and Pitzen Movers and Moran Furs tied for third with 301 totals.

ROBINSON, carrying a nine handicap into Sunday's golf spectacle, covered the par 70 course in 73 for a low net 64 and the dozen golf balls. Banka, captain of the champions, was right behind with an 83-18-65.

Double played his usual game with a fine round of 79-6-73 although he tapered off from a fast start with a 42 on the second nine. Kadlec came home with a net 79 after playing the White Pines course in 48-52.

Bill McClane and Dave Ebert sparked the Pure Oil's second place finisher with McClane's net 72 picked up on nines of 44 and 46. Ebert, a standout on Arlington high school's district champions in 1959, was a little off his game but still came in with an impressive card of 37-39 for a net 74.

DON NIEMEYER, possessing a 28 handicap, threatened to walk away with the low net honors when he played the first nine in 45 but he slipped to a 58 on the final 3,299 yards and recorded a net 75. Lionel LeClaire rounded out Pure Oil's efforts with a net 78.

REACHING FOR the trophy are these champions of Sunday's Paddock-sponsored golf tournament at White Pines golf club. Leaders of 15 twilight leagues competed with Morton Pontiac of Mt. Prospect Tuesday loop winning. Holding up the trophy, kneeling, are Capt. Ted Banka and Walter Double. Standing, Clarke Robinson, Walter Kadlac and alternate Ben Kopriva. Robinson also won the dozen golf balls for low individual net of 73-9-

The hot-shooting Pitzen Movers squad of the Old Orchard scratch division brought only a 10 handicap into the eleventh annual meet but turned in an impressive day's work.

John St. Germaine led the Pitzen squad with a net 72 and Marv Prellberg and Vern Rascher, former Arlington high links stars, followed with 74 and 75 respectively. Prellberg started out fast with a 36, two over par for the first nine but fell four over in his final nine holes.

MARTIN GILMORE, the only one handicap player in the 1960 meet, experienced an unfortunate start on his morning round and had to settle for an 81. Gilmore needed 13 strokes on the first two holes, including an eight on the 180 yard third.

Representing the No. 2 division of the St. Raymond's golf league, Moran Furs tied the Scratch entry for third with Don Bohannan's net 69 leading the way. Bohannan registered identical rounds of 43 and with a 17 handicap finished third in the battle for low individual net.

Sponsor Jack Moran, Ed Nawoj, and Fred Buffington rounded out the Moran aggregation.

Paddock sports columnist G. A. McElroy served as starter of the meet with sports promoter Bob Paddock operating the adding machine.

Coaches To Conduct Grid Clinic

Prospect high school's second annual football clinic will be held Friday, Sept. 2, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. on the PHS athletic field.

The Knights' gridiron coaching staff, headed by Bill Beckman, will conduct the clinic and will cover such phases of the game as conditioning, diet, equipment, offensive and defensive formations, pass patterns, and rules interpretation.

The public is invited to the affair and in the event of rain, the clinic will be held in the Prospect high gymnasium.

Beckman Handles Prospect Varsity

by BOB FRISK

Last year Prospect high school moved into its inaugural football campaign minus seniors and lettermen.

But thanks to a talented group of juniors who successively combined desire and ability, Bill Beckman's Knights enjoyed an impressive debut on the varsity gridiron with a 5-2 season mark and second place in the Interim assn.

That crop of 1959 juniors, unaccustomed to losing prep football encounters, returned intact Monday morning and launched the 1960 season with stiff two-a-day workouts under the direction of Beckman and his staff.

THE KNIGHTS kick off their '60 slate Saturday evening, Sept. 17, with a home encounter against St. Procopius. Beckman's aggregation will journey to Proviso West for the Interim opener Sept. 24.

Prospect will play its first four home games on the Arlington high school field before moving over to its own gridiron for the clash with East Leyden Oct. 20.

*—Interim conference meets

Beckman was pleased with the general condition of the candidates Monday, and the Knights showed they were ready for work, exhibiting the same enthusiasm that was evident throughout the '59 campaign.

HEADING THE list of returnees at the Foundry rd., school are the five boys who earned all-Interim recognition in football: Quarterback Fred Lussow, center Bill Zadel, guard Jeff Rogers, halfback Keith Voigt, and end-tackle Mel Aukamp.

Lussow enjoyed an effective season last year as the Knights' field general with five touchdown passes in the squad's seven games. Zadel, Aukamp, and Rogers were standouts in the line with Rogers earning special mention on one All-State squad.

Voigt, a fast 160-pounder, finished second in the Interim scoring derby behind Glenbrook's Bob Kosid and drew plaudits for his blocking and tackling.

IN ADDITION to the returning seniors, Beckman has picked up some important depth in the candidates from the frosh-soph squad that started slow and finished strong in the 1959 Interim flag chase.

A newcomer from Milwaukee may also help out in the line, and basketball standout George Pomey, a 6-4 senior, is also included on the grid roster. Pomey wasn't out for football last fall but possesses some impressive size for handling a flank position.

Assisting Beckman with the varsity this fall are Bob Scott, J. O. Jackson, and Bob Hoese with Hoese scheduled to handle the junior-varsity outfit. Ted Wissen and Chuck Aldrich are working with the frosh-sophs and Hal Hensen, Rusty Dowell, and Dick Mudge are in charge of the frosh candidates.

LL Football Registration Scheduled

Registration for the Arlington Heights little league football teams will take place at Recreation Park Saturday, September 10, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Boys in fifth thru eighth grade are eligible.

Registration fee will be $3 for the first boy and $2 for each additional boy in the family.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

ALL OVER ILLINOIS high school boys got into uniforms and pads Monday morning and started to work out for the first games 15 practice days away. It is great to watch a squad starting practice. Everyone is still a potential team member with high hopes and dreams of getting the call to start that opening game. Everyone runs like mad in the windsprints and tries to impress the coach by staying among the leaders in that long mile grind which shows who has the endurance and is in the best condition.

We have watched so many early practices and have heard the fans who watch become enthusiastic about the spirit of the boys and the hopes for a winning season. The coaches also are feeling good and saying that if the boys continue this way we shall win our share. Every team for three weeks has no defeats to pull down the morale.

Lots of boys look good in the drills and impress the coaches but the real test is competition. Football as much as any sport brings to the front the real competitor. It is no game for the lad who is afraid of contact and afraid of getting hurt. It is a game where the harder you block and tackle the other fellow the safer you are from injury.

AT PALATINE only 34 reported for the varsity squad but as Coach Charley Feutz remarked, "They are all good material this year with no dead timber as we have had in past seasons." Andy Merutka, 190-pound-junior fullback who starred on the varsity last year, was among the leaders in the windsprints and outdistanced the squad in a mile run on opening day. An honor roll student and a real competitor, Andy should be hard to stop this year.

Feutz, Ellis, and Anderson directing the varsity have 17 lettermen and hope for a strong North Suburban title this fall. Only 21 came out for the soph team from a frosh squad which lost all its games and just scored in one last fall. Over 60 frosh and many likely prospects greeted Ron Helberg who takes over the first year boys at Palatine.

Cross country is starting earlier than usual with the nucleus of last year's unbeaten North Suburban champs returning for drills under new coach "Gene" Laulunen. Monday was opening day for what we expect to be one of those real good sports years at Palatine high.

SUNDAY WE HELPED run the Paddock Publications Golf Tournament for the top teams in the various twi-light leagues of the newspaper circulation area. The caliber of players was higher than in previous years and the net score of 281 made by the Morton Pontiac team was one of the best in the many years the tournament has been held. This is certainly the first time that two players on the same team had net scores as low as 64 and 65 scored by Clarke Robinson and Ted Banka. Robinson had 36-37 for 73 with a 9 handicap and Banka a 41-42 for 83 with an 18 handicap. Competition for second and third was the closest on record with Pure Oil's second at 299 and a tie for third at 301 between Pitzen Movers and Moran Furs.

We saw Ed Hetlinger with a 13 handicap score an eagle 3 on the 452 yard 18th hole. Howard Bersted played the third time in the Paddock tourney. Four of the best Players were former Arlington high stars we had not seen in action since their prep school days.

Clarke Robinson of the class of 1947 shot 73 for both low gross and low net in the tournament. Marvin Prellberg '49 and Vern Rascher '48 shot 76 and 75 as members of the Pitzen team from the Old Orchard scratch league. Dave Ebert of Arlington's powerful team of 1959 which made a close bid for the state championship shot a 76 with the Pure Oil team. All these men were medal winners. Rascher is a former captain of the University of Illinois golf team. Fifteen four man teams competed in the tournament. The hot weather of the last week had dried out course and greens so that it did not play as we had described it in the paper two weeks ago. Most of the players found the course at White Pines tougher than they had expected.

Wildcats Launch Football Drills At Dyche Stadium

Northwestern launched it's 72nd football season Wednesday when 60 candidates reported to Coach Ara Parseghian and his aides at Dyche Stadium. The first day was given over to medical check-ups and picture taking with actual drills starting today.

Parseghian, starting his 5th season at the Wildcat helm, has outlined a stiff practice program in preparation for a rigorous nine-game schedule that opens against highly rated Oklahoma at Norman, Sept. 24th.

Eighteen lettermen return from last year's squad that compiled a 6-3 record, the finest mark of a Wildcat eleven in a decade. Among the veterans are four 1959 regulars and two from 1958. The latter, Dick Thornton, quarterback, and Al Kimbrough, halfback, were sidelined last fall by injuries.

"OUR IMMEDIATE problem will be to develop replacements for the interior line where last year's starters have graduated," Parseghian says. "We were encouraged by the showing of their replacements in spring practice, but a lot of work remains to be done.

"This does not figure to be a big team, so we plan to devote much time to developing team speed and agility to compensate for lack of power."

When the Wildcats line up for their fist signal drill, the No. 1 team will probably be an all - letterman unit. At quarterback will be Thornton who had a brilliant sophomore debut in 1958 when he led the Big Ten in total offense. After leading the team to an upset victory over Oklahoma in the first game last fall he suffered a broken ankle in the following game against Iowa.

BAY (DUTCH) Purdin, last year's starting right halfback, will switch to left half as a replacement for All-American Ron Burton. The backfield will be rounded out by Mike Stock, fullback, last years Big Ten scoring leader, and Al Kimbrough, right half. The latter was out of action last year due to a leg injury

Last year's understudies at tackle, guard and center are slated to move up to first string jobs. They are Fate Echols and Bud Melvin, tackles; Russ Asala and Wayne Chamberlain, guards; and Larry Onesti, center.

Best fortified of the line positions are the ends with veterans Elbert Kimbrough and Irv Cross returning, along with senior Paul Yanke. All three are fine pass receivers.

WITH VETERANS available at all positions, it appears unlikely that a sophomore will edge into a starting role. If any newcomer should make the grade, it most likely will be at tackle where two fine prospects - Jack Cvercko and Bill Deegan - had impressive spring practice performances. The former is a brother of Andy Cvercko, All-American tackle for the Wildcats in 1958.

Other promising sophomores include Bob Snider, Dayton, O., halfback; John Dickey, Valley Station, Ky., fullback; Larry Benz, Cleveland, and Fred Quinn, Chicago (Weber), quarterbacks; Burt Petkus, Chicago (Tilden) and Chuck Urbanic, Lorain, O., guards; and Dick Machalski, Chicago (Gordon) and Ed Caplinger, Gary, ends.

Sheldon Records Win In Speedway Feature

In an action packed program of modified and stock jalopy racing, Gary Sheldon, Beloit, Wis. speedster, came home the victor in the main event at the Waukegan Speedway Sunday.

The win was Sheldon's very first running on dirt tracks, having scored in main events prior on asphalt surfaces. His winning speed was 49.13 m.p.h.

Over 2,800 fans witnessed the evening's action which proved to be one of the most thrilling evenings at the track. Five roll overs highlighted the thrills along with an unaccountable number of spins and crashes.

GREG KRIEGER, Milwaukee, the top point leader at the track was sidelined for the evening with his own car but managed to pick up a ride in the car usually driven by last years champion, Eddie Stillman, another Milwaukeean, Krieger's car broke a pinion gear in Saturday night racing at another track. He managed a fifth in qualifying and a third place finish in the main event.

Sheldon took over the lead in the early stages of the main run, when Bill Shoulders, Waukegan, spun out causing a brief ten car mixup. He was able to pile up some distance as the rest of the field untangled themselves and went on to his victory, placing about a quarter lap ahead of second place finisher, Swede Erickson of Gurnee.

Ten Rozinski, West Allis, second place man in the 1960 point standings, placed fourth in the main event and beat out repeated challenges of Paul Hollister of Northbrook who came in fifth. John Reimer, Milwaukee, who was the night's fastest qualifier with a speed of 51.43 m.p.h., was one of the drivers involved in the 10 car mixup and lost a lap before getting back into action. He placed 13th.

THE 15 - LAP semi feature needed three separate starts before further action could go on. Ed Irving, Waukegan, spun on start and nearly took flagman Duane Sweeney with him. Roy Martinelli, Halfday, hit Irving's car and partially blocked the track.

Ken Becker took the lead and held it until he spun out on the fifth lap and Art Reeves, Libertyville, took over. Reeves, too, spun out on the tenth giving the lead to Fran Seamers, Milwaukee, who managed to keep it until the finish. His speed was 47.59. Another six car pile-up took place at the finish of the event and put some of the top runners out of the money.

Spins, crashes and roll overs highlighted the stock jalopy races, and as is usual for the amateur drivers, the events took their toll of automobiles. Only half of the field managed to finish in the 14 car, ten lap heat, and only nine completed the 15 lap feature out of an original starting field of 26 cars. Ed Smith, Waukegan, flipped his Plymouth coupe three complete times on the first lap and a lap later, Waymon Jackson, Wauconda, flipped over in his Hudson. Eddie Jones, a favorite in the amateur contests, emerged victorious in both events.

THE BACK UP race provided the fans with additional thrills as the stocks took one lap around the track in reverse gear, then turned around and completed another lap in reverse gear, running in the opposite direction. Blaine Leathermann, Waukegan, won the event, but just as he crossed the line, he was hit by another comer and the impact sent him flipping over on his side.

Nest Sunday, September 4, the Speedway will enter its final month of racing for the 1960 season. It will be the 16th Sunday night program and track manager Mike Kaishian will stage another series of stock jalopy racing along with the running of the modifieds.

It will be Jewel Tea Employee night at the track with the butchers of the chain food stores competing in a special added race of their own. Time Trials will start at 7:15 with racing getting under way at 8:30.

Announce Classes For 9th Annual Show September 17

Two short races, three challenge trophy classes and a 4-H Equestrian club class will highlight the full class schedule of the ninth annual horse show in conjunction with the North Cook county 4-H fair to be held at Arlington Park race track September 17. Three new classes will also be offered: one each in western and English pleasure for registered Morgan horses and an open class for working hunters.

The Quarter horse races, which proved popular last year, will again be offered but with different entry requirements. The 220 - yard race will be open to riders 18 and under only and no Quarter horse which has run professionally may compete. The 440 - yard race will be open to any registered Quarter horse and the rider may be of any age.

The members of the Arlington Heights and Elgin 4-H Equestrian clubs will compete in the show's opening class, where they will be required to display their knowledge of horses and riding, in addition to their riding skill.

THE SHOW, which begins at 9 a.m., will include the following classes: Sun - Tirnes saddle seat - riders 17 and under; Town and Country senior hunt seat - riders 14 through 17 only; open western pleasure; open working hunter; amateur 3-gaited and open jumping.

Following a lunch break at 12:30 p.m. the afternoon schedule will be ridden off; registered Morgan western pleasure; open 3-gaited; quarter horse races; knock down and out; registered Morgan English pleasure; hunter hack, touch and out; English equitation (challenge trophy); western equitation (challenge trophy) and a special jumping class (challenge trophy). The challenge trophies must be won three times for permanent possession.

Handsome trophies and ribbons will be awarded in all classes and cash premiums will be awarded in several of the classes including the races and jumping.

Prize lists and entry blanks are available from Mrs. Kenneth Hartman, Seegers rd., Arlington Heights, HE 7-4832. Mrs. Hartman, the show secretary, urges that all owners and riders enter their horses as soon as possible.

Driving Force

The driving force in my life has always been laziness; to practice this, in reasonable comfort, I have even been prepared, from time to time, to work.—George Sanders.

Special Holiday Slate at O'Hare

A special four night holiday schedule will present a record 600 laps of auto racing this Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park rds. First race nightly is at 8:30 p.m.

Mighty midgets will make their first 1960 showing at O'Hare Friday night in a special program that will be highlighted by a 50 - lap Tri-State Championship for a number of the midwest's top cars and drivers. Included are Russ Sweedler of Joliet and Billy Woods of Kenosha, Wis.

The NASCAR 200 - lap Season Championship for late models will be the longest stock car race in O'Hare history Saturday night and will be the toughest of tests for drivers and their equipment. Seeking top laurels will be National Champion Fred Lorenzen of Elmhurst, new track kingpin Roy Czach of Chicago and some 40 others.

Twin 25 - lap main events for both the late model and Cadet NASCAR divisions will headline the stock car races set for Sunday night.

The first Chicagoland appearance of the Midwest Speedways roarin' modified stock cars will climax the big weekend at O'Hare on Monday (Labor Day) evening. As an added attraction there will be the deliberate daredevil destruction of a roll-over contest.

Iron Men

Four members of Northwestern's football team earned "iron man" roles on last year's squad. Mike Stock, fullback, who led the Big Ten in scoring with 33 points, got in a total of 495 minutes out of a possible 540. Eibert Kimbrough, end, played 425 minutes; Dutch Purdin, halfback, 394 minutes, and Irv Cross, end, 349 minutes.

BOB CREVISTON, a 6-4, 210-pound junior, is a tackle candidate on the University of Illinois football squad which begins practice today (Thursday). Creviston, of 717 N. Pine, Arlington Heights, was center and captain of the Cardinals while in high school.

Creviston Listed At Tackle Slot On Illini Roster

Players from Chicago suburbs are expected to figure prominently in Coach Pete Elliott's first university of Illinois football team, which will begin practice today. Cicero, Arlington Heights, Maywood, Hillside, Franklin Park, Wheaton, and Harvey all will be represented in the 76-man Illini squad.

Proviso of Maywood has contributed two players who rate as possible contenders for regular assignments, end Ed O'Bradovich and center Tony Parrilli. O'Bradovich, a rugged 6-3, 222 - pound junior, was an all - state prep fullback for Coach Andy Puplis.

He was tried at halfback at the beginning of his sophomore year at Illinois, then was switched to end because of the manpower probelm there. O'Bradovich had some shaky moments at the new position during the 1959 season, but showed improvement in practice last spring.

PARRILLI, 5-11, 214-pound junior, started three games last season. He is especially effective on defense as a linebacker. Tony also was an all-stater at Proviso.

A highly rated sophomore is quarterback Mike Taliaferro of Wheaton. He may rate no higher than third team when practice starts, since the Illini have two experienced signal callers in John Easterbrook and Mel Meyers, but he is considered a fine prospect.

Taliaferro attended Wheaton high school only his senior year and made most of his athletic reputation in Dallas, Tex., where he led his Jesuit high team to the state championship in 1958. Taliaferro (he pronounces the name as if it were spelled "Toliver") runs and passes well and can be used as a punter. He stands 6-1, weighs 190.

ARLINGTON Heights' Bob Creviston is being counted on for reserve duty at tackle, the strongest position on Illinois' team. Creviston injured his knee badly in pre-season drills last year and was not able to play. He took part in spring practice this year, however, and apparently has completely recovered from his injury. Creviston, 6-4, 210 pound junior, was captain of his high school team.

Also expected to provide tackle depth is Cicero (Morton) sophomore Don Presern. At 6-0 and 230 pounds, Presern has plenty of size, but he will be behind All-American candidate Joe Rutgens at right tackle.

Another lineman who hopes to overcome an injury is Franklin Park guard Jerry Rosengren. Rosengren was considered a fine prospect as a freshman two years ago, but he suffered a concussion and had to withdraw from school. His year's absence from football will make early practice more difficult for him. Jerry, 6-0 and 205, was an all-stater at Leyden high school where he played for George Bujan.

HARVEY (Thornton) junior Paul Golaszewski is back for another try at the quarterback job but, like Taliaferro, he faces stiff competition from Easterbrook and Meyers. He stands 6-0, weighs 180.

Illinois opens an outstanding five - game home schedule Sept. 24 against Indiana. Other Memorial Stadium dates include: West Virginia Oct. 1; Ohio State (Homecoming) Oct. 8; Penn State (Dad's Day) Oct. 22; and Wisconsin ("I" Men's Day) Nov. 12.

Ticket Sale On for AHS Home Tilts

Season tickets for Arlington high school's 1960 home football schedule went on sale in room 11, Dr. Oliver's office, at 8 a.m. today (Thursday).

Tickets will be $5 each for home slate which includes East Leyden (Sept. 16), Glenbard (Oct. 7), York (Oct. 21), and Maine (Nov. 5).

Fans are urged to obtain their reserved seats early as the opening home encounter is one week earlier than in 1959.

The reserve section has been moved to north of the aisle heading up to the press box on the west side of the field so that the students won't be walking in front of the adults throughout the game. Last year the students were north of the aisle.

Tickets are on a first-come, first-served basis and may be obtained in room 111 at Arlington high Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Exhibiting in Shows Can Be Fun If.....!

by ELIZABETH ALANNE

Sooner or later, most riders, particularly those in the younger age group, get the urge to try their hand at exhibiting in shows. Numerous disappointments can be averted if the riders take the precautions of entering hte right kind of classes and learning some basic protocol that even experienced riders never run into outside the show ring.

The most important consideration is to select a class in which BOTH horse and rider can execute all the requirements adequately. For example, some hunting seat equitation classes will require that a rider take his horse over a couple of low hurdles. Even if the rider is experienced, unless the horse has jumping know-how, he can foul up any chances of winning, even though he is a perfect horse for ordinary riding.

In many classes, a judge will require the best horses to perform some type of maneuver in order to break a tie or eliminate. These maneuvers may not be required ordinarily but it is the rider's responsibility to check the possibility of extra demands and decide if his horse can properly do them.

Even the best of horses have their off - days so even if the horse can do everything required he might not respond, but if asked to do something for which he is not trained he may embarrass both his rider and himself.

THE ONE AND two - day shows conducted at various stables or in conjunction with 4-H or county fairs are by far the best places to begin showing. The competition will be more evenly distributed, there is a more relaxed atmosphere and there is an absence of the "every man for himself" attitude which may prevail on the "big circuit" where cash prizes and coveted championships are at stake.

Once you have selected your classes, and in the first show, it is better to restrict the number to one or two so you can get the "feel of showing," you are ready for the big event.

On the day of the show have your horse out on the grounds as soon as possible. It gives the rider a chance to get his number, take a look at thering, ascertain his class times and see what other horses are there. For the horse it provides an opportunity to get used to the commotion that always prevails in show areas.

The rider should be properly attired and have his horse groomed, his equipment clean and properly fitted and be ready to ride at least a class ahead of his own appearance in the ring. This is the time to give the horse a limbering up period - he can't do his best if he has to go into the ring "cold." This is particularly true of jumping and stock horse events. Ordinarily there will be some place where you can work the horse.

ONCE YOUR class is called, be in the ring as soon as possible and take to the rail at whatever gait the announcer has called for. There may be a flash of stage fright but it has been my experience, corroborated by many others, that a rider usually forgets all about the spectators once he begins working his horse.

There are numerous tricks that a novice will run into so beware of being crowded by any other horses. Stay clear of other horses, and ON the rail, and your chances of being seen are best. Cutting corners is bad showmanship and some judges will mark you down, particularly in equitation classes.

Execute the gaits as the announcer gives them and if your mount should take off on the wrong lead, stop your horse and correct it immediately. Try to ride in a relaxed manner and keep a pleasant expression on your face. The judge won't be looking at you every minute, so you should be paying attention to your riding and enjoying it when he does.

Don't go into the ring expecting to be tied (win the blue ribbon) the first time out. If you happen to win it's probably a stroke of luck because you are bound to make errors until you have been in several classes.

IF YOU TAKE A ribbon accept it graciously and let it go at that. The same holds if you lose. Some people who show continuously gripe if they "only get second." Generally speaking, if you "really get robbed" in a class, other people will let you know they agree. You won't have to make a big thing out of it yourself.

Unfortunately, as in most competitive endeavors, once in a great while you may run into a horse, rider or even stable that can't be beaten. or judge may award ribbons on a name rather than performance basis. This is rare but it happens just often enough to give a bad color to showing. There isn't much you can do in such a case but you'll probably have lots of company in your misery.

There is not much chance of running into this on local small show level and remember, most horses and riders that win consistently do so because they ARE best.

IN ANY EVENT, unless you can afford a string of expensive, professionally trained show horses you aren't going to win in huge shows like the International. The regular riding or trail horse doesn't belong in that league. Most showing is for fun, the pleasure of meeting other riders and the opportunity to show off your horse to his best advantage.

Attend a few shows first and get to know some of the people from your area that do occasional showing. In that way you'll learn what to expect in the way of competition and events. Showing can be a lot of fun and pave the way to lasting friendships if you have the good sense not to take it too seriously.

Walls Cops VFW Title; Jones 2nd

The Walls team won first place by 7½ points in the Arlington VFW golf league with Jonas in second place thanks to six markers on the final night of play.

George Hanke, the loop's most consistent golfer, held the top spot in the first flight all season, starting with a 38 average and finishing with a 36 mark.

Tom Fegan of the Walls team boasted the most improved record as he started with a 60 and finished with a 46, dropping his handicap from 18 to eight. Fegan also took honors for the most matches won, 14½ of 17.

BUD KRUESCH took low gross honors on the final night with 37, just two over par on the front nine at Old Orchard. McEvilly took low net with his score of 50-18-32.

Congratulations to the Walls team for the 1960 season.

The league's banquet will be held at the VFW club September 24.

Final standings:

Tuesday Ladies Golf Loop Ends Season's Play

A two-ball event followed by luncheon at the Arlington country club ended the golf season for the Tuesday morning Arlington ladies league.

Winners in the three flights were Helen Broberg, Flight A; Laverne Rossett, Flight B; and Ginny Seckler, Flight C.

Special prizes were presented to Helen Broberg for winning the most points in the entire league and to Laverne Rossett for the most improved player.

The business meeting was conducted by outgoing president Jean Feeney of Park Ridge. New officers elected at the luncheon for the coming year were Virginia Burfeind, president; Magdalene Campbell, secretary-treasurer. Continuing in office for another year are Claire Blackwell and Nikki Chambers as handicappers and Helen Broberg as Rules Chairman.

Any women interested in joining the league may call Claire Blackwell at CLearbrook 3-0737.

Illinois Range Clinches Top Golf Position

Illinois Range in League II, has cinched first place in the St. Raymond's golf league. Strass's Ladies Wear closed the gap very effectively and now they are only two points out of second place.

If Safford Stamps drew a blank, any of the third through fifth place teams could take second place. Next Thursday, the last league night, will tell the tale. Bluett Construction just won't let themselves stay on the bottom as they took nine big points to move from 8th to 7th place.

League I is really going into an exciting finish. Spooner Engineering picked up 9½ points to once again be tied for first place.Not only that, but Ackerman Insurance plowed through with 11 points which puts them in a tie for third place.

The two hottest men, on a very hot evening, were Bernie Minton and Jack Kilroy. They both made the round in 39.

LEAGUE 1

Moran Furs	113½
Spooner Engng.	113½
Kirchoff Ins.	94
Ackerman Ins.	94
Busse Automotive	92

Select Right Club, Improve Your Game!

by CHUCK PEDERSEN
Pro, Rolling Green

That bag full of clubs you own can be mighty helpful — if you're using the right ones!

Or they can cause you a lot of trouble if you don't take the time to think a shot through.

Each club in your bag has a definite job to do on a certain area of a golf course. When you select the right club, you take the first important step toward making a successful shot.

When a golf pro selects his club or a top flight amateur makes his choice, you will notice they know precisely what each club will do for them.

When you select your club, you must take into consideration the wind, distance, obstacles, and the condition of the course. Here is a table that can be used as a general guide in selecting the right club.

Driver	240-275 yards
Brassie	220-265
3 wood	200-245
4 wood	195-220
2 iron	175-205
3 iron	165-200
5 iron	145-175
6 iron	135-165
7 iron	125-155
8 iron	115-145
9 iron	105-135

Pitching wedge—-edge of green to 100

Sand wedge—edge of green to 40

THIS IS A rough guide and in many cases, you may find that a two iron just isn't enough club for you to hit for 190 yards. You may not command that kind of power.

It is then a simple matter for you to go to your wood clubs. Each golfer must choose his club according to the distance he gets when hitting naturally.

When a pro picks a club, he doesn't have to force himself to make distance with it nor does he baby himself on a shot in order to remedy over-clubbing. The weather and the wind have a lot to do with the choice of clubs.

OTHER THINGS, such as the texture of the grass and the amount of moisture both in the air and on the ground count heavily. Example: Take clover for instance. You will note that it takes two clubs less than usual. That's because a ball skids or slides from a clover lie.

The oily texture of small leaves greases the club face when it contacts the ball, making it impossible to impart backswing.

Even among the pros, a variety of clubs will be used on the same shot. A tremendous hitter like Sam Snead will use an iron while an average golfer will be hitting his woods.

IT DOESN'T matter what club you use to get to the greens as long as you get there in fewer strokes. The best way to find out your distance with each club is to go to a driving range and see how far you hit the ball with each club.

From here you will have an idea on how to play each shot with the various clubs.

Golden's Boosts Twilight Golf Lead; Morton 2nd

Golden's Food Shop had to settle for a 5-5 tie in its match with Kersting's Garden Center last week in the Tuesday division of the Mt. Prospect Twilight league, but its lead over second-place Morton's Pontiac was increased by two more points as Morton's dropped their important match with Wille Lbr. & Fuel, 7-3.

Fifth place Keefer's Pharmacy also was held to a 5-5 tie in its match with Mt. Prospect Bowling Lanes with the net result that the only change in the standings of the first five teams was a switch in positions by Kersting's and Wille Lbr.

Less than ten points still separate the top five teams but with position night coming up for the last night of play, only the top four teams have a mathematical chance of finishing first.

GOLDEN'S, incently, had a rather rough night of it at the hands of the Gardeners and were probably glad to settle for a tie. They lost three of the four matches but through a lucky circumstance won both low individual net and low team net and scrambled through with a tie.

In other matches, Annen and Busse snapped back from its shutout of the previous week with a 8 1/6 to 1 5/6 victory Vern's Pure Oil, and Licht's Paint Store came up with a handsome 9-1 win over Mt. Prospect Elec. Constr. Co. Last place "never-say-die" Carl's Food Shop lost again, this time to Kirchoff Insurance, 6-4; however, they are now but two points behind fading Electric Const., and a victory on position night might finally elevate them from the cellar which they have occupied since the first night of play.

Low gross scores for the night were posted by Len Johnson 37, Clarke Robinson 38, and Walt Double 39. Birdies were reported by Roy Hawkinson 1, Len Johnson 1 and 7, R. Becker 3, A. Hammerstrom 5, Russ Holmes 7, and C. Robinson 12.

League Standings August 23

Golden's Food Shop	94 1/2

Midget Football Assn. Launches 1960-61 Season

The Mount Prospect Midget Football Association has officially opened its 1960-1961 activities with initial practice sessions slated for most teams during the coming week.

Pat Breen, president of the association, has stated that there are still a few openings for boys 8 to 13 years of age who are interested in joining a fully uniformed team.

Anyone interested should call Pat Breen at CLearbrook 3-5239, and he will arrange for a team assignment.

Restaurant Beaten In Finale

Bender Reiger Motors of Mt. Prospect clobbered Mell and Paul's Restaurant 13-5 Sunday to capture the Rolling Meadows Softball title.

The restaurant outfit battled the new champs to a stand still for the first five frames before Bender Reiger turned on the steam.

Bender Reiger will battle an All-Star squad composed of four members of each of the remaining teams Sunday.

Final Standings:

PITZEN MOVERS of Old Orchard scratch league and Moran Furs of St. Raymond's No. 2 league tied for third place in the Paddock golf tournament Sunday at White Pines. Sponsor Jack Moran had disappeared before the camera arrived, but teammates include (l. to r.) Don Bohannon, Fred Buffington, and Ed Nawoj. Standing with sponsor Joe Pitzen are Marv Prellberg, Vern Rascher, and John St. Germaine. Martin Gilmore didn't wait for pictures.

Melius, Schwister Head Field for Labor Day Test

O'Hare Stadium, one of the leading quarter-mile asphalt tracks in the Midwest, will play host to a field of some 50 stars and cars in a special Labor Day evening modified stock car program presented for the first time at the Chicago-land track and run under the direction of Midwest Speedways, Inc., and its President-Director John Kaishian.

A long list of champion modified stock car pilots are scheduled to compete in the event, and their appearance will give area fans a chance to see the record breaking performances of the modifieds that they have heard and read so much about.

Heading the field will be Miles Melius of Slinger, Wis., and Bill Schwister of Milwaukee who, on Saturday, August 20, staged a special speed run demonstration for O'Hare's late model stock car fans by giving them a sneak preview of the coming action.

ANOTHER TOP favorite who will participate is Billy Johnson of Oconomowoc, Wis. Johnson won the 100 lap championship run at the Fair Park and his win tied him with Etchie Biertzer of Barton for the 1960 crown. Both he and Biertzer will reign as co-champions until next year.

Biertzer is another of Melius's red-hot competitors with his Chrysler powered modified Henry J. Carrying the number three on his car for the past several years. At the present time he trails Melius in point standings at Cedarburg by only 165 points and at Hales Corners by only 210. One night's action at either track could change the point lead.

Greg Krieger of Milwaukee is still another red-hot contender. Krieger, like Schwister, is only in his third year of racing and carries the number 13 on his 1959 fuel injected Corvette powered modified Henry J, but this year is running a torrid point battle with Melius for the over all championship which will determine the car number one for next season.

THE DRIVERS will be competing for a guaranteed purse of $1,500. The program will consist of four heats, a semi and main event. Some added attractions are also planned. Time trials will begin at 7:15 and close at 8:15. First race scheduled to go at 8:30.

O'Hare Stadium is located at Irving Park and Mannheim roads in Schiller Park, Ill.

Dundy Names For Illinois; Bork Northern

Mike Dundy, an Arlington high grad in 1960 and one of the most sought - after athletes in the state, announced Tuesday morning that he is planning to enter the University of Illinois in the fall.

An All - Stater in football and track and second place finisher in the state 440 yard dash last spring, Dundy had previously announced for Stanford university.

Another Arlington high standout last year who was debating on his college selection also made a definite announcement Tuesday. George Bork, athlete of the year for 1959-1960, will attend Northern Illinois in DeKalb.

Bork, an all-West Suburban performer in football and basketball, had been debating between Northern and Michigan State.

Koops Mustard Holds Top Spot In Twilight Golf

The Arlington Heights twilight golf league closed out its regular match play for the 1960 season last Friday at the Roselle course.

The competition was close down to and including the final night of play with a span of only 15½ points between the top six teams.

Koops Mustard showed itself to be a true champion by picking up 8½ points and clinching the top position.

SECOND AND third place honors went to the boys from New Emerald CLeaners and Dyers and Stan's Standard Service respectively.

Although this league was playing at a new location this season with quite a few new men, it was a successful and enjoyable campaign. The officers wish to thank all the members for their cooperation.

Although the match competition is over for the season, the group is planning a get-together for Friday, Sept. 2, for a Best-Ball twilight tourney. On Sunday, Sept. 11, the members are going to play in the league's annual 18-hole tourney with a 10 a.m. starting time at Roselle.

THE ANNUAL banquet will be held at the Arlington Heights VFW Hall on Oct. 15.

Individual point leaders were as follows: No. 1 men — Cecil Jamison (24½), Don Magnuson (24), Bill Schoepke (21½), Ernie Simmons (19), Chuck Staadt (19).

No. 2 men — Ken Seeger (24), Bob Witthans (22), Bill Magnuson (21), Jack Makinson (21), H. Styczykowski (19). No. 3 men — Ted Fonfara (20½), Don Lucas (19), Chris Tessem (19), Gail Webber (19), Paul Malchow (18). No. 4 men — Roy Anderson (18½), Ron Dattilo (17), Bill Gappert (17), Bill Dobbelaere (16), Rudy Lippke (16).

NO. 5 MEN — Dale Wilson (17½), Harry Lenell (17), Joe Bodor (14½), Jim Markiewicz (14½), and Curly Poss (14). Alternates — George Maretick (35), Don Kiehl (28), George Fischer (22½).

Final standings:

Illini Open Grid Drills Today; 24 Lettermen Return

Coach Pete Elliott's first University of Illinois football squad — 75 strong — begins practice today (Thursday) in the unenviable position of pre-season Big Ten title favorite. Twenty - four lettermen, Twenty - two returning squad members, and thirty newcomers will attempt to mold a unit capable of attaining the lofty ranking predicted for the 1960 Illini.

The squad actually reported Wednesday, Aug. 31. A picture - taking session was held for news photographers at 1:30 p.m. that day.

Workouts begin in earnest at 7 a.m. and will continue on a two-a-day basis for several weeks, possibly until beginning of classes Monday, Sept. 19.

ELLIOTT will depart from the workout schedule of his predecessor, Ray Eliot. The new Illinois mentor plans an early morning workout each day to beat the heat. The team will return to the field at 4 p.m. for the afternoon session.

Season Nears Close

Labor Day Feature To Conclude Racing

Mr. and Mrs. Grover D. King's Pappa's All, winner of the $218.000 Arlington Futurity but sidetracked in the recent Prairie State Stakes, seeks another big pot of gold in Saturday's $200,000 plus Washington Park Futurity, climax of the final full week of top-level racing at Arlington Park.

Final day, however, won't come until Monday, Labor Day, when the $100,000 Washington Park Handicap, racing's Miracle Mile, writes finish to the 1960 coordinated 97-day spring-summer meeting.

Pappa's All meets Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, his conqueror in the recent Prairie State, and Calumet Farm's potentially fine Beau Prince. Peter Fuller's Ross Sea, a smashing second to Crozier in the Prairie State, was not originally nominated for the Futurity but could be made a supplemental nominee by Wednesday, Aug. 24.

Pappa's All previously had won the Hollywood Park Juvenile Championship, also a "hundred grander," and a couple of minor stakes at Bay Meadows before coming to Chicago and bank all the money in the 6 furlongs Arlington Futurity with a front-stepping performance.

SATURDAY'S Washington Park counterpart is at 6½ furlongs and is the race that last year skyrocketed Venetian Way to national stardom when the Sunny Blue Farm colt ran down Bally Ache for a half-length victory.

Pappa's All duelled Crozier for most of the Prairie State before tiring in the late stages. The latter, second in the Arlington Futurity, is an improving sort and may be the one to beat in the Washington Futurity run.

Beau Prince disappointed in the Prairie State, but Jimmy Jones wasn't dismayed and expects another top effort by the Bull Lea colt, who was an unlucky third in the Arlington Futurity after having dead aim on all the money only to bobble inside the sixteenth pole when he attempted to hurdle some hoofprints.

J. Graham Brown's He's a Pistol, Mrs. Henry J. Damm's Arab Road, Ben Harmon's Royal-ben, Alamode Farm's Vapor Whirl and John L. Greer's Mt. Hope appear probable Futurity starters.

WIGGLE, remembered for her sparkling victory in last year's Arlington Matron here then only to fail against Round Table in the Arlington Handicap, came back to Chicagotown in brilliant style when she ran and hid from a good field, setting a new track record for 7 furlongs.

She'll challenge the boys in the Washington Park Handicap if all goes well.

MONDAY'S Washington Park handicap is a $100,000 added test at 6½ furlongs for two-year-olds.

This is the 22nd running of the race inaugurated in 1937 and won by Tiger. Other winners have included Swoon's Son, 1955; Hasty Road, 1953; To Market, 1950; Bewitch, 1947; Occupy, 1943; Occupation, 1942; and Alsab, 1941.

Eight two-year-olds have won both the Arlington and Washington Park Futurity, and it was run at 6½ furlongs for the first time last year. Venetian Way with M. N. Gonzales up copped the '59 dash with Bally Ache and Lurullah rounding out the top three.

Venetian Way's time of 1:15 4/5 was also the best time ever recorded in the event. The biggest winning purse was the $112,225 garnered by Restless Wind in 1958 as a supplementary nominee.

St. Louis Duos Among Favorites

A half dozen St. Louis duos rate among the favorites as Tournament Director Dick Nethaway recently announced the 336-man field for the 1960 BPAA National Men's Doubles Match Game Championship.

The 336 men form a record field of 168 teams which will be seeking $19,480 in prize money, including $2,000 and the coveted BPAA trophies for first place, when each rolls 24 lines in the qualifying round at Strike-N-Spare Bowling lanes in Northbrook, Ill., Sept. 10 and 11.

Illinois heads the field in total number of men entered, 90. Michigan and Wisconsin are a distant second with 31. However, Missouri with 30 men, including 11 complete teams of Missourians, rates as probably the strongest state contingent.

ALL THREE St. Louis doubles teams which annexed first, second, and third place, last year at Peoria, Ill., are together and once again stand an excellent chance of entering the finals, composed of the top eight teams in the qualifying round. The finals are scheduled for Sept. 12 and 13.

Heading this list are Don Carter and Tom Hennessey, who have won the title the last two years, both years the tournament having been on a match game basis. Ray Bluth and Dick Weber, who finished second last year and are 1956 champions as well and Pat Patterson and Bill Lillard, third last year, round out the top St. Louis trio.

However, three other St. Louis teams also bear watching. Two All-Star champions, Harry Smith, the present titleholder, and Billy Welu, 1959 king, are teamed together as are ex-Milwaukeean Al Savas and Glenn Allison, and Dick Hoover and Steve Nagy.

SEVERAL Chicagoans also could easily challenge the St. Louis group for top honors. Heading the list are Andy Rogoznica, Chicago's "King" bowler, and Earl Johnson, who is among the individual pace setters in Men's Doubles competition.

Carmen Salvino, 1953 Doubles champion, and Bill Bunetta, 1959 "King" and Doubles fnalist last year, are teamed together for the first time. Another top-ranker is Negro star J. Wilbert Sims who is teaming with Wilford Cave.

Besides St. Louis and Chicago several other top-rated duos bear watching. Paul Kulbaga, who swept the ABC singles crown, finished second in the all-events and third in the doubles, is paired with another top Cleveland kegler, George Schuld.

Included in the field from Illinois are several bowlers who are either from area towns or who are associated with the high-flying Paddock Classic traveling league: Earl Fenimore, Arlington Heights; George Stone, Deerfield; Buck Perkins, Woodstock; Herb Freitag, Arlington Heights; Don Ellis, Mt. Prospect; Ed Duff, Niles; Ernie Koche, Roselle; Bob Kennedy, Waukegan; and Don Oberg, Itasca.

It's Still Kruse's In Twilight Play

With one more night of play in the Monday division Mt. Prospect Twilight golf league, Kruse's Schlitz team retains it's lead in first place by 6½ points over the Moler's Barber Shop team.

The George O'Day Realtors are in third place and Busse Motor Sales has supplanted Van Driel's in fourth place.

The low gross was shot by Bob Sbarbaro who had a 36. Sbarbaro, former member of the Arlington high school golf team is certainly one of our better golfers. A couple of weeks ago, on a Tuesday evening, he fired a 32. Low net honors were tied between Earl Lewis with a 44-12-32 and Joe Cole with 41-9-32.

Birdies were scored by Al Barco on 1, John Krueger on 7, Bob Sbarbaro on 10, John Moran on 3, Vic Bowen on 1, Bob Milligan on 7, H. Holman on 10 and George Kratch on 10 and 18.

Team standings follow:

Kruse's Schlitz	93½
Moler's Barber Shop	87
Geo. O'Day Realtors	85½
Busse Motor Sales	83½
Van Driel's Drugs	82½

Impressive Opening Night

Gunnell's Registers Three Victories in Classic Action

Gunnell's Bowling Lanes opened fire in determined fashion Saturday night in the Paddock Classic Traveling League at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine, copping all three games from Moyle Construction of Barrington. The Mt. Prospect keglers opened with 980, followed with 1011 and finished with 943 for a very creditable opening night performance.

Ear, Fenimore of Arlington Heights, one of the loop's two 200-average men, hit 650 for the winners. Ward Siewert of Palatine notched 232 and 617, with Ernie Koche of Roselle garnering 227 and 616. Casper Dewitz was high for Moyle Construction with 232 and 607.

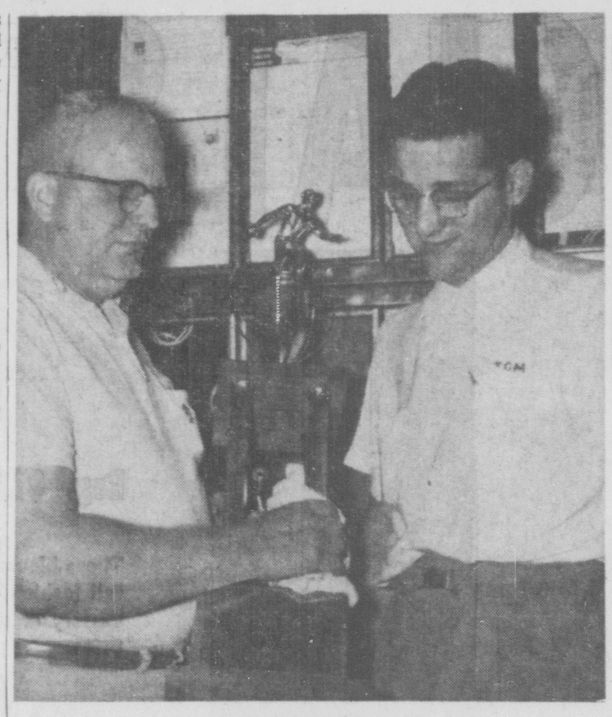
BEVERLY LANES tripped Tommy Thomas' Casablanca of Palatine with 958 and 1002 victories, but faltered the third time as the host squad came through with 952. High for the winners was Bill Radunz of Arlington Heights with 244 and 623. Best for the losers was Ron Fogarett of Palatine with 230 and 651.

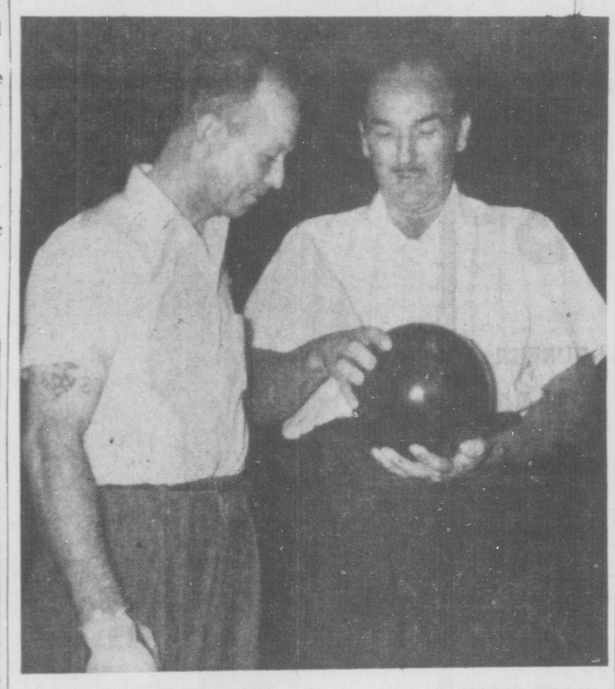
Bill Cook Buick, representing Bowlway of Elgin, won the opener from Bill Bond's Store for Men with 982, but lost the second attempt as the Bond squad came through with 953. Buicks copped the final encounter with 929. Tops for Bill Cook Buick were Tom Kouros of Barrington Woods with 617 and John Seidel of Palatine with 601. Leading Bill Bond was Bob Kennedy of Waukegan with 225 and 639.

COOK COUNTY Mobile Homes won two games from Jeffery Lanes as the squad from River-Rand hit 989 and 950. Jeffery hit 980 the middle game for its lone victory. Ted Zimmerman of Des Plaines notched 604 and Hec Healey of Northbrook 602.

This coming Saturday, Sept. 3, all eight teams will compete at Beverly Lanes in Arlington Heights with competition slated to start at 6:30. Schedule calls for Jeffery vs. Bill Cook Buick on 1 and 2; Cook County Mobile Homes vs. Bill Bond's Store for Men on 3 and 4; Beverly Lanes vs. Moyle Construction on 5 and 6; and Tommy Thomas' Casablanca vs. Gunnell's Lanes on 7 and 8.



HUBIE MEIER, co-proprietor of Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine with Harvey Helms, polishes the trophy as he discusses the new season of the Paddock Classic Traveling League with Tom Kouros, retiring president of the loop. The league opened fire on its fourth season Saturday night with Gunnell's Lanes taking a one game lead. Trophy is one taken by Hi-Way in the first season of play.



EARL FENIMORE of Arlington Heights shows Buck Perkins of Woodstock how he grips the ball as the Paddock Classic Traveling League opened play Saturday night at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine. Fenimore and Perkins are both 200-average men who head the array of 50 bowlers in the league, with 30 of them carrying averages of 190 or better.

To Tackle Rough Slate

Facing perhaps its toughest football schedule in history, Southern Illinois university will enter the 1960 season with a series edge over only one of its opponents.

Coach Carmen Piccone's Salukis are hoping to throw tradition and past performances out the window, however, in their attempt to provide SIU with a top - notch eleven.

The Salukis, who open their 10-game card at home Sept. 17 against Missouri Mines, face two newcomers, Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio University, this season. In addition, Southern will meet Bowling Green, unbefeated national small-college champion of 1959, and six members of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Three Teams Close In on Golf Leader

Friday night's meeting at Arlington country club saw three teams move up to within 3½ points of league leading Gunnell's Lanes.

Union Hotel, the first half winner, advanced to within one point of the lead and a chance to wrap up the league championship by a 5½ point win. September 2 will tell the story as Gunnell's and Union play each other in position night.

Scores were good, overall, with Low Gross and Net Night adding an incentive. Bud Haut's one over par 36 in his tight halves match with Al Steingraber whose 39 was not far behind gave Haut low gross honors for Flight 1. Fred Jauman's 39-8-31 gave him low net honors in that flight.

STIG DALSTROM'S eagle 2 on the eight was the shot of the season as he holed out a 70 yard nine iron shot.

Birds were recorded by Bob Martin and Harry Bengal on eight, Bill Grandstaff on one, and Haut on five and eight.

Ken Auer, and Jim Murray.

Darien Chooses Labs Not Fields

Designed to provide "an education fit for the space age," the three-million dollar new high school in Darien, Conn. boasts extra science laboratories in preference to a new football field and tennis courts.

Parents, who fought vigorously for the construction of this school, decided the sports fields could come later. Varsity team uses the old school site.

The modern five - wing school building has seven laboratories; four for physics and chemistry, three for biology.

Cash Value

It has been estimated that the average college graduate earns $250,000 more than the high school graduate during his lifetime.

Parents Gifted -10 pt. bold.....

Percentage of genius or near-genius children in Brevard, Fla., schools is twice that of national average. Partial reason: their gifted parents are among scientists at Air Force Missile Test Center.

Who Rides Free

Under a new Yew York State law, free bus transportation to and from school is furnished school children in kindergarten through eighth grade, if they live two miles or more from the school they attend.

Favor Curfew Laws

A study conducted by the Minneapolis Tribune indicated recently that four out of five high school students favor curfew laws.

Diplomas Plus

Some high schools not only give diplomas on graduation, but now print on the back side a list of courses taken and grades achieved.

Colleges Get More

Private gifts and grants to colleges and universities during 1957-1958 increased to $324,970,000 as against $245,539,000, in 1955-56.

Eight out of ten high school students in Japan are studying English, according to a government report.

Retail Merchants Advise Republicans

Passage of the welfare and school bond issues in Novem ber; Legislative plugging u of sales tax loopholes to f nance the bond issues and in mediate action to insure ea ly voter approval of amend ing the revenue section of th State constitution were urged recently as major comit-ments of the Republican par ty of Illinois.

The recommendations were sent, in letter form, to G. O P. Platform Committee Chair-man, Representative William Pollack, by Joseph T. Meek president of the Illinois Reta Merchants association.

Prefacing the recommenda-tions were Meek's comment that "acceptance and arduous processing would be very helpful to the consumer-tax-payers of the state, essential-ly our first consideration if we are to profitably engage in the retail business."

FIVE PROPOSALS were presented to Pollack as follows:

1. Immediate strong and coordinated party effort to secure overwhelming approval of both the welfare and school bond issues in November! This is an imperative "must."

2. Early legislative approv-al, at the next session, of the bills to plug up the very costly loopholes in the sales-use tax statute covering sales on special order, under construction contract and tangible personal property used in repairs, services, etc

3. Early legislative approv al of bills to tax sales of tangi-ble personal property made by (as differentiated by to) schools, churches, union, as-sociations, etc.

4. Legislative approval of bills to add a minimum of one hundred auditors to be added to the department of revenue staff to insure far greater enforcement and re-sultant return, than the RO Tax now provides.

5. Early legislative approv-al of amendments to our arch aic revenue section to pro-vide voter action on the rev-enue amendment at the very first possible moment.

THE RETAILERS also asked for an "anti-racket picket-ing law which will adequately protect both employee and employer as a means of guarding both employee and employer now denied an area of aid and/or redres under Federal law."

The merchant associatio also asked G. O. P. favor of "sound corrective legislation dealing with the credit trans-actions of the State, believing there is a great field open for legislation to protect the pur-chaser from the unprincipled seller and to make it more attractive for sound credit merchants to expand this vi-tally needed, volume produc-ing, job building arm of our National economy." Bannockburn Estates Offers Luxury Living

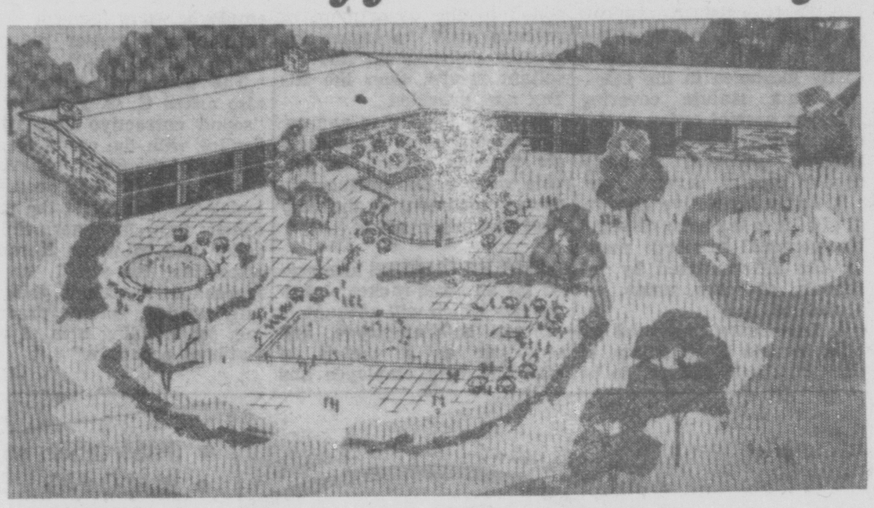
A luxury community of estates centered upon a country club with a 36-hole golf course and four swimming pools will bring a new concept of exurban living to the midwest by next summer, it was announced recently by William E. Casselman, president of Bannockburn Country Club Inc.



ARCHITECT'S sketch of clubhouse of Bannockburn country club, Inc., to be built in Riverwoods area of Lake County, Ill., by Club Development Associates, Chicago. This is rear view of two-story clubhouse which will be built into side of a hill and covers 35,000 square feet. Facilities will include a 36-hole golf course, four swimming pools, two of them Olympic size, and one which can be enclosed for winter use; a supervised children's playroom, teen clubroom, meeting rooms, two lounges, a large dining patio for 300 persons, informal and formal dining rooms, a ballroom, a barber shop, tennis courts, ice skating rink with artificial ice and a full winter sports program. The country club will be open for play around July 1, 1961. (BB

Casselman, a member of Club Development Associates (CDA), a Chicago area organization specializing in country club construction and operation, revealed that work will start immediately on the Bannockburn estates in southern Lake County near Riverwoods.

Situated on more than 400 acres of rolling meadows and timbered land of walnut, birch and hickory between Deerfield rd. and Duffy lane just west of the Tri-State Tollway, the $5,000,000 development will reverse the post-war trend of breaking up country club land into homesites.

CASSELMAN said the idea of combining a country club with estate sites for maximum land utilization could help solve the nation's acute shortage of adequate golfing facilities. Casselman is general manager of the Chicago office of Ralston Purina company of St. Louis and a member of the Chicago Board of Trade. A resident of Bannockburn, he is an avid golfer and was formerly president of Thorngate country club.

Bannockburn Country Club, Inc., and Bannockburn Country Club Estates will be operated as separate enterprises. Country club membership will be drawn from the North Shore and Lake County area and will be on a non-equity basis with yearly dues, including federal tax, amounting to $660. There will be no extra assessments for capital improvements and no minimum requirements as to the amount that members must spend for food, beverage or merchandise.

One hundred and sixty estate sites of acre and larger size will be laid out along pleasing winding roads within an encircling 36-hole golf course of latest professional design. Buffered from the course by trees, shrubs and tended strips of park, the lots will range in price upward from $17,500.

HOME BUILDERS will be required to meet rigid standards of construction and architecture with minimum cost approximately $60,000. Purchasers of estate sites will contract individually for their home construction after their plans have been approved by an architectural board.

The lots in Bannockburn Estates will be 220 to 340 feet deep and will be supplied with central sewage and water facilities to be built as part of the project. Streets will be black topped, with wide, seeded shoulders.

The building of the country club, golf course, swimming pools and other club facilities will be handled by Club Development Associates under the direction of Vernon Sherman, a Chicago area builder for the past 13 years. He has constructed some 200 homes in Chicago, Evanston, and Wilmette, as well as the First National Bank of Maywood, and factories for the Northwestern and Spring Beverage companies.

THE TWO STORY club house was designed under the supervision of CDA associate Robert W. Layer, Jr., structural engineer of Elgin, and design associate Robert Jensen, Chicago.

The golf course was designed by land planner Richard Gremley of B. G. Gremley & Co., Chicago, and Edward Lawrence Packard of La Grange. The course will provide true championship play on every hole and is unique in the fact that its layout permits all the estate sites to adjoin the course.

Unlike many counry clubs, the Bannockburn club will offer a year-round program of athletic and social activities with a full time staff in attendance. Summer activities will include golf, swimming, tennis and other sports, with ice skating and curling featured on artificially maintained ice rinks during the winter months.

SELECTED TO serve as athletic director of the new club is Richard Knop, one of the outstanding professional golfers of the Chicago area and a Class A member of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' Association of America. He has served as golf professional at Thorngate country club, Medinah country club, and the Escanaba, Mich., country club.

The club construction schedule calls for completion of the clubhouse, the pools and a major portion of the 36-hole course by July, 1961. Four swimming pools, two of which are of Olympic size, were designed by pool architect Roger Orkin, a CDA associate of Highland Park. One of the pools will be enclosed for winter swimming. Landscaping will be under the direction of CDA associate Lee Circle of Wilmette. (BB

Kaczmarek Elected To Board

EUGENE KACZMAREK

Eugene Kaczmarek, 600 S. Can-dota, Mt. Prospect, was recently elected to the board of directors of the Greater Lawndale Conservation Commission, an urban renewal agency in Chicago. As a member of the board of directors, he serves as chairman of the public relations committee and chairman of the fund raising committee.

Kaczmarek is Merchandise Manager of Sears, Roebuck and company. This is his first term with the Greater Lawndale Conservation Commission, but he has been active in community affairs, and is vitally interested in the continued improvement of the Lawndale district.

In addition to his duties with Sears and the commission, Kaczmarek is vice-president and a director of the Lawndale Redevelopment corporation, an organization to construct new housing on vacant land in the Lawndale area. He also is currently serving as chairman of the judging committee of the "Operation Pride" contest, a home improvement contest in Lawndale.

Kaczmarek lives in Mt. Prospect with his wife and their four children.

American Labor Faces Challenges: Mitchell

"Labor Day is a fitting occasion to reflect on the achievement of a spiritual and material strength unparalleled in history," states Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell in his Labor Day message released this week.

Mitchell's message:

THIS YEAR finds the nation's gross national product at over a half trillion dollars, which means that we are producing more goods and services than ever before. Total employment which now stands close to 69 million, will continue to reach new record highs through 1960. Personal income, measured in terms of real purchasing power, is at an all-time high. Thirty-four million American families, or about 58 per cent, own their own homes, the highest number in history.

Labor Day 1960 also finds more and more men and women — because of the steady improvement of their working conditions, and because of a growing premium on their skill and craftsmanship — taking increasing pride and satisfaction in their jobs.

TRULY, AMERICANS have reached a remarkable level of well-being. But we must strive harder to meet the challenges that still lie before us.

A small but important segment of our economy is still excluded from the general prosperity. The migrant farm worker makes on the average less than $1,000 a year or only about one-fifth the average of non-farm workers. If the migrant is to take his rightful place as a beneficiary of our wealthy society, he must be granted equal economic opportunity.

Descriminatory hiring practices are still depriving many older people, Negroes and other minority group workers, and women of jobs they are able and willing to do. Because equal opportunity is a fundamental right of every citizen, we must step up our efforts to eliminate such inequalities.

Although employment is at at all-time high, unemployment due to technological change, loss of markets, the exhaustion of resources in certain areas, or the movement of industrial plants from one region to another remains a problem in some parts of our country. We must continue to attack chronic and persistent unemployment on every front: locally, through the initiative of the communities in attracting new industry, and on the State and national levels, by the creation of constructive assistance programs.

LABOR AND management must devise — in an atmosphere of mutual understanding, and with the public welfare in mind — new ways for meeting the problems which are vital to their own interests as well as to the future of the economy — problems such as those dealing with the effects of technological change, uneconomical work practices, the division of productivity gains, and the impact of foreign competition on American markets.

These are challenges worthy of the American people. They must be met with intelligent and workable solutions and with the help of all citizens working together. With such an approach, and with the help and support of a government dedicated to the freedom, dignity, and progress of its citizens, the American people will rise to new levels of strength and well-being.

B-ville League Elects Officers

Bensenville Businessmen's Bowling League recently elected its officers for the 1960-61 season.

Those elected are Ted Masters, Green Street Foods, president; Ron Pienkowski, Shambergers, treasurer; and Henry Friend, Aetna Manufacturing, secretary.

DON LEAMING, of 725 N. Belmont. Arlington Heights, joined American Airlines because he likes to travel and enjoys meeting people. He obviously likes meeting pert Sandra Dee, MGM motion picture actress. Leaming, who is an acting passenger service manager for the airline at O'Hare International airport, says, "That's just part of the job." (BB

J. O. Ross Engineering Honors 7 For Service

The Mt. Prospect office of the J. O. Ross Engineering division of Midland-Ross corporation, 320 S. School st., recently saluted seven of its senior members for outstanding service of 20 or more years.

Leslie G. Janett, vice president of the division, presented the employees to be honored during an August 22 luncheon at Gunnell's restaurant, Rand rd., Mt. Prospect.

Twenty-year gold pins with ruby and the organization's "M-R" trademark were presented to Arthur E. Cather, 623 Wilshire, Arlington Hts. a purchasing agent, and C. Malcolm Mackenzie of Wilmette, a sales engineer; both men have been with the company 23 years.

ALSO receiving a 20-year award was Ernest E. Erhman of Cloquet, Minn., erecting superintendent.

Similar pins with a 25-year inscription were presented to Leslie G. Janett, 703 Glendale, Mt. Prospect, vice president and manager of the Mt. Prospect office; Harold E. Warman, of Elmhurst, chief draftsman; and Amelda M. Sebastian, of Evanston, cashier bookkeeper.

Janett presented a special 30-year pin, bearing a diamond, to Reuben H. Melin, of Glenview, a sales engineer. Melin has been with the Midland Ross corporation for 34 years.

IN 1926, the Chicago Branch of the J. O. Ross Engineering corporation, designers and manufacturers of air handling equipment for industry, had five people working side by side in a rented office at 54[illegible] W. Washington ave., in downtown Chicago.

By 1928, new quarters were needed and acquired at 208 W. Washington and two years later, another move was made to 201 N. Wells st., also in Chicago. At this location, the Chicago Branch grew from less than 10 persons to over 60.

A series of acquistions and mergers, the largest and most important of which occurred in October of 1957 with Midland Steel Products corporation of Cleveland to form the now familiar "M-R" trademark, proved beneficial to growth and strength.

AT THE TIME of the merger, the J. O. Ross Engineering Corporation, with its home office in New York and its eight branch offices located throughout the United States, Canada and England had a sales volume of above $20,000,000. After the merger, the sales volume for the newly formed corporation reached the $120,000,000 level.

The Midland-Ross merger and the successful expansion of the J. O. Ross division forced the seeking of breathing and working space for the 65 members of the Chicago office. The beautiful new building at the Mt. Prospect address was especially built for this move in January of 1959.

The 180 years of combined service offered by the honored seven have been instrumental in enhancing the reputation and prestige of the Midwestern office in the host of industries it serves in the area. (BB

Scanlon Retires After 42-Year Career In Banking

DOMINIC SCANLON

Dominic D. Scanlon, whose career has spanned 42 years in banking, was recently honored by associates at a dinner marking his retirement as comptroller of Citizens Bank & Trust company, Park Ridge. Bank officers and employees highlighted the occasion by presenting him with an AM-FM radio.

Scanlon joined Citizens Bank & Trust company in 1955 as auditor was named comptroller in 1958.

Born in Cork, Ireland, Scanlon began his banking career in Canada. His career has been linked with Chicago area banking since 1923, when he joined the auditing department of the Continental Bank.

A PROMINENT member of the American Institute of Banking, he was active in the organization's educational program for 14 years. As instructor and special lecturer for the AIB's Chicago Chapter, he specialized in teaching banking fundamentals, bank organization and accounting.

Additionally, he has lectured on safe deposit procedures, appearing before banking groups throughout the middle west. He has also been a member of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers, participating in this group's activities for the past thirty years.

Last year he was invited to join the faculty of the Illinois Bankers Executive School, and took part in sessions conducted at Southern Illinois university.

Scanlon and his wife have four children and eight grandchildren. The Scanlons presently live at 6808 Oseola ave., Edison Park, but have planned their retirement in Florida where they expect to locate between Palm Beach and Fort Lauderdale.

Carriage Hill Program Guarantees Occupancy Date

A new program has been developed to solve the home-seeker's age-old problem of how to be certain that their new home will be available whenever the old one is sold or leased.

This new approach is a reservation plan introduced at Carriage Hill, Glenview's luxury rental community of 136 studio garden homes under construction by the Irvin A. Blietz homebuilding and realty firm of Wilmette.

Families no longer need risk being "homeless" or "two home families." Blietz guarantees the family occupancy of the home of their choice on any date they select. He agrees to return their deposit if they do not sell their house or lease their apartment before that date. The family can then select another home and later date if they wish.

THIS NEW reservation program also allows the prospective tenant plenty of time to work out the most profitable home transaction, or in the case of apartment dwellers to complete satisfactory arrangements on sub-letting, furniture disposal and any other details that accompany a change of residence. Bruce Blietz, vice president of the firm said the company will also cooperate with applicants in helping them arrange for a home sale.

The Blietz organization has built over 2,000 homes for sale or lease in North Shore communities over the past 25 years and this experience has contributed toward the development of this unique plan.

To date, 10 North Shore families have made use of this Reservation Plan and of that group six have already sold homes and will be taking occupancy in Carriage Hill shortly.

THE ENTRANCE gate to the 3½ million dollar residential park is located on Waukegan rd., three blocks south of Glenview rd. shopping area.

The Studio Garden homes are of split level and two story design available in a two or three bedroom plan. They are the first rental homes to offer family rooms. Service for the homes and garden areas are provided for.

Carriage Hill was primarily designed for families who no longer want the burdensome upkeep of a large home and apartment dwellers who dislike the feeling of confinement and want outdoor garden and patio living.

Assistant Farm Adviser

Has this been a successful gardening year for you? Have you been able to overcome the many problems which always arise?

This might be a good time to go around your yard and make plans for next year so you can avoid the mistakes made this year.

Annual flowers often look better in the catalog than they do in the garden. Make note of the varieties you grew this year, and indicate which ones did best. Notice the color combinations, the size and how well the different varieties fit with the surrounding plantings.

Are the shrubs and evergreens you planted last fall or spring growing nicely? They should be if they are not standing in water, or under the eaves where they get no water. If your new evergreens are turning brown and dying, dig down and see if they are standing in water. Our clay soils drain slowly. When planting new shrubs, the resultant hole often acts as a pot, becoming full of water which is unable to drain away. If this is the case, it is necessary to provide tile, gravel, wells, or some other type of artificial drainage.

While inspecting your yard notice plants which are old, diseased, badly damaged or which have outgrown their situation. Try to figure out why the plant has become undesirable and replace it with a plant which better fills the needs.

Fertilize your lawn with a nitrogen carrying fertilizer such as 10-6-4, 10-10-10 or even ammonium sulfate or ammonium nitrate. Apply so that every 1,000 square feet receive one and one-half pounds of actual nitrogen, (15 pounds 10-10-10 or 10-8-6, 7½ pounds ammonium nitrate, etc.)

If it does not rain within 24 hours, be sure to wash the fertilizer off the leaves by sprinkling.

Chapter Elects Director

Earl E. Petersen, 1820 N. Chestnut ave., has been elected a director of the Chicago Chapter, American Institute of Banking. The American Institute of Banking is the world's largest adult educational organization, and Chicago Chapter is the largest in the A.I.B.

Petersen joined the Chapter in 1934, and received his Standard Certificate in 1951. Since receiving his certificate, he became active in committee work, having continuously served on one committee or another from that date. These include the class registration, debate, and visits committees, and the board of consuls.

He was president of the debate society in 1956-57. Petersen has attended three national conventions, in Miami, Dallas and Boston. He is associated with the First National Bank of Chicago.

'How to Get Through Day' Revealed by James Thurber

A Thurber's-eye view of life from "rosy" - fingered dawn" to "beddy-bye" (with clues as to how to keep your breakfast down, where to put the morning mail, and how to handle the "nip before dinner" situation,) is only the first treat you could turn to in the September issue of Suburbia Today, Paddock Publications' magazine supplement, which will come to you next week.

The other treats, all calculated to soften that post-vacation let-down, start off with a story by noted actor Vincent Price, who spends two months each year lecturing to clubwomen, and who is madly in love with all 400,000 of the ladies he's addressed over the past fifteen years.

THEN THERE'S a story for all mothers who have baby-sitting teen-age daughters. It seems, according to author Jennifer L. Barrett, that the sitter's mother is often more jittery than the mother of the children she takes care of.

Author Fitzhugh Turner tells about the history of the Middleburg, Va. Community Center, which replaced the town dump and which now houses everything from church services to water carnivals.

The garden pages this month will remind you that window boxes make excellent greenhouses that can provide much fun—and beauty—from September till next spring. The food pages, on the other hand, are full of year-round fun, with Apple Ambrosia, Schneken, Fresh Purple-Plum Ice Cream, and many other delicious, kitchen-tested dishes that could be the specialty of any house.

THE NEWS column, Getting Around, again fills many gaps in education, such as where to find a road paved with jewels, or meter readers who use binoculars, or a graduation ceremony at the bottom of a lake. In "Suburbia - Any Day!" our cartoonists (they couldn't all have flunked out), fondly recall The School Bus.

Finally, September in Suburbia Today marks the first month of the "Contest For People Who Never Enter Contests," which, we promise, will be more fun than a flat tire on a Sunday night in a full car while crossing the one lane - three mile bridge that comes from the beach. Good luck, You'll need it. We won't say "Enjoy Yourselves," because we guarantee that.

Ward is with the accounting firm of Evans, Marshall & Pease in Chicago.

Negotiates Mortgage For Plant

Baird & Warner has negotiated a $500,000 mortgage on the new plant for Spotnails, Inc., now under construction on a 16-acre site in Northwestern Industrial Park, Rolling Meadows.

The 72,000 sq. ft. contemporary plant and office building is the third headquarters for the rapidly-growing Evanston manufacturer of stapling and nailing devices.

The building is the largest yet projected for Northwestern Industrial Park, according to William A. Dean, vice president of the developement company.

Joseph T. Carp, Inc. is general contractor for the building, erected under a lease-sale contract. Ralph Stoetzel is the architect. P. E. Costin, Baird & Warner, served as mortgage broker.

Bifocals May Provide Solution To Sight Problem

Babies in bifocals may provide the solution to the problem of near-sightedness that grows worse during the school years of thousands of children.

That is the report from the Illinois Optometric association, drawing attention to studies now being made of the relation of school work to what vision authorities call "progressive myopia."

"Several studies being made by individual optometrists show encouraging results from carefully supervised use of bifocals," noted Dr. James Molenaar, executive secretary of the association. "Contact lenses are also being used with success in correcting the vision difficulties of many nearsighted youngsters."

RESEARCH into the relation between myopia and school work is being done in two studies by the United States Public Health Service and one by Purdue university, according to Dr. Molenaar.

Preliminary findings indicate some relationship between myopia and the close work of the classroom: the result of school work too demanding for immature eyes.

Whatever the cause, Dr. Molenaar pointed out, "there is good hope that nearsightedness in a child can be contained or corrected with methods optometrists are working constantly to develop."

He urged an annual vision examination for all school children, especially those who seem to have difficulty seeing at a distance.

Stanton Joins Staff Of Dairy

NORMAN STANTON

Norman K. Stanton, 259 N. mozart st., Palatine, joined the staff of the National Dairy Research center in Glenview, it was announced recently by C. W. Kaufman, director of research and development.

Stanton was formerly employed with Taste Engineering, Inc. in their Chicago laboratory. He attended Illinois Institute of Technology, where he majored in chemical engineering.

Suburb Man Tells Of Taxless Haven

A tax free haven on Grand Bahama Island is awaiting businessman from the northwest suburban area, according to W. A. Benson, 46 S. Mitchell st., in Arlington Heights.

Benson is representing an English firm that is attempting to convince manufacturers to establish themselves at Freeport, Grand Bahama Island.

Freeport is 81 miles east of Palm Beach, and 102 miles northeast of Miami. A special grant of 50,000 acres of land at this ocean port has been made by the government of Bahamas, a British Colony, to The Grand Bahama Port Authority, Limited.

At Freeport, The Authority is developing a major industrial and commercial center, and a modern residential community.

FOR THIRTY years, from August, 1955, according to Benson, businesses located there will pay:

—No income taxes
—No capital gains taxes
—No real estate taxes
—No personal property taxes.

He also noted that, for 99 years, there will be no excise taxes or customs duties.

Already, Benson stated, a boat building plant, bunkering terminal and complete ready-mix cement and block plant have moved into the area. Freeport's growing residential section boasts schools and parks, he said.

BENSON SAID that the business district has a bank, a supermarket, numerous stores and a multi-storied office building. A modern airport, Freeport International, is only a few minutes drive from the business district.

Benson advises interested businessmen to contact him at his loop office at FI 6-0638 or in Arlington Heights at CL 3-7315. (BB

Rainmaker Tricks Make Good Reading

During a drought season, trees can't do much except wait for a good rain or a good watering.

But in olden days rain could be induced, it was believed, by a type of "magic" that consisted primarily of imitating rain or rain clouds. If the performance was properly staged, it was expected that rain would soon fall, according to old-time tree lore unearthed by the Davey Tree Expert co.

In ancient Greece, for example, priests of Zeus dipped branches into a certain spring on Mount Lycaeus. This was supposed to cause a misty cloud to rise from which rain soon fell.

Central American Indians had their rain doctor whirl a magic wand made of lightning-struck pine called a "bull-roarer." While he was doing this, his assistant whipped up a mixture of water and meal until he had a frothy suds symbolic of rain clouds.

The Javanese also thought that imitation was the sincerest form of flattery, and simulated the patter of rain by brushing a cocoanut leaf over a sheaf of betel nut.

In old Russia, it once was customary to have three men climb into the fir trees of a sacred grove when rain was wanted. One banged on a kettle with a hammer to imitate thunder, another smacked two fire brands together to imitate lightning, and a third, the "rain-maker" sprinkled water all around with a bunch of twigs.

All these were tested methods, perhaps not thoroughly dependable, but expected to produce rain at least occasionally. (BB

Executive Addition Told

Lawrence W. Kunkel, of 2107 Flicker lane, Rolling Meadows, has been appointed a junior executive of the Kemper Insurance companies. The appointment was announced by Chairman Hathaway G. Kemper.

Kunkel is manager of the market research division established by the companies this summer. Before that he was in the Los Angeles branch office of the Kemper organization, with which he has been affiliated since 1951 in field, underwriting and supervisory capacities.

He is a graduate of Illinois Institute of Technology, where he studied under the James S. Kemper Foundation scholarship program.

Mr. and Mrs. Kunkel have three children, Kathleen, Glenn and Laura.

Loyola Instructor Opens New Office

DR. E. J. LUZWICK

Dr. Edward J. Luzwick, instructor in operative dentistry at Loyola university's school of dentistry, is Mt. Prospect's newest dentist. He is taking over the offices of Dr. Rolf Gruber at 101 S. Pine st.

Dr. Gruber, after practicing dentistry in Mt. Prospect for four years, is moving with his family to teach in Seattle.

DR. LUZWICK, a graduate of Chicago's Tilden Technical high school, completed his pre-dental studies at DePaul university by receiving a bachelor of science degree in chemistry in 1956.

While attending Loyola's dental school the following four years, he was an instructor in biochemistry and histology at St. Mary of Nazareth hospital's school for medical technologists, Chicago, which he attended prior to his enrollment at DePaul.

Dr. Luzwick has received several awards for participating in various dental "table clinics," among them a trip to New York to present his "Preventive Orthodontics" clinic at the centennial meeting of the American Dental association.

Dr. Luzwick and his wife, Rita, a registered nurse, will reside in Mt. Prospect. They have two children, Michael Gerard, 5, and Linda Ann, 4.

Associate Editor Bud Booth Resigns

BUD BOOTH

Bud Booth, 715 N. Kenilworth, Arlington Heights, has resigned as associate editor of Paddock Publications, Inc.

Announcement of his resignation was made this week by Robert Y. Paddock, vice president of the suburban newspaper chain.

"We are deeply appreciative of Bud's years of service. He has been loyal and conscientious, well-regarded for his fair, objective reporting," said Paddock.

BOOTH FIRST joined the Paddock chain in 1949, and since 1958 he has been associate editor for the four Paddock papers published in north DuPage county. Under his editorship in 1957, the Roselle Register won a first place award for general excellence from the state press association.

He will become editor of the Maywood, Ill., Herald.

New Answers to New Problems

Shifting Populations Create Urban Crises

In 15 years, this nation will boast population of 220 million, of which 140 million will be living in metropolitan areas and 80 million of these will be living outside the central "mother cities."

The shift from an urban to a metropolitan character with three quarters of the country living the radius of the giant metropolis must revolutionize our concepts of development and planning.

Otherwise we will flounder and deteriorate, become bogged down in wasteful, duplication of government and inefficient planning.

This is the argument of the Committee for Economic Development, a group of 180 leading businessmen and educators, headed by Jervis J. Babb.

IN A DIGEST of the CED statement on national policy titled "Guiding Metropolitan Growth," Babb as chairman of the Area Development committee, which prepared the statement for CED's Research and Policy committee, wrote the report, giving recommendations. The statement is a digest of two years' study. Figures of population and shifts in population are the committee's.

Figuring the tangible real estate in our cities at more than $500 billion, which represent a life trust, the fact that this trust was not being adequately met and that the spread of blight and obsolescense is visible in most of our urban areas, a new approach was indicated for governmental leaders.

To compliment these factors was the consideration of 4 million substandard dwelling units in metropolitan areas and 13 million in the nation. Cost of renewal of the cities are estimated at from $120 billion and up.

AT PRESENT the 192 metropolitan areas of the nation were governed by 16,000 governmental bodies, and the committee felt strongly about the appalling waste and duplicating of these bodies.

Proposals of the committee boiled down to:

—Meeting the metropolitan gargantua headon by a systematic and periodic analysis of its economic base. The Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations should appoint a council of recognized scholars, technicians, local officials and business leaders to advise the commission on objectives and techniques to apply to these studies.

—Allocating federal renewal funds in accordance with metropolitan plans and economic studies rather than on a project - by - project basis.

—Extend renewal of federal aid to include blighted commercial and industrial areas as well as residential areas.

—Special preference in financial and administrative aid to be given communities where workable programs and renewal planning are carried out on an area - wide basis.

—Modernizing governmental structures in metropolitan areas for more efficient and effective carrying out of public responsibility of clearly defined metropolitan character.

—FAILURE TO establish metropolitan governments with wide powers will lead to a greater loss of self - determination in local affairs, while the growth of responsibility shifts to the state and federal level.

—Revision of state constitutions and other legislative and administrative action, Interstate agreements will be necessary in at least 23 metropolitan areas extending across state lines.

—A possible form might be metropolitan federation, with the most obvious regional functions vested in a single government, and other duties remaining in the hands of the individual localities.

—Business leaders to participate more actively with local officials and other groups in setting goals for their community and guiding metropolitan affairs.

Eight Local Employees Join Program

Flick-Reedy corporation, Bensenville, recently announced that eight local area employees have joined the firm's "Partnership" program by placing orders for debentures and common stock in the company.

Area residents include, George Nelson, Addison; Josephine Jasper, Clare Conforti, Marge Kopec, Clara Hoover, Harry Boettger and Forest Niccum, all of Bensenville; Edgar Waldenmeyer, Hoffman Estates; and Bridget Husenger, Raymond Gustafson and Elsie Palicki, all of Wood Dale.

Flick-Reedy is the nations largest producer of machine tool grade air and hydraulic cylinders.

145,000 Visit Museum

Among visitors from this region touring the Hinsdale Health Museum during the summer vacation were 25 members of the Elkhorn Day Camp, Arlington Heights, escorted by their leader, Kenneth Zietlow, 3601 Bobolink lane, Rolling Meadows.

Members of the Lutheran Child Welfare association, Addison, were accompanied to the Health Museum by their principal and director, Leroy Moderow.

THIRTEEN members attending the Arlington Heights summer school were escorted to Hinsdale by their science teacher, Morris Pumphrey.

Over 145,000 persons have toured the popular Health Museum, including thousands of school children. The exhibits tell the story of the normal human body and its functions.

The Health Museum maintains qualified biology teachers to lecture at various age levels to children on science field trips. The Health Museum remains open the year around, daily from nine to five and Sunday from one to five, admission free.

Reservations for school visits are now being accepted. All groups, school or otherwise, will please call in advance, Faculty 5-1900, or write Hinsdale Health Museum, Hinsdale.

Two Area Residents To Serve

Two area residents have been named to serve on committees of the Chicago Chapter of the American Institute of Banking.

Joanne Buker, 5 W. Fairview, Arlington Heights, was named to the reception committee while Richard J. Basten, 406 Princeton, Itasca will serve on the Forum Committee.

Miss Buker is associated with the Northern Trust company while Basten is employed the Oak Park Trust and Savings Bank.

The American Institute of Banking is the world's largest adult education group, and Chicago Chapter is the largest in the A. I. B.

40th Year Of Service

Michael A. Stachnik, 489 Cornell ave., Des Plaines, a section chief of the power board cable forming, assembly and wiring department at Western Electric's Hawthorne works, celebrated his 40th year of service with the firm Tuesday. He was honored for his long career at a company-sponsored luncheon on his anniversary, and was presented with a diamond-studded, gold service emblem to commemorate the occasion.

Stachnik and his wife, Harriet, married in November, 1930 have two children and three grandchildren.

Initiates Service

American Airlines will inaugurate the first jet service between Chicago and San Diego on Sept. 18, using its 707-720 intermediate—range jet flagships and making one stop each way at Phoenix, Ariz., Chicago vice president James J. Lamond announced recently.

The service will be in addition to a daily 720 flight each way starting Sept. 1 between Chicago and both Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz.

THE 720s will provide four hour 37 minute service from O'Hare International Airport to San Diego. Eastbound time will be slightly faster.

A daily westbound flight will leave O'Hare at 5:40 p.m. (CDT), arrive at Phoenix at 6:45 p.m. (MST), and arrive at San Diego at 8:17 p.m. (PDT). A daily eastbound flight will leave San Diego at 8:10 a.m. (PDT), leave Phoenix at 9:40 a.m. (MST), and arrive at O'Hare at 2:30 p.m. (CDT).

Lamond also said that American, to date, has carried more jet passengers (more than one and a half million) more miles than any other airline in the world.

Hammerl Attends School

Carl W. Hammerl of Mt. Prospect State Bank, Mt. Prospect, is among the 1,146 students from 41 states, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and Panama who are now attending the annual two-week residence session of the school of banking at the University of Wisconsin.

The school, sponsored by the Central States Conference consisting of the bankers associations of 16 states, requires residence attendance for two weeks each year for three years for graduation.

A total of 323 seniors will receive their diplomas at the school's 1960 graduation exercises Friday night, Aug. 26.

THE SCHOOL of banking is one of the many schools, short courses and conferences sponsored annually at the University of Wisconsin as educational services for all citizens.

Attendance at the 1960 school of banking enables its students at Wisconsin's State university not only to meet a large number of bankers from all over the country, but they also have the opportunity of hearing the school's distinguished lecturers, over 100 experts from all parts of the nation, who are recognized authorities in banking, economics, government, law, and industrial, and agricultural and financial problems.

New Weapon May Combat Bug Pests

Man may have found an answer in his war against mosquitoes and other pests.

At least, the Ram Meter people in Ferndale, Mich., believe so. The company has developed a device called the Ram Insect Electrocutor.

THE DEVICE consists of two "black light" tubes and electrically charged metal. Black light, invisible to the human eye, has amazing attraction powers for insects. Once the insects are attracted, they are killed by a high-voltage grid which is harmless to people and pets.

Electricity required to operate this device is comparable to that used by a small, 50-watt bulb. Ram Insect Electrocutor is also easily moved.

It is being carried by Cabana Pools, CL 9-1070, on route 83 two miles north of Dundee rd.

The Way We See It

Look-Alike Housing Law Needs Experts

Arlington Heights has issued stop work orders on three homes under construction because they look too much alike. A few weeks earlier village trustees denied a building permit for construction of a contemporary house in the community because it was too different from other homes in the neighborhood.

This seeming paradox illustrates a quandry in which many of our northwest suburban officials find themselves when they attempt to guide the architectural growth of their communities.

The move to the suburbs has brought with it the tract development where row after row of nearly identical houses stretch and curve over landscapes.

In critical references to suburban living these "row" houses are often singled out as typifying the stifling sameness of suburbia.

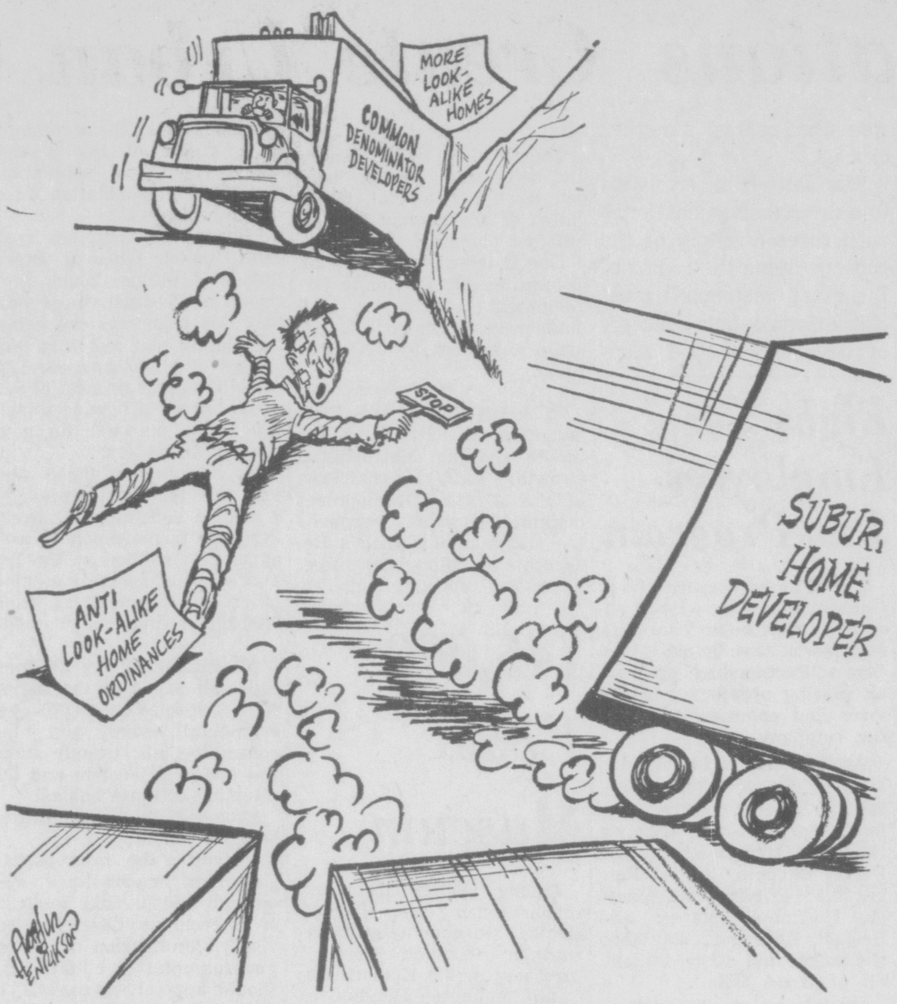
Many communities, particular the older ones such as Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect, have passed ordinances that not only prohibit construction of "row" housing, but require substantial changes in design. Arlington Heights' ordinance forbids the construction of "look-alike" houses adjacent to or across the street from one another, and prohibits more than two in a block.

The ordinance has not, however, been strictly enforced and violations are evident in the village. One of the problems, according to a member of the architectural committee, is determining what constitutes a change. Aesthetics, it appears, doesn't lend itself to absolute definition.

While no doubt at times arbitrarily enforced, the intent of such legislation is obviously in the community's interest as it protects property values and promotes an attractive neighborhood.

We would urge only that the men charged with enforcing such ordinances have, in addition to the highest qualifications for judging architectural design, an appreciation of the builder's problems.

'Aw, Pretty Please, with Sugar on It?'



Businessmen Get Bold Plea

State Chamber Urges New Political Action

A bold plea for political action by business leaders is being made in a booklet published by the Illinois State chamber of commerce, one titled: "The Businessman's Guide to Illinois Politics."

Interestingly enough, the booklet points to labor's success in the political field, but stresses the point that "businessmen should not go into politics simply because labor has. Neither should it imitate labor's methods."

Here is the history of labor's achievements, as outlined by the Chamber: In 1943, the CIO formed its Political Action Committee (PAC); in 1947, the AFL convention voted to establish Labor's League for Political Education (LLPE) to "help elect friends of labor to national office . ."

"In 1955, the merged AFL-CIO formed the Committee on Political Education, which was an outgrowth itself of LLPE and PAC."

And this COPE's record in the 1958 election, as cited in the "Weekly News Letter":

Seventeen out of 25 candidates in the U.S. Senate endorsed by state COPE's or similar groups won their elections; 183 out of 294 Representative candidates were elected, and 18 out of 24 endorsed candidates for governorships were successful.

Also, the record indicates that within the state, labor endorses those with a record favorable to labor 50 per cent of the time. Result — in the April, 1960 primary, of 28 candidates for Congress endorsed by labor, 23 won; of 40 candidates for the State Senate supported by labor, 28 were nominated, and of 221 candidates for State Representative, 148, or 70 per cent, won nomination.

Labor did it, the chamber explains, by a 54-page handbook, "How to Win," detailing how to run a campaign and to plan everything from organizing a precinct to collecting money for COPE. "To maintain any kind of balance," the chamber concludes," individual businessmen must get into the political arena with renewed vigor."

Urban Decay, Waste Spur Efforts of Action Group

Rot of "mother cities" and fantastic waste of 16,000 governmental bodies that guide the day-to-day life of 192 metropolitan areas across the country set a committee in motion to remodel the country and gave birth to a new "Utopia."

That the committee was composed on the whole of hardheaded businessmen and not wild-eyed dreamers of the left wing school did not deter from the revolutionary approach of the high-sounding Committee for Economic Development, of which Jervis J. Babb is chairman.

Basically, the committee's approach is to combine the governmental functions of the "mother cities" with those of their peripheral suburban neighbors for one strong metropolitan government with controls and direction stemming from the fountainhead for the entire metropolitan area.

However, the committee cautioned, this would not mean that all the local autonomy of the smaller towns and villages would necessarily go down the drain.

The metropolitan government would only direct those issues which would pertain to the entire metropolitan area, and local governmental participation on other matters would be encouraged and left to its own devices.

One thinks immediately in terms of the community served by these newspapers. How would a metropolitan government affect the Chicago area? Would the jealously guarded autonomy of Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, Palatine, Wheeling, DuPage county disappear while Chicago bosses "ran things from City Hall?"

This is the picture which often has frightened the suburbs whenever the question of metropolitan government arose, as it did recently on the question of a metropolitan mass transportation body.

An indication that the committee was somewhat aware of this feeling comes from a comment by a committee member, Charles P. Taft that the committee was not "fully aware of the depth of resistance to metropolitan federation."

But, despite opposition and resistance to the metropolitan concept, the committee's projected statistics of what we are facing in 1975 must give us pause for sober reflection.

Three quarters of the nation's population concentrated in the metropolitan areas, and the shift of the major portion from the central core "mother cities" to the suburban peripheries — these are staggering conjectures.

In 1850, only 15 per cent of the population lived in urban places. By 1900, the urbanites claimed 40 per cent of our nation, and by 1920, it had passed the half-way mark. Today, two out of three Americans live in urban areas.

By 1975, it is projected, three-fifths of the 140 million persons living in metropolitan areas will be residents of the suburban village surrounding the core cities.

And rot will grow as the unworkable and unwieldy topheavy multitude of public bodies attempt to collect taxes and make decisions at cross purposes with one another.

Is it too fantastic to believe that the 192 metropolitan areas would each accept a metropolitan federation to direct its major necessities, such as mass transportation, flood control, park and recreational facilities?

This is actually not utopian thinking, but grim acceptance of reality. The alternative is sheer waste — and cumulative rot and spread of slums to the suburbs as well as the "mother cities."

League of Women Voters Have Demonstrated Worth

The Arlington Heights League of Women Voters will stage its annual fund drive from September 2 to 12 in the northwest suburbs it serves.

The League pleads its case for finances with the thought that good government is basic to the democratic system. It benefits everyone, not a limited segment. You cannot achieve democracy without informed citizen participation, and that's what the League works for the year around.

This has been a busy year for the League. This is the group that studied the proposed township cemetery levy and urged its defeat; that has continued to study township government, attended the road and bridge hearing, and held two summer workshops on the subject; that has an observer at all Arlington Heights village board meetings; and that is currently studying the proposed Arlington Heights village hall. Their second edition of "Presenting Arlington Heights" was printed this spring, and hundreds of free copies were donated to schools and libraries. The League always furnishes factual, non-partisan information on candidates and issues. Their candidate questionnaire for the November election is now in process.

We know of no other group, with no axe to grind, whose sole purpose is arousing citizen interest in government. We hope residents of northwest suburbs will generously support this group during its drive for a substantial budget to continue its work for another year.

Popular 'Myths' Obscure Truth

Suburbs Falsely Stereotyped By Unique, Select Examples

by PHILIP NELSON

Despite his reluctance to debunk what he calls the "myth of suburbia," a University of Illinois sociologist, Bennett M. Berger, recently poked wedges of logic through "the myth" to allow the fresh air of reason to enter.

If you recognize yourself in this image, take a second closer look. You live in one of a row of almost identical looking "ranch houses," your children attend a "ranch-type-school," and your wife frequents a giant supermart.

Add that you are somewhere between 25 and 35 years old, well-educated, an "Organization Man," part of the new middle class, your wife is well-educated, speaks a recognizable "suburban patois," has defined theories on child development, swears by Spock and Gesell.

IN THE MIRROR, also, can be seen this new tribe of young families growing up without older guidance, relying on "kaffee klatches" and babysitting pools, accepting a standardization of conformity, where aloofness or detachment is frowned upon.

Does the reflection of the image bear some resemblance to reality? Do you see, too, the "return to religion" and grasping not only at the clergyman's spiritual leadership, but his talents at marriage counseling, family problems as well.

Staring back at you from the mirror, perhaps, is a former urban Democrat, now a suburban Republican, an intense and spirited joiner of groups and local partisan political and civic enterprises.

The commuter, rushing from his house in the suburbs with a quick glance at the sleeping wife and children, and rushing back at night in time to miss the youngsters fast asleep. The station wagon, a suburban necessity, the suburban wife waiting at the station for the 5:05 — these are the vestiges, replete with picture windows, gadgets, bikes of school children lined up on racks.

Frightening? The "Mass Man," stored like rabbits in warrens, each identical, robot product of a machined suburban age?

AT THIS point, the iconoclastic Berger tears the image down. It is a false image, one of clay, he says in effect. First of all, the image has been created from a very select group of suburbs — those which are close to large urban cities, white collar suburbs of large cities.

Again, even theoretically, it should be obvious that there must be differences among suburbanites of different economic levels. The equalizing factor of the "commuter picture" will vanish with the commuter as suburbs increase their commercial and industrial growth and pull the suburbanite close to suburban roots.

Different occupations help break the standard pattern, varying eduational levels, the character of the suburban region, the size of the suburb, the socio-geographic origin of the residents, all of these help explode the uniformity myth.

And if this were not enough, he points out, there is a similarity between the suburbanite and the urbanite having the same socio-economic makeup. Rows of apartment buildings in the city have the "sameness" of suburban look-alike ranch houses. Working city dwellers leave communities just as manless as their suburban counterparts, and class characters of communities are similar in both city and suburb, other things being equal.

WHY THEN the myth? Ah, says Berger, it performs a useful function for at least four groups: the ultra-patriots, the architects, designers and planners, the left wingers and the sociologists.

To the patriots, "defenders of the 'American Way of Life'," suburbia is the fulfillment of the American middle-class dream; to the architects, suburbia is a horror of "standardization and vulgarization," the "urban slums of tomorrow."

To the left winger, "suburban" becomes a convenient synonym for "bourgeois style and hypocrisy," and to the sociologists, suburbanites offer a narcissitic opportunity to study people much like themselves.

"But while the myth of suburbia," argues Berger, "is useful to all of these groups, it cannot be written off simply as ruling class propaganda, or as an attempt to see only the sunny side of things, or, for that matter, as an attempt to see only the darker side of things — or even as a furtive attempt to peer into a mirror.

"Too many responsible intellectuals, while uncritically accepting the myth of suburbia are nevertheless extremely critical of what they 'see' in it."

HE REASONS that the attack on suburbia "may be only a scapegoat phenomenon," and "to heap abuse upon suburbia (instead of upon the ethos of success and the demanding conditions of social and economic mobility) places him comfortably in the great tradition of American social criticism, and at the same time renders him respectable and harmless."

Why harmless? Because the "critic identifies himself by his criticism with 'culture' and 'taste' while at the same time he does not expose himself to the retaliations of powerful political and economic interests, precisely because his criticism constitutes no direct threat to them."

Berger attacks the left wing critics for their venom in discussions of suburbia as though they feared "the seduction of the working class by pie not in the sky, not even on the table, but in the freezer," identifying the disappearance of the working class into the middle class, for suburbia "is testimony to the fact that Americans are living better than ever before . . . not only for the white collar people but for blue collar, frayed collar, and turned collar people also . .

"If one does not wish to live in a slum, one pays upward of $75 a month in rent these days, and for this or only slightly more, one can 'buy' a new tract home in the suburbs."

FINALLY, Berger points out with sharp clarity, in the broad definition of the middle class, the fear of the higher income group in this class of encroachment by the lesser income group.

It is no surprise, he states, that with unskilled factory workers earning $4500 a year, owning two cars, a ranch house, a TV set and being able to clothe his wife in excellent copies of Paris fashions of the same year they are designed, the higher status groups spring to their own defense.

Crying "vulgar" such economic possessions, defending a certain style of life, they tighten their entrance requirements" upon their lower-income middle class brethren.

In actuality, however, there is still a primary difference between these so-called lower middle class and the upper middle class, when the former share everything with the latter but a working class psychology but one important factor — mobility.

They lack the desire to move upward into the supervisory or executive group, and are quite content to live in the style they have always lived, leaving the alternative for their children, and making "suburban domesticity in a $12,000 house a final fulfillment."

IS "SUBURBIA" a myth? Only if all strata, economic, social and others previously discussed, are dismissed and the small, although important, select examples are mistakenly identified with the entire picture.

For a true image, a larger and more fairly representative picture should be drawn, one that will reflect the differences as well as the parallels. So says Berger, in a brilliantly defended thesis prepared in his capacity as a research associate in the university's college of journalism and communications.

Fence Post

Rationalized Conscience?

The editors devoted half of the front page and the headlines to Mr. Albert Riley in the August 25 Arlington Heights Herald, stating "Builder Yearns for New Image." Mr. Riley evidently has a guilty conscience about his recent actions toward certain groups and organizations.

If Mr. Riley's intentions were originally well meant and done as he implies from the goodness of his heart, then many people will doubt his intelligence. Why does he insist that he is misunderstood? Let's face it, Mr. Riley, you've reneged and have never to our knowledge told us why. You owe the community and the offended parties some logical explanation for your actions and until we receive this from you, we can only condemn you for your "Indian Giving."

The editor infers that Mr. Riley feels abused and that he insists he's only trying to be a "good fellow." How can the builder rationalize his conscience away on this basis? Has he forgotten the old adage, "The Road To Hades is Paved With Good Intentions"?

Community Hospital Serves Public Need

The hospital, which has become the center for all medical advances, is often misunderstood in the public mind.

Today's hospital is a classic example of the community's providing for all its citizens what the citizen alone could not provide for himself. In that regard it is like our schools or our fire and police systems. But there is one significant difference. The schools and the fire and police departments are publicly owned and are operated from tax revenue.

The voluntary nonprofit hospitals, such as Lutheran General, Ressurrection, Northwest Community, Evanston and St. Francis, are privately financed and privately operated, but for the public good.

GOVERNMENT recognizes the tremendous public value of these hospitals by granting them tax exemtion. The philsophy here is simple: There should not be a tax on sickness. If there were no voluntary hospitals to care for the sick, the state would have to do it, at a staggering cost to the public budget. It is far better to encourage private groups to provide this care and to help those groups by making them tax-exempt. This enables them to keep their costs down and hence to charge less to the sick person.

A hospital does not become tax-exempt merely by calling itself nonprofit. It must meet rigid state requirements, which provide that any excess of income over expenses may be used only to improve the institution and its services or to meet the expenses of caring for those who are unable to pay the full cost of their hospitalization. No part of the net earnings of the hospital goes to any private individual or stockholder because there are no stockholders as such.

The hospital is owned by a nonprofit corporation—but no individuals own the corporation. The hospital is governed by a group of trustees who, unlike their counterparts in industry, receive absolutely nothing for the time and talent they contribute to the hospital.

IN THE UNITED States there are some 30,000 to 50,000 such individuals, who work without pay and often without recognition.

These hospital trustees set the policies for their local institutions. They determine rates, charges and salaries. They go out into the community and raise money to keep their hospital going, and they dig down into their own pockets as well. They hire the administrator. They decide, after consultation with the medical staff, which doctors shall be allowed to use the hospital's facilities. And they take the responsibility for the quality of care those doctors provide. They see that the hospital is maintained in good safe condition and that when more space is needed it has the money to expand. They help the doctors and the administrator to decide on new services and new facilities. They fight the hospital's public, legislative and legal battles. They bear the brunt of attacks on the institution. And they do all this, for you and me, on their own time and with no pay.

Our Suburbanites Use Fence Post as Forum for Views

Parkinson's Law Applied

Professor C. Northcote Parkinson writes in his book, Parkinsons Law, "Officials make work for each other." Official A thinks his work load is too much for him and so he creates two subordinates C and D, who in a relatively short time will also accrete two subordinates apiece. Although soon seven men will do the work formerly done by one, none will be idle, for the amount of work accomplished is in inverse proportion to the number of people engaged in it.

I found this theory amusing, but felt it needed some practical documentation to make it a law in my book. I found the evidence I needed in a front page article of the Palatine Enterprise under the headline, "Plan Citizen's Aid Group for Schools."

HERE was Parkinsons law in action. Let's examine the law in relation to the article.

Parkinson: He creates two subordinates C and D.

Article: Details of the program now call for the formation of a selection committee (C) to choose members of the citizens committee (D) to be called the Citizen's Committee in District 15.

Parkinson: Who in a relatively short time will also accrete two subordinates apiece.

Article: According to the outline, the consulting committee shall have twelve members. The group in turn may appoint specialized committees that often total more than 50 members to study an appointed school problem or policy.

Parkinson: Although soon seven men will do the work formerly done by one, none will be idle, for the amount of work accomplished is in inverse proportion to the number of people engaged in it.

BEFORE YOU get the idea that I am against progress, let me explain my position. I am for quality education (I have two school-age children).

I am for parent's participation in solving school problems if the problems cannot be solved by the school administration alone.

I am for entrusting my children's education to people who are educated and trained for that purpose.

I believe in judging the quality of my children's education by observing their intellectual growth.

I am against superfluous interference, by amateurs, in an area that requires specialized training and experience.

TO GET back to the article; it states that the committee will be:

1. "Reviewing existing school policies, proposing revised policies, or new policies, and considering policy proposals which originate outside the committee."

Please correct me if I'm wrong, but isn't that the job of the board members and the Superintendent of Schools?

2. "Working with the professional and non-professional staffs of the school system in ways satisfactory to them in developing and executing programs and procedures which implement policies approved by the board of education."

Perhaps I'm wrong again, but isn't that the job of the PTA?

3. "Studying continuously the needs for education of the people of the district and the effects of the education programs currently in operation."

For my money I would want an experienced educator for that job.

4. "Facilitating communication between the officials and staff of the school system and the people of the district."

The newspapers and the PTA have been fulfilling this function quite adequately.

TEACHERS and school administrators, take heart. If you read the membership rules of the committee carefully you will see that most of their time will be used to determine who is eligible for the special committees, "who will often total more than 50 members."

Why do we always pick on the school system? Why not a citizen's advisory committee for the police department, the fire department, or the garbage disposal department?

How Newspapers Aid Classroom

Perhaps some of the readers of your Aug. 25, editorial on the use of newspapers as school text books would be interested in how this program works successfully.

Donald L. Rice, a South Bend, Ind., elementary school teacher used the South Bend Tribune last year to put life into his social studies classes. He taught a group of gifted sixth graders.

Rice directed the children to read the front page of the paper daily in preparation for a class discussion the following day on one of the countries highlighted in current news events.

He used the same method on state and local affairs.

HE ALSO assigned the youngsters to various sections of the newspaper, making each group responsible for reading a portion each day. The sections included state, local and national news as well as editorial opinion. Twenty minutes of each class period were devoted to reports on what had been read. While reports were given a child pointed out the city, state or foreign country on the classroom map.

In addition, Rice encouraged the pupils to make scrap-books of developing stories in some field of special interest to them. Periodically he reviewed the scrapbooks and asked for a summary of the previous month's events in the pupil's chosen area.

When a U.S. satellite firing hit the headlines and his sixth graders were particularly intrigued he had them trace circles around a special globe showing the satellite's first four orbits.

He used the same method to plot the course of travelling dignitaries.

RICE FOUND that pupil interest in the class program soon challenged his own. Youngsters came early, stayed in the classroom at noon and after school to do additional research on their chosen projects.

Rice had a few limitations on what the pupils could use from their papers. Comic page reading in class was forbidden and he never let them report on crime, suicides, murders or sports unless there were some very special circumstances.

He found that newspaper reading increased the children's vocabularies and made them more proficient in the use of the library.

This fall Mr. Rice will take over as principal of Brown School in South Bend and would probably be glad to answer inquiries from teachers in this area who are interested in his methods.

The newspapers were provided free by the South Bend Tribune.

THIS IS not an isolated case. The Minneapolis Star and Tribune learned that the principal difficulty of teachers in that area was in making students discriminating readers. The newspaper instituted a world affairs program which now involves 1,000 schools and 8,000 students.

Paddock Publications, as the only source of information on a sustained basis, in the North West suburbs, has a grand opportunity to develop a "textbook" program which would aid teachers who are trying to develop interest among youngsters in local community affairs.

You cannot sponsor the Little League all winter and this might contribute just as much to the development of future citizens.

Furthermore you have very little time in which to win the friendship of the group which constitutes your future subscribers.

Dr. Wilbur Schramm, director of the Institute of Communications Research at Stanford University, has conducted some significant research on patterns of children's reading of newspapers. He finds that the newspaper is the last major medium to which the school pupil is exposed. Children begin TV watching, listening to radio and going to movies before they begin to read the newspaper. However, by the time they leave high school about 90 per cent read the newspaper at least some time every week.

Researcher Eugene Gilbert, author of the Associated Press Newsfeatures column, "What Young People Think," points out that the peak year for marriage among American women today is 18. Approximately one million teenagers are married, raising families and making their own buying decisions.

Here's Reply To Disgusted

"Let's Talk About Living"

"Disgusted" would not have heard of the above cowboy ballad as it's way outta his class (above him). He should loosen up and buy the record, as it continues — "instead of DYING".

But we (I'm the spokesman for our motley group) are indebted to his preaching. If you can't beat 'em, organize. Our part of this lovely town was the only unorganized area. Now we have "V. U. S." — the Vulgarian Uncivilized Slobs". Maybe we can get La Von Foarde for our leader?

IF DISGUSTED doesn't live in our area, he should. We certainly qualify 100 per cent. We're all rich bums; one of us is a genuine Gallo wine man mit grade A all nite barking hound, holder of loud late patio "orgies", in the business of producing glaring outside lites and owner of a 20,000 decibel yell; another is an expert weekly trash burner (Digusted undoubtedly didn't work on a truck picking up papers for the Boy Scouts); another COULDN'T wash his car without a radio playing "Cooky Little Paradise"; another is a descendent of Edison, who can't sleep without his patio lites on; and I'm the professional horn blower.

We're made up of a bunch of prestige seeking third class executives, 35 to 60 years old, Polocks, Krauts, Diegos, Swedes and Americans, self-made slobs coming from cold water flats in Chicago, some born with golden spoons and Catholic and Protestant Church members (plus one Democrat — you can't stop 'em!)

We like to live, help live and let live. We came to this town to live in the suburbs. If Disgusted thinks it's noisy, we could refresh his aged, failing mind with the noise of a four story cold water flat near Chicago Ave. and Ashland. One of us beat his brains out for 20 years getting here and he has no intention of joining the grouchy recluse idealogy of Disgusted's.

We haven't thought of gaining amusement by bothering him, but if he'd have the guts (I take it he ain't no executive and by his tone he, therefore, should be "normal") to sign his name we'd sure take it into consideration.

WE'VE JOINED in on every community drive since we've been here. About 90 per cent of the "normal" people who've refused contributions or effort have been grouchy recluse types who button down the hatches at 9 o'clock and expect everyone else with friends and "urchins" (who ain't dead) to do the same.

We've been guilty of horn blowing (even at 2 a.m.) after a fourteen hour plane ride (executive class), four weeks away from home, and knowing full well "live" neighbors were waiting up for a welcome home party. We have "going away" and spontaneous "iobs" too.

My kids would kill us if we DIDN'T blow our horn going to work or out to dinner. They happen to like it and I'm "real" sorry Disgusted doesn't.

Mt. Prospect has some fine accommodating police men. Mighty effective too. They're out in a minute if there's any distrubance. (They've been at our house too. See "Police Earn Our Thanks", August 18. Digusted should spend a dime on a phone call or have the guts to tell his neighbors.

One of our big mouth "leaders" has 14 year's seniority as a Mt. Prospectan. He's loud, so's his mutt, horn, kids, etc. If there were more like him around we'd have a much better town.

DISGUSTED shoulda wrote what classical music he likes — we got a lot of volume we don't even use on the old static machine.

They have a lot of quiet rooms in booby hatches, old peoples' homes, and Nevada. We'll gladly start another community collection for the "normal" ones to move back. He can't beat us and as we wouldn't let him join us, we hope he gets our message. When he gets "there" he should try a 20-foot high electrically charged sound proofed fence because there's bums like us (we hope!) all over.

Suggested reading for the probable traveler: What's it like to have friends (even one); When not to beat your kids and wife (this could be why his windows are always shut?); How to take a drink or Milltown and act like it; and How to make others happy — by taking a one-way satellite ride.

Personally, I've got the best neighbors in the world (I think La Von Foarde has too). When they keep us awake we tell 'em to shut up — after sponging a couple of hot dogs and "belts" off 'em.

IF ONE OF us gets in trouble it always ends up where you have to kick 'em out of your "shack" (which us rich bums live in) before they bust a gut helping you.

Well, adios Disgusted, gotta go over and shut up that yapping mutt, via a couple of "rounds" and some friendliness. Contact us for a good head shrinker. How'd we get so "rich" anyway? Don't you like baseball?. Where'd you really come from — Royalty?

Commercial Restrictions

Up to date the Rolling Meadows party have refrained from criticism of the present administration. However, recent council actions make it impossible for the Rolling Meadows party to sit back and watch the haphazard way in which the city laws are being amended and enacted. The action taken in the last week's liquor ordinance is a point in case.

Formerly, the ordinance governing alcoholic liquors permitted veterans organizations, non-profit community organizations to hold a liquor license for a yearly fee of $450 which was better than twice the amount charged by neighboring communities.

LAST WEEK, the council in a so-called effort to "protect the morals of the community" took it upon themselves to amend the old ordinance. This amendment would result in a yearly cost of $3650 to any of the above organizations should they build a facility in the city in which they maintain a bar for members, their families and their guests.

This is purely a discriminatory decision that will discourage community organizations from locating in the city. In fact it was stated by one alderman should these organizations desire a bar, he would just as soon they move out of the city. We, the Rolling Meadows party, do not agree with this statement.

We feel that organizations such as the American Legion, the Lions club and the Junior chamber of commerce have contributed greatly to our community, both in work and public spirit. We feel that it is insulting to insinuate that the members of these organizations, their families and their friends would not conduct themselves in an orderly manner. The city council should do all in their power to encourage these organizations and organizations like them.

Another portion of this ordinance that is objectionable to the Rolling Meadows party is the regulation concerning Class B licenses, which relates to the sale of package goods.

PRESENT administration in their campaign promises pledged to encourage commercial growth. However, in the action of August 23, they indicated little desire to cooperate with our local businessmen.

Business men and local stores involved have written to the city council requesting that the council adopt an ordinance that will permit local merchants to sell package goods on all holidays except Easter Sunday, such as is done in our neighboring communities. This request was strictly ignored. The council took it upon themselves to impose even greater restrictions on these merchants.

The Rolling Meadows party know that these stores have done well by the community in servicing us. We in turn should give them some consideration that they would be given in any other town in our vicinity.

These restrictions do not encourage commercial growth.

The Rolling Meadows party, as citizens of this community, will speak out on issues that are a disservice to the city of Rolling Meadows.

He 'Seconds' Traffic Gripe

I fully agree with "Disgusted Motorist" whose letter on the traffic situation in Addison appeared last week. I used to find it quite handy to stop there for haircuts and do a little shopping. Over the years I imagine I've spent quite a lot of money there. But the traffic conditions have gotten so that all I care to do is get through the town without having a mishap.

It always seemed to me that traffic is a police department issue. If they can't cope with it or improve the situation, then I believe some changes ought to be made. The answer is very simple, really.

As for me, I'll do my shopping in my own home town.

Carpentier Offers Reply

I have read with great interest your editorial of August 4, "Carpentier Does Suburbs No Favor With New Change," concerning the approaching closing of the drivers license examining station in Arlington Heights and the conduct of our employees at that station.

One of the purposes of the new super stations is to achieve a greater degree of supervision over employees to eliminate the kind of inefficiency to which you referred. With employees scattered in small groups through nine stations in Cook county, it is obviously much more difficult to maintain the quality of discipline needed to produce responsible service than when they are more closely supervised in a smaller number of groups. The establishment of the super stations anticipated is designed to correct your objections to the conduct of our employees in the Arlington Heights station,

ANOTHER important factor in the change to three large stations instead of nine small ones is traffic safety. All three super stations have off-street testing areas for the driving examination, thereby eliminating the necessity for testing frequently inexperienced applicants for driver licenses on neighborhood streets.

The locations for the Cook county stations were chosen after an exhaustive population, driver and motor vehicle distribution survey conducted by George Barton and Associates, traffic engineers. One of the objectives of this survey was the selection of locations which will be most accessible from the main arteries of express traffic in Cook county. To illustrate, the South Side facility at 99th st. and South Park ave. is readily available from the busy South Expressway. The West Side facility is located at Lexington st. and Lockwood ave., a half block from the Congress Street Expressway. On the North Side, a facility is located at Elston and Cicero avenues, close to the Northwest Expressway. When construction of these expressways is completed, no resident of Cook county will be more than a 30-minute drive from a driver examining station.

WHILE WE appreciate the fact that the residents of some communities may not find these new locations as readily accessible as the admittedly inadequate facilities presently in use, we believe that improved supervision and discipline of employees, the vastly safer off - street testing lanes and the far more comfortable and appropriate physical facilities for written, vision and road sign tests will far outweigh the time spent going to and coming from the stations.

One other factor deserves mention, especially because it is one which is not immediately apparent to the public, but which is one that directly affect the public in terms of expenditure of public funds. The super stations house units of both the motor vehicle registration division and the drivers license division. These two divisions experience their peak work loads at opposite ends of the year. By having them both under one roof it is possible to shift employees as the need develops, instead of having to hire extra, temporary help for each to carry it over the peak load period each year. This saves public money.

More Praise For Dulaney

I read with interest the headline story in last week's Arlington Heights Herald on Mr. Riley, the controversial builder. I found it a most interesting, thorough, and well-written article which helped me to better understand the current issues involving Mr. Riley.

I noted that the articl ewas written by Wm. L. Dulaney and I want to express my enthusiasm for Mr. Dulaney's writing. I have enjoyed reading the Herald for some years and have watched its great improvement in recent years. I have particularly enjoyed the articles and stories by Mr. Dulaney and wated to take this opportunity to offer my congratulations to our local paper for having such a talented writer on its staff.

I might add, however, that all is not bouquets for your wonderful paper: sometimes I get exasperated at the lack of page numbers, the size of the editions, and the difficulty in finding some of my favorite features and pages such as the editorial page. However, I'll not look a gift horse in the mouth. I like the Herald.

New Theatre Doesn't Measure Up to Shaw

by JO PARNELL

The recent presentation of "Pygmalion," by George Bernard Shaw, marked the maiden performance of Storybook Theatre in the new open air auditorium in Storybook City at Addison.

The company of college students, under the direction of Ralph Lane, bit off a succulent chunk in a noble attempt to bring a classic of modern theatre to the stage.

But alas, the sharp savor of Shaw's biting irony was for the most part stifled.

The humor of Shaw rests on a ply of ideas—the dubunking of romantic albeit popular notions, miss the idea and gone is the wit and gone is Shaw. It was this failure to grasp the very essence of Shavian drama that led the Storybook Players to inevitable grief last week.

Shaw went to great lengths in this play to point out the daring and audacity of Professor Higgins' attempt to transform a bedraggled, dirty flower girl into a duchess. (And yet I, and apparently the rest of the audience, was makedly unmoved by such a bold venture.)

ONLY A FEW members of the company seemed to have some conception of the characters they played. Richard Teppema (Alfred Doolittle) presented the most complete portrayal in his role as the rougish dustman, but the full development of character was frustrated by inept direction. Of the others in the cast only Sue Leich (Mrs. Higgins) and Dick Kessell (Freddy Eynsford-Hill), could be considered minimally adequate. Miss Leich seemed to have a feeling for her part which would constitute an excellent beginning of a character development. In addition to this and her general ease on stage, Miss Leich was the only one in the entire cast whose English accent was acceptably authentic.

Only in the garden scene where Eliza (Anita Fecht) makes her wavering test run among the proper middle class, and in the brief appearances of Alfred Doolittle, does the production redeem itself to some extent. But mainly, I fear, because GBS himself steps in to the rescue. Even the most determined body could not completely succeed in doing the old boy in.

The most disturbing and distracting aspects of the play were in the repetitious actions and monotonous vocal patterns throughout the five acts, which prohibited the building of emotional levels.

ALFRED DOOLITTLE must have dug a groove in the floor as he stalked back and forth between the two extremes of the stage. And Professor Higgins must surely have worn off the cover of the hassock, for he would sit in no other place. At one point of action, five persons stood on stage with arms folded in identical positions. Eliza Doolittle, in the last act, plunked on the sofa and began to embroider her doile with such a vengeance one couldn't but wonder if she and Mrs. Higgins (also sewing) were not engaged in a race. And what was most disconcerting was the tendency of the thread to grow longer each time the needle came out of the cloth!

Although these may seem to be trivial points, such (little) things can completely disorient the viewer—focusing attention on meaningless motion to the negation of the essention drama. With such unimaginative and inadequate directing combined with a clumsy set, the production could hardly escape confusion and stagnation.

DESPITE THE rather dismal results, there were brief flashes of talent that managed to show through in several of the actors. It seems rather a shame to have to judge this young company so harshly when it seems obvious that the play itself was far too great a strain on their maturity as actors.

I believe that their current effort, "Salad Days", a gay musical comedy, will prove to be more their "cup of tay".

"Salad Days" has had a professional run on the London stage and is the kind of show which, I believe, will more likely reveal the talent which may be present in the group.

Burt Lancaster Scores As 'Elmer Gantry' Star

By JIM PHILLIPS

"Elmer Gantry" is a movie that takes a novel by the hair, combs out the characterization and almost ends up with a "no - message" massage. The "chief barber" in this movie version of the Sinclair Lewis book is Burt Lancaster, who, as Gantry, makes it plain that he is out to save sinners, even if he has to go to hell to do it.

After playing "ruin-the-reputation" with the daughter of a seminary dean, Burt is given the heave-ho from said seminary, only to take his form of religion to an Evangelistic troupe of "strolling pray-ers" headed by an honest young lady named Sister Sharon (Jean Simmons). Before you can say "pass the offering," Elmer is a bigger hit than a free lunch on West Madison Street. He not only stirs up the growing population with his sermons, but he parades from bawdy house to barroom "breaking up the evil people—sober and otherwise."

Following Burt like a journalistic sheepdog is a newspaperman (Arthur Kennedy), who is undoubtedly confused by all the screaching and preaching, but nevertheless full of a half-admiration for the energy Burt displays. But, as many pasts do, Burt's catches up with him. He begins seeing "Sister Sharon", Simmons, in a different light —and then pretty soon it's dark — and then later it's pitch black. The affair becomes a little hard to handle, resulting in scandal.

AS A RESULT of all this "behind the pews" carrying-on, Burt is nearly ruined. It isn't long before his congregations start throwing cole slaw all over him. However, Burt does manage to come out of the ruins, and his flock begins stirring again; you'd think this would provide a nice ending to the picture — but tain't so. There is a fire in a tabernacle and the victim is Sister Sharon. From this point on, the ending is all yours.

"Elmer Gantry" is exciting because of Lancaster — or Lancaster is exciting because of "Gantry," whichever you prefer. The revivalism conducted by this religious Jekyll and Hyde is a fascinatingly-tragic thing to watch through Burt's portrayal. I think you'll find Jean Simmons every bit as attractive as she was in "Guys an Dolls." Arthur Kenneuy worked well with what he had —which wasn't much. He's done better things, scriptly - speaking. The only thing that might have given even further power to the picture was a more complete adherence to storyline by Producer Bernard Smith and his writer. (Controversy sells ths days, and there is much more of it in the original story.) Richard Brooks' direction is something to be admired—especially when the scenes close in on Lancaster's orations. Cinematically - speak- "Psycho" and "Dumbo!" I "Gantry" is worth an evening, if you can find a sitter for the young ones. Capsule Comment: Elmer puts a dent in the repent-tent!

A FRIEND OF mine informed me that a Chicago theater scored a Saturday Matinee first a few weeks ago. For the kiddies, the theater presented 10 cartoons and the double feature of "Psycho" and "Dumbo!" I wonder who won?

Yes, you're right! The weird - looking character in the flashy evening gown, having roast something-or-other served to her ritzy dinner guests via television is Elsa Maxwell. Her sponsor? Bromo Seltzer. It all goes to show you — never have dinner with Elsa Maxwell!

A new production of that famous thriller, "39 Steps" is now showing at the Surf Theater in Chicago; it stars Taina Elg and Kenneth More. Remember the first one? Madeline Carroll and Robert Donat were featured. I would highly recommend you see this new version next time you get downtown.

The Star-View Outdoor Theater, near Elgin, has been programming first - run pictures lately. They've already had "Elmer Gantry." Keep your eye out for more.

I CAUGHT the "Late Show" and the "Late, Late Show" on CBS the other night. Still the same old dribble about being first Chicago telecasts, and still the same nauseating, filmed commercials every seven minutes or less. The biggest "pains - in - the - neck" in the "commercial" category are: that awful Anacin spot, with its no-change script; the juvenile "Newport" commercial with its silly cigarette box tapping, and put-on" smiles; and the moronic deodorant ad which shows a poor girl stuck to the top of the "roll-on" ball!

I'm probably the last to remind you, but if you haven't seen the television program "Silents Please!" you're missing a real treat. A half-hour only, this show brings us excerpts from some of the best silent movies ever made, with an intelligent narration and incidental effects. Show time is Thursday nights at 9:30, Channel 7. So far, I've seen John Barrymore in "Dr. Jekyll and Mrs. Hyde," and "The General," starring Buster Keaton, not to mention William (Hopalong Cassidy) Boyd in DeMille's "Yankee Clipper."

NOTHING SACRED to Nazi inquisitioner, played by Peter Arne, who maltreats a young nun in the Paramount release, "Conspiracy of Hearts," due Sept. 3 at the Prospect Theatre. Sylvia Syms, as the nun, co-stars with Lilli Palmer, Yvonne Mitchell and Ronald Lewis in the suspense drama. (Bill

MEANEST MAN IN TOWN . . . Adolph Menjou, portraying Mr. Pendergast, a recluse who reputedly cannot abide children, harangues Hayley Mills and Kevin Corcoran in this scene from Walt Disney's new Technicolor production, "Pollyanna." The screen adaptation of the famed Eleanor H. Porter novel stars Menjou, Jane Wyman, Richard Egan, Karl Malden, Nancy Olson, Donald Crisp, Agnes Moorehead and young Corcoran, and presents Miss Mills in the title role. The Buena Vista release is featured at the StarView Outdoor theatre, Elgin.

Three Top Films Set For Outdoor

Following the policy of always showing the choicest of Hollywood's finest productions, the 53 Outdoor theatre has at considerable expense booked into the theatre starting Friday, Sept. 2, three outstanding motion pictures to be shown on one program.

Feature number one will be Jerry Lewis in one of his funniest roles in "Visit To A Small Planet," the story of an impish creature from outer space whose hobby is Earth. Feature number two will be "The Best of Everything," a dramatic epose of the career girls, their lives and their loves and how they handle situations in which they become involved. Featured are Stephen Boyd, Suzy Parker, Joan Crawford and Louis Jordan. Feature number three will be "Mister Roberts," based on the famous stage play of the same name. Henry Fonda, James Cagney, Jack Lemmon and William Powell are starred.

Kiddyland for the children at the 53 Outdoor is in full swing. Among the numerous attractions are the Jumbo Slide, Tub of Fun, Merry-Go-Round and others.

Sweet Adelines, Active All Year

"In the good old summertime" and all year 'round, Sweet Adelines of the Mt. Prospect chapter, region 3, have been barbershop singing every Tuesday evening in south church, Mt. Prospect.

The local chorus, under the direction of Miss Phyllis Haeger of Westchester and Mrs. William Kline of Arlington Heights assisting, has grown in less than two years into a 56 - member chapter. The group has one nationally-registered quartet and four more practicing quartets applying for registration.

ONE OF THE summer highlights was entertaining the entire assembly, delegates and candidates at the closing session of the Republican national convention. Future engagements of the chorus include a September 8 date at Downey Veteran's hospital, Great Lakes, the September 24 meeting sponsored by the Quad City chapter, Rock Island, and the international convention October 19-22 in Detroit, to which many local members plan to attend.

Mushroom Sauce Tops Chicken For Delicious French Recipe

by LOIS SEILER

Not meant for weight watchers but definitely intended for fine dinner fare is the rich and delicious cuisine being featured this week.

The recipes have been shared with us by Mrs. Paul C. Green of Prospect Heights, and they are among her favorites for entertaining guests.

This menu is suitable for luncheons or dinner, and Mrs. Green has used these recipes on both occasions with equal success.

THE main attraction of this meal is chicken: tender breasts served in a rich mushroom sauce. The sauce consists of butter, whipping cream and dry sherry, with an ample amount of mushrooms and shallots.

A French recipe, this chicken dish is rich and flavorful. It is delectable served with wild rice.

"Our favorite salad, which is a nice accompaniment for this meal, consists of bib lettuce, hearts of artichoke, capers and avocado," said Mrs. Green. "I toss them all together with my own bleu cheese dressing."

HER original dressing consists of salad oil, sour cream, bleu cheese, lemon juice and pressed garlic. She beats all of the ingredients together with an electric mixer for a smooth and snappy salad treat. Stored in the refrigerator, this dressing will keep for weeks.

Mrs. Green's choice for dessert is an elegant Date Chiffon Pie. High, light and handsome, this unique pie has a fluffy chiffon filling which is dotted with chopped dates and sprinkled with nutmeg. It is lovely for a ladies luncheon and is an appealing dinner dessert.

ALL OF these are excellent recipes which would please the most discriminating gourmet! In addition to her culinary interests, this good cook has assumed several civic responsibilities. She is a member of the Prospect Heights elementary school board as well as treasurer of the League of Women Voters of Illinois. Mr. and Mrs. Green reside at 300 School lane in Prospect Heights.

ARRANGING A RICH sauce featuring mushrooms and shallots over tender chicken breasts is Mrs. Paul C. Green of Prospect Heights. This fine and flavorful chicken dish, made by a French recipe, is elegant dinner fare. This good cook serves a tossed salad with her original bleu cheese dressing as an accompaniment, with a delectable Date Chiffon Pie for dessert. (SH

Breast of Chicken with Mushroom Sauce

2 chicken breasts
8 ounces sweet cream butter
2 pounds fresh mushrooms
1 teaspoon shallots or onions, chopped very fine
1 pint whipping cream
2 ounces dry sherry

Skin chicken breasts and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place in a frying pan with four ounces of the butter and cook slowly until chicken is golden brown. Remove chicken from pan and keep warm in a very low oven.

Use the same pan without washing it and place in it the remaining four ounces butter, the fresh mushrooms and onions. Cook for 10 minutes over a very high flame. Reduce flame, add whipping cream and sherry and let sauce simmer until thickened.

Place breasts of chicken on hot platter, pour sauce over them and serve with wild rice. Serves 8.

Bleu Cheese Dressing

1 cup Mazola oil
1 cup sour cream
5 ounces bleu cheese
5 tablespoons lemon juice
Salt and pepper to taste
1 clove garlic, pressed

Beat all ingredients together with an electric beater and store in refrigerator.

Just before serving toss together with bib lettuce, hearts of artichoke, capers and avocado.

Date Chiffon Pie

1 9-inch baked pie shell
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 cup milk
2 egg yolks
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup pitted dates
¾ cup whipping cream, beaten very thick
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar
Dash of nutmeg

Soften gelatine in the ¼ cup cold water. Beat together the milk, egg yolks, sugar and salt in top of a double boiler until well blended. Cook over hot water (or directly over low heat) stirring constantly until mixture will just coat a metal spoon.

Cut dates into small pieces with a scissor dipped in cold water. Add to hot mixture. Add softened gelatine and str until dissolved. Chill, stirring occasionally, until thickened and partially set. Stir in vanilla and fold in whipped cream.

Beat egg whites until slight mounds form. Add the two tablespoons of sugar gradually. Beat well until straight glossy peaks form when beater is raised. Fold gently but thoroughly into date mixture.

Spoon into cooled baked 9-inch pie shell, heaping into fluffy mounds. Chill until firm and sprinkle lightly with nutmeg. (SH

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Edward Rentz

The pleasant summer pastime of picnicking has been revolutionized by the recent arrival on the culinary scene of insulated food carriers.

Not too long ago, the only method of carrying hot foods effectively was the thermos bottle or jug, but things are different now, and your appetizing foods can be kept palatable as well as free from spoilage. There are ice chests which are good for long trips as well as shorter jaunts. These are good for quite long periods of time.

For shorter periods or trips, there are metal coolers which are naturally more temporary but still very handy, and, finally, there are insulated bags of canvas or nylon which have the added feature of having washable liners.

Week's Best food buys

Holiday tradition dictates store features in ham, turkey and lamb roasts and steaks. But actual market factors signal beef roasts, steaks and ground beef as consensus meat values on the University of Illinois consumer service food survey for the week ending September 3.

Retail beef demand is dragging, wholesale prices decline and live market costs continue to drop. Steers, for instance, reached the lowest point since October, 1957. Slow movement creates the need to move chucks and provides an opportunity with loins to break steak prices.

But with summer's last holiday fling, consumers are more likely to stay with traditional lines. Stores are in a good position to feature hams and turkeys, and to a lesser degree the lamb items.

EXCEPT FOR feature pricing, there is little actual market change from last week's retail red meat tags. In poultry meats, only turkeys show a significant price change, to a broader range of 39-49 cents taking all weights — the 39 cent tag being selective promotionally.

Retail pricing can change abruptly after Labor Day. Conditions at live and wholesale levels make possible some dramatic selective price cuts on major meats as soon as the influence of the holiday is gone.

Cattle receipts are little changed, prices continuing to drift down, steers reaching a low point as noted. Wholesale demand is slow for beef carcasses, chucks and loins, some declines showing.

Hogs are in moderate supply, quotes returning to last May's level (when they started up for the summer). Wholesale pork is slow and slightly lower for major cuts.

LAMB QUOTES lower at live market on receipts that are 15 per cent ahead of last week and 10 per cent greater than a year - ago. Narrow Eastern demand and good local acceptance results at wholesale in unchanged prices for lamb carcasses and lower prices for primal cuts.

Egg prices jumped abruptly on light receipts. Retail buyers showed signs of price resistance. Cold storage stocks dropped by 19,700 cases under year-ago levels, the first decline in some time. Retailers, apparently expecting consumer resistance, failed to pass along the full wholesale jump, pricing grade A large whites at a new range of 51-59 cents. This is 2 cents and 4 cents per dozen higher than week-ago quotes.

The turkey market firmed a week or so ago to set up retail holiday featuring. Fryers moved up another 3/4 cents per pound, but hold at the current 39 cents posted last week in most stores.

Produce and grocery lines show no immediate change in pricing or supply situations despite a more limited supply outlook for some key items. For the current week, fresh carrots, sweetcorn, cabbage, peppers and cucumbers; grapes, bananas, prune-plums and melons, are values.

During September the following appear on a more restricted calendar of produce values (indicating peak supply month): Fruit — apples, bananas, coconuts, figs, grapes, peaches, pears, plums, prunes; Melons — cantaloupe, casaba, honeydew, persian; vegetables — Lima beans, snap beans, beets, cauliflower, corn, eggplant, garlic, okra, peppers, squash, yams, tomatoes.

Beauty Bright

This well-designed bathroom dressing table gives plenty of even glare-free daylight for cosmetic care. A wall of light-diffusing glass block provides for the distribution of natural daylight, allowing a lady to apply her make-up in the same kind of light she will be seen in when she goes outside. This type of light is important for men, too, who can check the closeness of their shaves in "daylight shaving time."

Older Workers

During the 1960s, two out of five workers will be 45 years or older. By 1970, more than 33 million men and women 45 years or older will belong to the labor force, which is 5½ million more than in 1960.

Pre-Schoolers Puzzling Behavior Only A 'Phase'

Actions of pre-school-age children are often puzzling yet they can be predicted—if you know the symptoms.

Two-and-a-half is perhaps the most exasperating age in the pre-school phase. The child seems to swing from one extreme to another. From wild exhuberance, he may suddenly switch to quiet submissiveness; from aggressive boldness to shy clinging; from intense activity to complete inactivity.

FOR ALL HIS vacillation, the youngster of 2½ can be domineering. He will insist that household objects be in their usual places, and nowhere else. No change in routine is allowed.

Go along with your little dictator's bossiness, advises Better Homes and Gardens magazine. It is typical of his age, and will pass. You can use the strong will against him occasionally—you may even get him to do what you want him to do.

YOUNGSTERS this age have a strong sense of "mine." Rarely will you be able to convince them to share, so save your effort until later. Though he is often bewildering, the youngster is interested in people and everything around him. He asks intelligent questions, likes to imitate others, and having discovered the joy of talking, will converse enchantingly to himself when playing alone.

Three-year-olds seem mature in contrast to previous contrariness. They achieve self-control, and now are anxious to please you. Youngsters of this age listen intently, and understand what is said. They like to help with easy chores in washing and dressing; and can feed themselves but the family table may be too distracting for them.

AT THIS AGE, too, Johnny begins to recognize that he is a boy and tries to copy Dad. Similarly, Janie becomes aware that she is a girl and begins to imitate Mother's ways. At the same time, Johnny may "fall in love" with his mother and try to shut Dad out of the relationship, while small Janie will idolize Daddy and show jealousy of his attentions to Mother.

Such devotion should not be rejected, but the youngster must be helped to understand that Mother or Father has to be shared with the other parent, says the magazine. Also, give them a simple explanation that little boys someday will be daddies and little girls someday will be mommies, and that is why they are made differently. This assurance usually is all that is needed to relieve a child's anxiety and curiosity.

IMAGINARY PLAYMATES may become an important part of Three-year-old's life, or he may decide to turn himself into a favorite animal. You should play along with the whimsy, at the same time letting the child know that you know it's a game.

The four-year-old usually will try everything. He has inexhaustible energy — dashes everywhere, jumps and climbs. He likes to try new words, make up silly ones, ask question until you're groggy, and brag about himself.

Apple Cinnamon Muffins

Here's a delicious, delicate muffin that will add a touch of excitement to any meal — Crunchy Apple Muffins. The batter — extra moist and tender because it's made with nonfat dry milk — is chockfull of apple-cinnamon flavor.

It's topped with a spicy nut mixture, and popped into a piping hot oven. They bake with a delectable fragrance guaranteed to tempt folks even before they taste them.

Crunchy Apple Muffins

1½ cups sifted all-purpose Flour
1/3 cup Sugar
2 teasp. Baking Powder
½ teasp. Salt
½ cup Pet Instant (in dry form)
½ teasp. Cinnamon
¼ cup soft Shortening
1 Egg
½ cup Water
1 cup Apple (peeled and finely cut)

Topping

1/3 cup Brown Sugar
½ teasp. Cinnamon
1/3 cup finely cut Nuts

Turn on oven and set at 375 (high moderate). Sift flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, nonfat dry milk and cinnamon together in a 1½ qt. bowl. Add shortening, egg, water and apple all at once and mix quickly but thoroughly.

Spoon batter into 12 greased muffin cups. Sprinkle on top of batter in cups a mixture of brown sugar, cinnamon and finely cut nuts. Bake near center of oven 20 minutes, or until lightly browned. Serve warm. Makes 12 muffins.

Soil, Water Needs to Grow With Expanding Population

From Seed to Oat–The Six Day Wonder at Du Quoin

Changing seeds into six-inch high green oats in only six days without the use of sunlight or soil is not a magic trick, but an everyday happening at the Du Quoin, Ill. State Fairgrounds

Housed in a 12 x 20 windowless, stainless steel building, this modern "oats factory" can turn out enough food to give 40 horses two meals a day.

The Hayes brothers, Don and Gene, owners of Hayes Fair Acres Stable and officials of the annual Du Quoin State Fair which opened for a nine-day run Sunday, Aug. 28, hope that the new building will pay dividends in the form of exceptionally healthy trotters and pacers.

The quickly - grown oats will provide the Hayes' horses, especially the brood mares, studs and yearlings, needed protein and other minerals the year - around, including the winter when green oats are normally only memories.

A LARGE BIN attached to the main oats building holds 150 bushels of seeds — a month's supply when operating at full capacity. The heavily insulated, air - conditioned, humidity-controlled structure has an irrigation system that also provides chemical additives which make it possible to produce the oats without any soil. Temperatures stay between 64 and 68 degrees.

Fluorescent lighting, on 24 hours a day, helps promote growth and green color as the oat kernels germinate and young plants develop.

The process gets under way when oats are automatically transferred from the bin to special soaking tanks. Soaked oats are spread into sprouting trays, each tray being covered by a perforated absorbent paper.

Water and chemicals periodically filtrate through the trays until the six-day growing cycle is complete. The crisp green oats are then ready for the dining pleasure of the equine aristocrats.

The newly - installed "oats factory" at the DuQuoin Fairgrounds will get its first big workout this winter when the various Hayes' horses return home.

SIX-DAY WONDER. Don (front) and Gene Hayes examine the six-inch high fresh green oats raised in six days without benefit of sunlight or soil in a special building built recently at the Du Quoin, Ill., state fairgrounds. The brothers, owners of Hayes Fair Acres Stables, plan to use the fresh oats to give their trotters and pacers a "summer diet" throughout the winter. Seeds are just starting to grow in the bottom tray while middle trays contain oats approximately two to three days old.

Quiet Talk

I believe in the discipline of silence and could talk for hours about it.--George Bernard Shaw.

Hole Tells Earth Tale

A stranger passing by might ask, "What's that big hole in the ground with the roof on top and steps leading down into it?"

But to the soil scientist at the University of Illinois agronomy research farm this "big hole" tells a fascinating story. With this simple excavation about 5½ feet deep, 10 feet long and 8 feet wide, they can explain the importance of every inch of the soil profile from rich blacktop to the coarse glacial out-wash material far below.

This profile is Flanagan silt loam, a common soil found in Central Illinois that has an uncommon ability to produce high crop yields when properly cared for. Chemical analyses and field experiments give soil scientists a detailed knowledge of how this soil and others similar to it can produce the highest yields at the lowest cost.

Soil scientists B. R. Sabey and L. J. McKenzie built the profile just before a recent tour of internationally known soil scientists from 40 countries. It will be shown to the general public at Agronomy Day on September 14. Agronomy classes will use it in their studies after that.

The intense pressure on soil and water resources will grow with a population that should reach at least 370 million 45 years from now.

Elmer Sauer, U. S. Department of Agriculture and University of Illinois soil conservationist made this statement Monday at the annual meeting of the Soil Conservation society of America in Guelph, Ontario, Canada. Sauer is president of the organization.

He described the future pattern of land use as follows:

"By the year 2,000, the population of the United States will probably be 85 per cent urban. The amount of land for urban use will probably double by that time, requiring about 3 per cent of the total land area. Currently, Class 1 farm land amounts to only 3.8 per cent of the total land area.

"AS TIME GOES ON, we will also need an increasing area in lakes and parks for recreational use by our ever-expanding population.

"All this means an approximate loss of two million cropland acres each year to highway, urban and industrial expansion, and hence increasing pressure on the land remaining for food and fiber."

Sauer pointed out that soil conservation relates to efficiency of production, with a look at the future. Conservation practices have to be part of a sound management program that pays off for the farmer.

Sauer urged putting continued stress on research in production, processing, marketing and consumption, while at the same time working to conserve and improve such renewable resources as soil and water.

"THE PUBLIC depends on agriculture to manage its resources to meet the needs of future generations."

According to Sauer, most people don't think of water as a vital natural resource that is becoming more limited each day." But the already huge demands for water for domestic use, for sanitation, for manufacture and for agriculture increase each year because of our expanding population, he said.

Sauer cited the importance of research which seeks ways to utilize sea water and reclaim brackish water. The funds available for such work are infinitesimal compared to its significance, he said.

Project Shows How Pigweeds Affect Soybean

University of Illinois agronomists are now studying the effects of pigweed on soybean yields. The results may surprise many farmers who feel that a few weeds won't hurt anything.

During the first year of study in 1959, just a single pigweed plant every five inches in the row caused a loss of almost 24 bushels of corn and 13 bushels of soybeans an acre compared with the weed-free plot.

This year the agronomists are also checking to find out why weeds may cause this yield reduction.

With a special light meter they are measuring the effects of shading. They suspect that shading may mean fewer pods on the soybean plants. Soil temperatures are also being recorded.

Visitors at Agronomy Day September 14 will see this research project and hear what the research workers have found out so far. This project is just one of the 18 stops being planned. Begining at 9:30 a.m., tours will continue through the day. Lunch will be served at the farm at noon.

The Agronomy Research Farm is located directly south of the main University campus at Urbana.

Beware Hot Weather Dog Skin Disease

Heavy scratching, falling tufts of hair and dandruff are the warning signs of skin disease that dog owners commonly encounter in hot weather, according to Dr. Erwin Small, University of Illinois veterinarian.

Ringworm is one of the most common skin problems aggravated by hot weather. The fungus causing this infection attacks the roots of the animal's hair. As the hair becomes brittle and drops out, a crust or scale forms on the surface of the skin. It causes an irritation that the dog tries to relieve by scratching.

Although children most often contract ringworm from other infected children, they occasionally get it from an infected animal. But the relationship is not one - sided, Dr. Small said. Children can be just as generous, giving their ringworm to Fido.

Unlike ringworm, many skin diseases are "look-alikes." Parasites like fleas, lice, ticks or mites can cause skin diseases. Allergies, diets or soaps can also cause skin disorders.

Animals taken to a veterinarian for any skin disorder should not be washed or medicated beforehand, Dr. Small recommended. Special tests must be made on skin scrapings or samples from infected animals. Washing and medication can hide the cause of infection.

Subjecting Fido to an assortment of home remedies usually fails, and the dog continues to suffer, the veterinarian added. There are many medicines and many types of skin conditions. But once the precise cause is known, there are usually only a few effective medicines.

The Neat Inner Self

Be careless in your dress if you must, but keep a tidy soul.--Mark Twain.

See Some Improvement In State Farm Future

By L. H. SIMERL

The farm situation in Illinois has improved in several ways since last year.

Our pastures are much better. In the summer of 1959 pastures in central and southern Illinois were, in official terminology, very poor to severe drouth. Pasture conditions this summer were listed as good to excellent all over the state except in a few counties in the southern part along the Mississippi river. The condition of pastures makes a lot of difference in the incomes of dairy and beef-cattle men.

Our wheat yields were much better this year than in 1959. The official estimate is 29 bushels an acre, 14 per cent more than last year.

OAT YIELDS showed an even greater increase. The state average for 1960 is listed at 51 bushels an acre, up 27 per cent from 1959. Quality was unusually good this year.

Hog prices have improved substantially this year, whereas they were going down in 1959. Recent prices exceeded 1959 prices by about $2.00 a hundred pounds. Prices are almost sure to be much higher in the last half of this year than last year. Illinois farmers will gain some extra benefit from the price rise, since they apparently did not cut production so much as farmers in most other states.

This year also has some darker aspects for Illinois farmers. The most important one is the corn prospect. It is especially poor in western Illinois, or west of the Illinois river. The state corn yield is officially forecast at 63 bushels, 6 per cent less than last year. But many farmers in eastern Illinois and in the southern half of the state have better corn than they had a year ago.

The soybean prospect is not quite so good as it was a year ago. Poorer conditions in the north and west more than offset the better prospect in the south. The official state yield forecast in early August was 26 bushels an acre, 2 per cent less than a year before.

PRICES OF BEEF cattle are lower than they were a year ago, and they have been lower all this year. So far prices for fat cattle have averaged nearly $2.00 a hundred pounds below 1959. The farmers who bought feeder cattle early last fall, before the prices dropped, may make less profit than they did in 1959. Farmers who bought after the decline may do as well as last year, or better.

Recent prices of feeder calves are off $6 to $8 a hundred pounds from year-before levels. This decline will cut sharply into the incomes of the considerable number of Illinois farmers who produce calves for sale.

The dairy situation has not changed much. In some markets prices are a little better than they were last year. The better pastures this year have been a big help on dairy farms in central and southern Illinois. (Fm

T.B. Drops Among Cows

Fewer Illinois cattle are being branded with the tuberculosis "T" than ever before.

The massive, nationwide eradication program started in 1918 has been very successful, according to Dr. G. T. Woods, University of Illinois veterinarian. The number of Illinois cattle reacting to testing dropped from 52,139 in 1925 to 370 in 1959.

Dr. Woods said the cattle tuberculosis threat to people is at an all - time low in Illinois. But, he added, nobody is protecting the cattle from people. It is not unusual for a veterinarian finding tubercular cattle to recommend that the farmer, his family and any herd personnel have a thorough medical examination.

These examinations sometimes show that a member of the farm family or a herdsman has active tuberculosis and in all likelihood gave it to infected animals.

The gains from eradicating bovine tuberculosis must be carefully guarded, Dr. Woods said. Illinois sits in a band of states, from Iowa to New York, in which veterinarians find 83 per cent of all the tubercular cattle in the United States. This means that reservoirs of infection still exist and efforts must continue to wipe them out.

Down On The Farm

CARL F. MEES

with Your Farm Adviser

Wheat farmers are getting their soil prepared for seeding this fall. If a soil test has not been run it should be done immediately so that you will know the kind of and amount of fertilizer to apply.

We have a soil testing labatory here in our county that can run a complete soil test for acidity, phosphorus, and potash. Our laboratory analyzes a great many soil samples annually for farmers, vegetable growers, florists and homeowners' lawns. If one has an analysis of his soil, and applies the proper elements, one can rest assured he is applying the correct fertilizer for best plant growth.

The question arises each year as to the proper date to seed wheat. Over a period of years it has been proven that wheat seeded between September 19 and 22 will produce the highest yields. It used to be said that this was the fly-free date. This was really somewhat misleading, because there is no date when one can be absolutely sure the hession fly will not attack wheat. Records indicate that the highest yields ordinarily can be obtained by seeding between September 19 and 22, and it will be relatively free from fly damage.

INDICATIONS are that the hession fly population is higher this year than it was in either 1958 or 1959. In 1958 the state average was 2.9 puparia per 100 tillers, in 1959 the count was 9.2 and this year it is 11.4

Growers can control hession fly and reduce damage to a minimum by (1) destroying all volunteer wheat by September 15th and (2) seed on or after the recommended seeding date.

Real Estate taxes have been a popular subject of discussion since the tax bills are out. If you think your tax bill is too high (and who doesn't) you have a right to ask for a hearing before the board of appeals and present your case. You have 10 days to request a hearing after the county assessor returns the books to the board of appeals. A representative of the board told me that he thought the books would be returned shortly and for me to call the day after Labor Day. If you are interested in appealing your valuation, take care of it at this time. This will not have any affect on your 1959 tax bill which you are paying in 1960 (now) but would reflect in your 1960 tax bill payable in 1961.

ISN'T IT WONDERFUL THAT DAD CAN READ!
Otherwise he'd miss all those bargains in the Paddock Publications Want Ads.
If you can read, too, get into the habit of reading the Want Ads every week. You'll be amazed at all the good news you'll find there . . . bargains in appliances, sporting equipment, furniture, antiques; a wonderful selection of homes and cars for sale; a service and repair guide; an almost endless variety of things you need or want. And the prices are right, too. If you can read, read the Want Ads for good news every week.

MUST SELL OUR AIR-CONDITIONED HOME

We hate to sell our six-room, face brick ranch home, but it is too big for just my son and me. He returns to college soon, so what need have I for two ceramic tile vanitor baths, large kitchen and dining area with built-in dish washer, disposal, range, oven with electric rotisserie & birch cabinets, ceramic tile walls. There are three large bedrooms, the living room holds our grand piano, so it's big; and so is the dining area. Then there is a concrete patio and garage on a 72' lot. There is a full basement with over-head sewers, sump pump and home is air-conditioned.

So you can see why we hate to leave, but it is much too big for us. Even though it's only two years old, we'll sell for under Thirty; drapes, carpeting, etc., included.

Yes, it's a low price, but I must sell quickly. If you're interested, you can see it this weekend, by phoning:

Motorists Penalized By State

Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier announced this week that area motorists had received two revocations, four suspensions and nine probationary permits.

Revoked were the licenses of Conrad H. Hass, 20 S. Hale st., and Lawrence L. Purcell, 2283 W. Sunset dr., both of Palatine. Carpentier reported they were driving while intoxicated.

SUSPENSIONS went to Paul E. Kelley, 424 S. Oakwood dr., and Dale A. Lonergan, 880 W. Old Northwest hwy., both of Palatine; Robert C. Mobus, 409 Forest, Mt. Prospect, and William D. Stroben, 603 W. Rockwell, Arlington Heights.

Probationary permits were issued to John P. Bruun, 519 S. Highland ave.; Luther D. Legg, 1007 E. Palatine rd.; and Theresa M. Rollinger, 1421 W. Kirchoff, all of Arlington Heights; James M. Rich, 936 Wilshire ave., and Frank A. Jurjovec, 801 Crest ave., both of Elk Grove Village.

Michael Murphy, 612 Sha-Bonee trail, and Ted R. Gladson, 617 Oriole lane, both of Mt. Prospect; Larence P. Basik, 287 S. Circle dr., Palatine; and William L. MacShane, 3403 Meadow dr. Rolling Meadows. (B8

Jobs Increase

During the decade from 1960 to 1970, employment will continue to grow faster in the service industries than in the production industries, with a continued decline in farm work and unskilled occupations.

About 8,000 sq. ft. of cement walks are being laid . . . The calaboose which has been yawning, received its first occupants Saturday evening — three prisoners. Chicago parties . . . Roselle Park Club will give their Harvest Home Picnic Sunday, Sept. 18, positively, rain or shine. Cash prizes will be awarded for the best displays of potatoes, corn, oats, and other home grown farm-garden and fruit products. Also, prizes for waltzing, and Ladies prize bowling. Push Club.

Arlington Heights

Saturday Aug. 27th was a fine day for Sunday School picnics. Methodists went to Nagel's grove, and Presbyterians to Allison's grove, two miles apart, on opposite sides of the Des Plaines River. Both had jolly times with no mishaps to mar their unalloyed pleasure. . . . Those Presbyterian dinners have only one fault — they ought to charge 25 cents instead of 15 cents. The Presbyterian Ladies Aid have begun active work again to raise money for the new church. They gave their regular monthly luncheon Thursday.

J. V. Whiting gave Editor Paddock a 25-mile business and pleasure trip in his handsome Maxwell auto recently. He is a safe, careful driver who respects the rights of others, gives over half the road and is very careful not to frighten horses. The judge has a fine machine, neat and well made. Though the engine is rated at 12 horse power it can run at a lively clip of over 30 miles an hour and climb hills with the big powerful machines.

Palatine

Ever since the advent of moving picture actors, machines, etc. in this vicinity, the business men of Palatine have been trying to figure out if the picking of Palatine as the scene of a "back woods" comic sketch is a compliment for the town or a slam. Anyway the actors explained their visit here by the fact that Palatine was the nearest town to Chicago that is not paved and had certain requirements of the frontier town. Young America had all kinds of fun over watching and helping out the stunts, and some antiquated rigs were resurrected from the junk heaps and helped to make the scenery realistic. About a week was spent in Palatine and on a neighboring farm. (Note: The locale for the movie was Brockway street.)

The Community Choral Society talked about last year is about to become a reality, according to announced plans. All persons in town or surrounding towns, interested in signing are invited to a lawn social next Wednesday evening, on the lawn of Mrs. Grace Lorenzen, Euclid Avenue. Refreshments will be served, old familiar games played, and steps taken toward the organization of the society and the choral work.

Increased enrollment is reported in all schools in Arlington Heights, altho final figures are of course not available. The High School has gone over the three hundred mark; grade schools are up, St. James Catholic registration is 130, an increase over last year, and St. Peters has an enrollment of 233, up from last year.

With the safe arrival of Glenn Wilke, weight 8½ lbs. Sunday morning, there are now four generations of Wilkes, all bearing the name of G. H. Wilke — dad, grandfather, and great grandfather.

For rent: apartments; with or without furniture, 5-room $48.00 per month; 2-room, $40.00 per month, including Automatic vapor heating, gas range, and Frigidaire. Campbell Street.

Mt. Prospect will open schools with increased attendance this week. Public school enrollment is such that the entire building will be used and an additional teacher engaged. Mrs. Engler, is the principal.

The Board of Trustees of the village settled a four year old controversy over a Keystone pump at its Tuesday night meeting. They returned to the company a certified check which the village had held since 1926 and received a reduction of 15% from that firm.

First School Day Excites Family of Kindergartener

FINISHING TOUCHES are put on Diane's hair as Mrs. Thomas Bettinger, 620 Banbury, Arlington Heights, goes through mock preparation for her daughter's first day of school. Dale, 2, (in chair) and Douglas, 3½, (on stairs) are rather envious spectators. (Soc

'Going to Color, Sing,' Tot Beams

by JACK MARTIN

Diane Bettinger is just one of hundreds of northwest suburban children who will be attending their first day of school next Tuesday, but to the five-year-old the world is centered around her scholarly debut at Dryden school's kindergarten.

The oldest child of Thomas and Joyce Bettinger, 620 Banbury, Arlington Heights, Diane explained her feelings about the big day, "I'm excited, and Mommy is, too," she informed.

"I don't know my alphabet, but I have to learn it," the tanned brunette bubbled. "I'll learn to color, and—"

"And sing songs," Mother prompted.

"And sing songs," Diane echoed.

BROTHER DALE, 2, muttered something, but Diane asserted, "You're just two, Dale, and you won't be going to school for a long time." Dale didn't seem to care.

"What do you think of sister going to school?" we asked Douglas, who'll be four in November.

"No, I don't like it," Doug snapped. "No, I don't want to go, either," he answered our second query.

"He's going through a negative stage," explained Mrs. Bettinger.

"They're building houses in front of the school," Diane apprehensively informed. She let the subject pass.

"We went to the doctor and the dentist, and I went way up high," the young student offered.

"She means in the dentist's chair," Mrs. Bettinger interpreted, informing us that all beginning students were required to have physical and dental examinations.

MOTHER HAD made a new dress for the first day of school, but felt that maybe it wasn't good enough, so Diane was going to wear a different one. "We've been working on this school project for a year," Mrs. Bettinger smiled. "Maybe I'm just glad to get rid of her for half a day," she joked.

"I'll like it," interrupted Diane, speaking of school.

"Why?" we asked

"Cause," she explained.

Is mommy going to walk you to school?" we asked.

"No, I'm going myself," she replied adamantly.

"Oh, I don't know," Mrs. Bettinger said hesitantly. "I'll probably go with her, although it's only a block away, and she goes down there to play all the time. I don't want to stay at the door with tears in my eyes."

"I can count, too," Diane exploded, and she correctly recited numbers 1-10.

"It's going to be fun," she repeated, concluding her first press interview.

A NEW RED and white dress, made especially for the occasion, will not be worn because the kindergartener's mother doesn't think it is good enough. Diane, inspecting Mrs. Bettinger's sewing technique, will attend Dryden school in Arlington Heights.

MAKING THE TRIP up the walk by herself, Diane eyes the attractive school with excitement. Mrs. Bettinger insisted she wanted to go along although the school is only a block from home and the youngster often goes to the playground.

Sandra Lemke, Bridegroom Now Residing at Ft. Sill

Now residing in Ft. Sill, Okla. where her bridegroom, Marvin Raymond Wolter, is stationed, is the former Miss Sandra Jane Lemke, daughter of Mr. Ray Lemke, 815 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights. The couple was married July 31 in a four o'clock double ring service in Faith Lutheran church, Arlington Heights.

Rev. R. O. Bartz officiated at the service with Miss Brenda Rudolph as soloist. Her selections were "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The service was followed by a buffet supper for 200 guests at the Colonial House in Morton Grove. The couple then left on a week's wedding trip to Lake of the Ozarks before reporting to Ft. Sill.

THE BRIDE chose a princess gown of silk organza with re-embroidered alencon lace trim, portrait neckline with alencon lace and pearls and a chapel train. Her veil was elbow-length and was held in place with a crown of crystals and pearls. White roses made up her bridal bouquet. Mr. Lemke gave his daughter in marriage.

Carol Jean Freise of Arlington Heights was maid of honor and wore a shifli-embroidered organza sheath with overskirt of danse-lete silk, all in yellow. Her flowers were yellow roses with white carnations.

The bride's cousin, Janet Winkelman, and Jodee Lohr, both of Arlington Heights, and the bride's sister-in-law, Judith Lemke of Abilene, Texas, were bridesmaids. Their gowns and flowers were identical to the maid of honor's.

CLIFF WOLTER of Barrington served as his brother's best man, and ushers were the bride's brother, Ken Lemke of Abilene, Thomas Schroeder of Palatine and Herbert Ruesch of Niles.

(Community Camera

Greeting guests at the reception was the bride's aunt, Mrs. E. J. Winkelman, who wore a green silk sheath with matching hat and shoes and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a beige, brocaded sheath with matching accessories and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wolter of Niles, was graduated from Niles township high school and was employed by Universal Oil Products before entering the service. His bride was graduated from Arlington high school and was with Pure Oil Co., Chicago.

Arlington Teachers Married In Bride's Hometown Church

A mantilla of Belgian lace from Brussels accented the ensemble of Miss Marilyn Gamlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Gamlin of Hinsdale, when she became the bride of Philip R. Breiding June 25. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Breiding of Sterling, Ill.

The bride's gown was ivory taffeta with a full train and the edge of the neckline and were trimmed in Belgian lace to match the mantilla. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice and buttoned down the back, and the side draped in horizontal pleats at the hipline. A cascade of stephanotis and white phalaenopsis made up the bridal bouquet.

Christ Lutheran church in Clarendon Hills was decorated with a white altar floral arrangement as Rev. Norman Thalman officiated at the 4 p.m. ceremony.

MISS NANCY Gamlin was her sister's maid of honor wearing a fern green silk chiffon dress with gathered bodice, short sleeves and a rounded neckline. Friends of the bride, Mrs. Penny Gomien and Mrs. Rose Conti, served as bridesmaids. They were attired similarly to the maid of honor. All wore small frame hats with flat bows and carried cascades of large yellow daisies.

Flower girl, Miss LeAnn Parmenter, wore a white dress of organdy with a green bonnet headpiece and carried a basket of white and yellow daisies. Ringbearer was Michael Parmenter and both are cousins of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gamlin chose a beige embroidered linen sheath with matching accessories and a corsage of white phalaenopsis. The mother of the groom, Mrs. Breiding, was attired in a dress of pink silk chiffon with matching accessories and a corsage of white phalaenopsis.

THE GROOM'S BROTHER, Robert Breiding, served as best man while Roger Gomien and Fred Conti were the ushers.

Following the buffet dinner in the Hinsdale community house, the couple honemooned in northern Wisconsin. They are now residing at 551 N. Ridge, Arlington Heights.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Illinois and is presently on the staff of the home economics department at Prospect high school, Mt. Prospect. Mr. Breiding, a graduate of Carthage college and the University of Illinois is a speech therapist at the Arlington Heights public schools.

Round Robin Set By Mothers Club

The Mothers club of Notre Dame high school for boys in Niles will again sponsor a bridge and canasta round robin to be held in the afternoon and evening of the first Monday of each month, beginning Oct. 3. Registration must be made before Sept. 15.

Husband and wife teams are invited to join the round robin, as well as anyone interested in participating, whether parents of students or not.

Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. L. Austin, CL 3-4224.

Arlington Graduates Wed In July 9 Ceremony

Two Arlington high school graduates were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony July 9 in St. Alphonsus church, Prospect Hts. Fr. Canteri officiated at the service in which Bonnie Loy, daught of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Loy Sr., 1665 S. State rd., Arlington Heights, became the bride of Harold A. Coryell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Coryell, 1814 E. Euclid, Mt. Prospect.

Mums and carnations provided the setting when Mr. Loy gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown was fashioned with a lace and net pleated skirt over taffeta with a scalloped neckline and sequins. Long sleeves and a chapel train accented the ensemble. The bridal bouquet was of white roses and stephanotis.

Barb Van Jacobs of Rolling Meadows served as the maid of honor attired in an embroidered lavender on white organdy dress with white carnations and multi-colored ribbon. Pat Loy, sister of the bride and bridesmaid, had a dress similar to that of the maid of honor.

MRS. LOY chose a sheath of beige silk organza over yellow print with a yellow rose corsage. The mother of the groom wore a powder blue taffeta dress under organdy accented by a pink corsage.

Best man was Charles Baily of Arlington Heights with Clyde Coryell of Mt. Prospect serving his brother as an usher.

Following the reception at 7:30 p.m. for the 250 guests in the groom's home, the couple spent a 2-week honeymoon in Colorado. They are now residing at 240 Woodland, Mt. Prospect.

The bride is employed in the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. accounting office in Arlington Heights, while her husband is an employee of the Jewel Tea Co. in Des Plaines.

Miss Johnson has just returned from 10 weeks in Europe where she participated in an exchange of leaves with international members of the African Violet Society of America, Inc. She will also show color slides taken at the world flower show held at Rotterdam.

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

Kids Will Love a Hobo Hunt Birthday Party in the Woods

by DOLORES HAUGH

If your heart is a Hobo, plan that August child's birthday party following your heart. (This article is for the benefit of those who may be saving these monthly birthday ideas — sorry it's late).

The idea is different in that the party starts in the forest preserves with a list of treasures the hobos have to hunt. Of course, have enough adults for adequate protection, and groups should work together.

Invitations

Cut red construction paper hearts and fasten them to a stick, like a hobo pack, after writing the following inside:

"If your heart is a Hobo and almost everyone's is,
To celebrate John's party
this will be a whiz —
Dress up in your oldest blue jeans,
We're going 'on the bum"
We'd love to have you join us,
Won't you say you'll come?"

State time and place of meeting and instructions to parents as to the time you will return.

* * *

INSTRUCTIONS before you start are important - organize the groups by giving sealed envelopes to each child (this can be used for children old enough to handle themselves intelligently, follow instructions and of course, read and write). The envelopes will contain their group assignment, the group leader's name, and a list of some 20 or 30 items that can be found in the woods.

Decorations

There will not be any decorations needed except paper picnic items and a place to deposit the birthday gifts when the guests arrive. It would be wise to let the host or hostess open the gifts before the trek to the woods, as it will be late when you return and you will want to drop the children off at their homes by a certain time.

Menu

Hearty baked beans reheated over the fire - and be sure you plan on the wood, charcoal and matches for this and check to see if fires are permitted in the woods you choose, in order to avoid complications later. Have hot dogs and rolls, relishes and potato chips, brownies for dessert and lots of cokes or kool-aid.

Have your hobo dinner after the hobos have collected their treasures when there is plenty of good light. Marshmallows for toasting and lots of songs to sing around the campfire later on.

THE IDEA of the treasures will be evaluated and, of course, prizes awarded to individuals and groups. Hard-to-find objects of nature should receive special note.

The collection itself will be valuable to any child as it will include acorns, rocks, certain leaves, feathers, etc. and will be a nice momento of the party. Provide boxes for all the objects with the suggestion that they can be mounted and labeled for a project reminding them of their Hobo Hunt. Have fun, you bums, but don't get lost. Happy hunting! (S

Just Around the Corner from Patty McArdle

Typical Fifth Birthday

Dear Peg:

Deirdre's first birthday was a typical fifth child's first birthday - hardly noticeable. I think if Megan and Bridget had been home we would have done more celebrating, however, they are still visiting Nana in Indianapolis and won't be home until next week. We were lucky to at least have Aunt Dot and Ethel here for lunch on their way to Duluth, and with two additional voices we were able to offer a spirited chorus of "Happy Birthday" for Deirdre's benefit.

The afternoon before her birthday, Patrick, Joseph and I baked a birthday cake, the flavor being of Patrick's choosing was chocolate with fluffy white frosting. It was also at his insistance that I decorate the cake as the one illustrated on the package.

After the cake was baked, cooled and frosted I cut a piece of string about 18 inches long and dipped it in a saucer of pale blue cake coloring. Lifting the string out and squeezing the excess liquid out, I pulled the string taut and pressed it slowly and gently into the icing. I repeated this process across the cake, then across the opposite direction. With saucers of pale pink and pale blue coloring and new strings, I made parallel lines in both directions with these colors resulting in a pretty pastel plaid effect. This is really attractive and easy and fun to do (although it sounds complicated when I try to explain it).

Upon finishing Deirdre's cake, we put her in the stroller and walked her to town for a bit of birthday shopping. I picked out some frilly pink oyeralls (thank goodness she's finally wearing out all the boys' corduroy overalls) and the boys picked a darling toy - a large, clear plastic ball with two brightly colored butterflies inside, which fluttered as the ball rolled.

Although her celebration was meager, the amount of presents was not. She received four dresses, all in pastel shades with matching ruffly underthings from Nana and Dot, and from Grandpa and Grandma McA a lovely pink and white corduroy jacket, overall and bonnet set.

Birthdays for fifth babies may not be so exciting as those for the first, however, daily life is much more relaxed and pleasanter, so I guess that makes up for it.

My love,
Patty

Evanston is New Residence Of Arlington Newlyweds

Evanston is now the home of newlyweds Judith G. Fitz-Patrick and Avery G. Smith, who were married August 6 in First Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights. The bride, who attended Evanston hospital's school of nursing for two years, is now with Washington National Insurance Co., Evanston, and her bridegroom attends Northwestern university in that suburb.

Parents of the bride are the G. Stuart Fitz-Patricks, 319 N. Beverly, Arlington Heights, while parents of the bridegroom are the Russell Smiths of Wilmette, former Arlington Heights residents.

Rev. George W. Kincheloe officiated at the 5 o'clock (Community Camera ceremony, which was both a double ring and candlelight service. Mrs. Earle Auge was organist. White gladioli and candelabras decorated the church.

FOR HER MARRIAGE, the bride chose a street-length gown with bodice of iridescent sequins and pearls and a fingertip veil with crown of the same sequins and pearls. She carried a white orchid on a small Bible and was given in marriage by her father.

Only attendant to the bride was Mrs. Pat Harris of Champaign, who wore an antique blue moire dress with bouffant skirt and carried a colonial bouquet of pink rose buds. Best man to the bridegroom was Patrick Harris of Champaign and ushers were the bridegroom's brother, Roger Smith, and the bride's brother, Dennis Fitz-Patrick.

THE SERVICE was followed by a 7 o'clock reception in the Clan room of Old Orchard country club. Mrs. Fitz-Patrick received the 60 guests in a beige lace sheath with beige satin trim, brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Smith chose a beige Italian silk with beige accessories.

Both the bride and bridegroom were previously graduated from Arlington high school. Mr. Smith is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta fraternity at Northwestern.

Composer Writes Musical Setting for His Wedding

A musical setting for the Twenty-third Psalm, composed by the groom, served as the preparation solo for the double ring marriage rite when Jared T. Spears of Prospect Heights took Carla Esther Brooks, of Chicago, as his bride in a colorful evening wedding ceremony in the Timothy Lutheran church, Chicago, July 27.

Rev. Otto G. Thieme officiated and delivered the wedding sermonette. Miss Paula Evers was the soloist and Werner von Behren, organist. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white bombanzino trimmed with alencon lace and a chapel-length train. A finger-tip veil fell from her pearl cap, and she carried a bouquet of amazon lilies with sweetheart rose centers as well as a lace handkerchief which her great-grandmother, grandmother and mother had carried on their wedding days.

THE BRIDE WAS attended by Doris Graham of Chicago as maid of honor, Charlene Becker of Chicago as bridesmaid, and Rena Brooks of Kalamazoo, Mich., as bride's-matron. They were attired in white eyelet, street-length dresses with lavender satin cumberbunds and sashes. All wore matching white pearl caps and carried sprays of cascading orchids.

The mother of the bride wore a dinner gown of pink organza over taffeta with pink accessories. The mother of the groom wore a dinner gown of light blue chiffon over taffeta with white accessories. Both wore a corsage fashioned of amazon lilies and sweetheart roses.

William H. Spears Jr., of Prospect Heights, was his brother's best man, and Robert Cortelyou of De Kalb, Donald Smith of Rochelle, Daniel MacDonald of Chicago, and Malcolm Brooks of Kalamazoo, were the ushers.

IMMEDIATELY following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the assembly hall at the church. Later, a wedding supper, attended by 42 guests, was given by the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm P. Brooks, in the Italian room of the Shoreland hotel.

The newlyweds, after a 2-week honeymoon in the Colorado Rockies, reside at 535 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights.

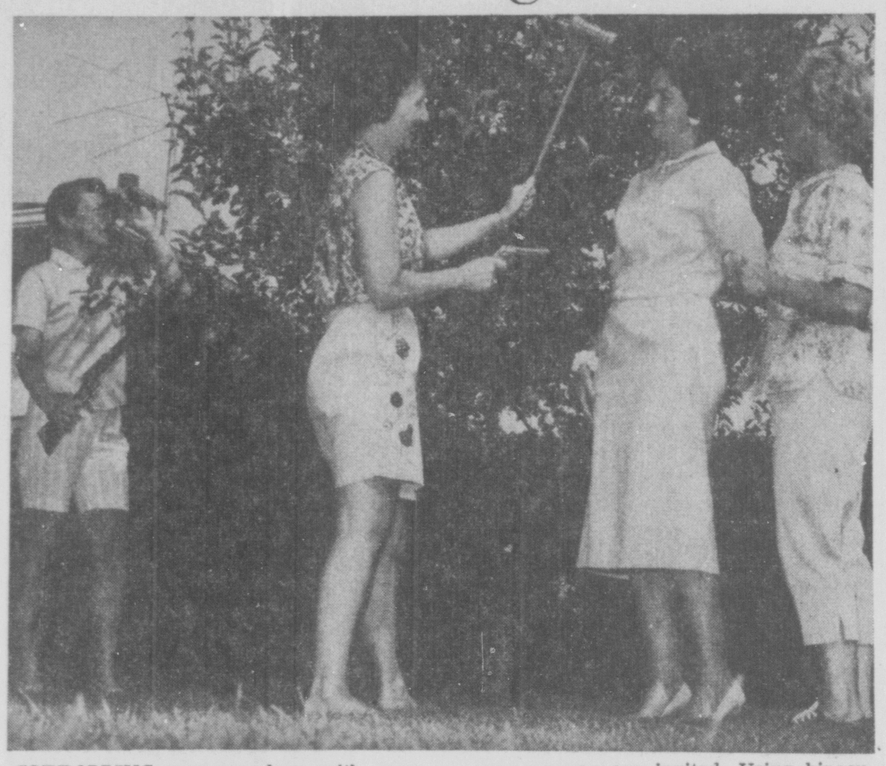
THE GROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Spears of Prospect Heights, won area recognition as Arlington high school's drummer boy during the years 1950-54, and nationwide publicity as a composer of popular songs while attending Northern Illinois university and Cosmopolitan school of music.

He is presently serving as instructor in music theory and composition at Maine West high school, and as director of Maine's show band. The bride attended Northern Illinois university and the Chicago Teacher's college. She will finish her education this year at Roosevelt university. (S

Arlington Juniors Plan First Fall Meeting Date



CORRALLING new members with guns, mallets and arm locks is not the conventional way of increasing club membership and Arlington Heights Juniors guarantee to watch their manners at the September 13 meeting, to which all interested young women are invited. Using binoculars and rifle is Mrs. P. V. Toffoli; with mallet and pistol is Mrs. W. G. Weisenborn; Mrs. G. T. Beckley, the group's president, is the captive; and Mrs. D. W. Townsend is at right using arm lock. (S

All young women interested in joining or re-joining Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club are invited to the group's first fall meeting to be held at 8 p.m. September 13 in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan building.

Mrs. H. L. Berthold Jr., state conservation chairman and past president of Arlington Heights Woman's club, will speak to the Juniors on conservation, while Mrs. M. R. Hartley, president of seventh district Juniors and a member of the Arlington Junior club, will speak on parliamentary procedure.

THE CLUB is both a service and social organization. A member of the General Federation of Women's clubs and the Illinois State Federation of Women's clubs, it performs service to the community and state. As a social club, it obtains its funds from dances, fashion shows and re-sale shops.

Those wishing further information on the meeting may call Mrs. R. C. Decker at CLearbrook 3-5711. (S

Dessert Meeting to Open Panhellenic Fall Season

Northwest Suburban Panhellenic association will open its 1960-61 season with a "get-acquainted" dessert meeting Thursday, Sept. 8, at 1 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Robert C. Savage, 36 Wildwood South, Prospect Heights. Cohostesses will be Mrs. Elmer G. Hanson and Mrs. Arthur R. Wetter of Des Plaines.

Mrs. Jack Sneeden, 302 E. Berkshire, Mt. Prospect, president of the Panhellenic group extends an invitation to all sorority women in the northwest suburbs to attend this opening meeting and get acquainted with other members of National Panhellenic Conference sororities in the area.

A PROGRAM of special interest to all Panhellenic women will be presented at the September 8 meeting under the direction of Mrs. Bernard Pickard of Des Plaines, program chairman for the group. This will be in the form of a panel discussion on the subject of "Our Right To Choose."

Northwest Suburban Panhellenic association has only recently affiliated with the National Panhellenic organization and is anxious to build up its membership in the Mt. Prospect, Prospect Heights, Arlington Heights and Palatine areas.

Any sorority women interested in joining the group, or finding out more about its activities are urged to contact Mrs. Jack Sneeden, president, CL 5-8321, or Mrs. Robert G. Savage, LE 7-1644. Dessert reservations for the September 8 meeting should be made with them by September 6. (S

Cable from Sweden Greets Area Couple on Wedding Day

An early morning cablegram of good wishes from the bridegroom's grandmother in Sweden was one of the highlights of their wedding day for Miss Karen Seneda Flack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett G. Flack, 314 S. Emerson, Mt. Prospect, and Robert Leroy Johnson, son of the Martin A. Johnsons, 22 W. Hintz rd., Prospect Heights. The couple, both graduates of Arlington high school and long-time residents of this area, were married July 16 in a double ring service in St. Mark Lutheran church, Mt. Prospect.

Rev. Robert A. Bartz of Arlington Heights' St. Peter Lutheran church, officiated at the five o'clock service during which Mr. Flack gave his daughter in marriage. Altar vases of white stock, gladioli, roses and mums with pew markers of white satin bows and green ivy decorated the church.

ROBERT Breihan, organist of St. Mark, accompanied Mrs. Henry Peters as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride's gown was of ivory satin fashioned in princess lines with alencon lace bodice and sleeves and tapered panels of lace over the satin skirt which ended in a chapel train. Her 3-tiered veil was of ivory illusion and was fastened to a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. A pearl choker, a gift from her bridegroom, and a bouquet of her favorite flowers, white roses and lily of the valley with ivy completed her ensemble.

MISS BARBARA Stephens, cousin of the bride from Glen Ellyn, was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Rosemary Ruzicka of Mt. Prospect and Miss Judy Wolff of Edison Park.

All wore identical gowns of cotillion blue taffeta with white chiffon over all. They also wore blue satin shoes and blue crowns with seed pearls and nose veils, also of blue. Miss Stephens' bouquet was of pink and white daisies with white net and ivy while the bridesmaids' were of pink and white and blue and yellow daisies.

The attendants all wore white wrist-length gloves and pearls which were gifts of the bride.

A 5-YEAR-OLD flower girl, Barbara Jean Weber of Glenview, cousin of the bridegroom, was also part of the wedding party. Her gown and flowers matched those of the older attendants.

Terry Luster of Palatine was best man and ushers were James Service of Arlington Heights and Carl Krautwurst of Des Plaines.

Immediately following the service, a reception for 200 guests was held in the Des Plaines Elks club where Mrs. Flack received in a sheath dress of pink-beige organza over pink taffeta. Her shoes and gloves were in beige and her feather hat in beige with seed pearl trim. Beige and pink cymbidium made up her corsage. Mrs. Johnson chose a powder blue embroidered organza with shoes and hat to match and white gloves and bag. Her corsage was of pink cymbidium.

THE NEWLYWEDS honeymooned for two weeks in New England and New York City and are now residing at 6681 Northwest hwy., Edison Park. The new Mrs. Johnson was graduated from Moser secretarial school and is secretary to the sales manager at A. C. Weber Co. Her bridegroom also attended Illinois and Northern Illinois universities and is with Harig Engineering Co., Skokie.

Congressman To Address Demo Women

JOHN BRADEMAS

Congressman John Brademas of Indiana will be one of the guest speakers at the 13th Congressional District Democratic women's club conference which is to be held September 14 at the Lake Forest academy.

Congressman Brademas, who will speak on "What it takes to be a Representative," has the distinction of having won a Congressional election with the largest margin of any nominee, Democrat or Republican, in the history of Indiana's predominately Republican 3rd district.

Mrs. Robert Holman of Wheeling is one of the officers and chairmen of the club who are planning the conference. (S

Sisterhood Plans Theatre Party

Sunday evening, Sept. 4, has been set for a Theatre party at the Music theatre, Highland Park, by the ways and means committee of Beth Tikvah Sisterhood. Those attending will enjoy the Leonard Berstein musical, "West Side Story" starring Doe Lang and Richard Barclay.

Because the turnout for this affair seems so great, Mrs. Seymour Footlik, Hoffman Estates, and her committee are already making plans for next season's theatre party.

Palatine Man Takes Spring Valley Bride

Immaculate Conception church in Spring Valley, Ill., was the scene of the August 20 double ring ceremony in which a Spring Valley resident, Miss Barbara Marchiando, and a Palatine resident, Thomas Hillesheim, were united in marriage. Father R. A. Schueth officiated before an altar decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and blue majestic daisies.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dom Marchiando, and Mr. Helleshiem is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Hillesheim, 622 S. Plum Grove rd. Both are teachers in North Chicago.

A floor-length gown of silk organza over taffeta was worn by Miss Marchiando when she was given in marriage by her father. The bodice had a bateau neckline trimmed in venice lace and three - quarter - length sleeves, and the skirt, set with matching lace, fell into a chapel train. A pearl crystal crown held the elbow - length veil of silk illusion in place. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of glittered white glamelias and gladiola florets.

MISS NORMAJEAN Loekle of Peru, Ill., was maid of honor in a street-length dress of pale blue silk organza over blue net and taffeta. The bodice was tucked, and a full skirt flowed from soft pleats at the waistline. A small picture hat of blue net and blue velvet bows accented the ensemble, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white glamelias and white gladiola florets.

The bride's mother received in a blue embroidered silk organza sheath with blue accessories and a corsage of white glamelias. Mrs. Hillesheim chose a beige embroidered silk organza sheath and brown accessories, accented by a corsage of salmon colored glamelias.

Best man was Ronald Madden of Fox Lake, and James Hillesheim of Palatine and Richard Bernardi of La Salle served as ushers.

Peggy Sue Jones Is Bride Of Her College Sweetheart

(Bak Studios)

A romance which began at the State University of Iowa was culminated July 30 when Miss Peggy Sue Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Jones, 2105 Banbury rd., Inverness, became the bride of Larry Ross Linkin in a double ring ceremony performed by Dr. Paul Louis Stumpf in the First Presbyterian church, Arlington Heights. Mr. Linkin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Linkin, Burlington, Iowa.

"Give Me Your Hand," Wedding Prayer," and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Earle S. Auge, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Auge.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Miss Jones wore a floor-length gown of organdy with venice lace at the neck and long organdy mitts. An heirloom gift of cultured pearl necklace and earrings from the bride's grandmother accented the ensemble. The 3-tiered ballerina length net veil fell from a flat headpiece, and she carried a white orchid with white roses, trailing stephanotis and ivy on a white Bible.

WHITE PEW bows, four floral arrangements and 14 candelabra behind the communion table decorated the church for the 2:30 p.m. ceremony, and there was a white aisle runner for the wedding party.

Miss JoAnn Jones was her sister's maid of honor, attired in a street-length dress of blue silk organza with embroidered roses and matching shoes and crown headpiece. Carnations with white rose buds and ivy made up her bouquet.

Dressed identically to the maid of honor, Miss Sue Nicoson of Rolfe, Iowa, and Miss Alice Fishback of Anderson, Ind., were the bridesmaids.

Miss Brenda Cole, cousin of the bridegroom, served as flower girl in a short white silk organza dress and a ring of roses for a headpiece She carried a basket of pink rose petals. A cousin of the bride, Jack Simon, 7, was ring bearer.

A STREET-length gown of gray, pure-silk chiffon with matching purse, gloves and shoes was chosen by Mrs. Jones for her daughter's wedding. A raspberry pink hat and matching corsage of cymbidium accented her outfit. The groom's mother, Mrs. Linkin, wore a soft rose organza street - length dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Richard Williamson of Burlington, cousin of the groom, served as best man with Gene Martin and Robert Keith, both of Iowa City, as groomsmen. Ushers were William Cole of Marion, Iowa and Ken Seney of Clear Lake, Iowa.

One hundred and fifty guests were present at a reception in the bride's home following the ceremony.

A HONEYMOON in the Pocono mountains in Pennsylvania for a week was planned by the newlyweds, after which they are residing at 430 E. Jefferson, Iowa City.

With a major in elementary education, the bride will graduate from the University of Iowa next June. Mr. Linkin will also be a June graduate, with a major in music education.

Miss Mary Ann Noble Chosen Bride of the Month at Dirigo

The Bride's Table for September at Dirigo-in-Wheeling has been set with Rosenthal's Classic Rose china, a matching crystal by Lotus, and a selection of Danish and Swedish steel and teak accessories in contemporary design, the tableware choices of Bride of the Month, Miss Mary Ann Noble, whose home is to be furnished in Danish Modern style.

Miss Noble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Noble of Villa Park, and her fiance, Mr. William Kruse, son of Mrs. Samuel Keller of Des Plaines, are graduates respectively of York Community and Maine Township High Schools. They are both presently employed at Illinois Bell Telephone, where company romances seem to flourish. Dirigo, Inc., has furnished fine table appointments to IBT families for over thirty years.

The wedding of Miss Noble and Mr. Kruse will take place on September 24 at St. Alexander's in Villa Park, and will be followed by a reception at the Villa Park V.F.W. Hall. The couple will be at home at 387 E. Walnut, Wheeling, after October 10.

DIRIGO, INC., 170 N. Milwaukee Ave., Wheeling, provides a registry for wedding gifts from an unusually wide selection of fine table appointments. Shopping is convenient, and there is ample parking space. Store hours are from 9 to 9 daily, 9 to 6 Saturdays, 1 to 9 Sundays. Telephone LEhigh 7-1978.

Countryside Garden Club Meets Today

Table centerpiece flower arrangements will be demonstrated by Mrs. Raymond Postweiler at the September 1 meeting of the Countryside Garden club. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert Youman, 2205 Theda lane, Palatine. Following the demonstration, a flower arranging workshop will follow.

The club's August meeting was held at the Postweiler home and the program consisted of a demonstration by the hostess of mechanics for basic flower arranging.

Since club members feel that demonstration classes, held in the summer only, are more helpful to small rather than larger groups, the workshop sessions are limited to members and prospective members.

Further information about this relatively new group may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Postweiler, president, CL 5-4288, or Mrs. Kenneth Eidnes, vice president, CLearbrook 3-4338.

Nation Prepares For School

Growing awareness among the youth of the nation, of the importance of education in this challenging world, reaches an historic peak as the day approaches when all the children will be going back to school this fall.

Unique to this groundswell is the manner in which the interest in learning has swept downward from the teenage secondary school students, who have been made so conscious of the more exacting requirement for college entrance, into the elementary grades.

The time has come, as many parents have observed, and as many teachers will testify, when grade school youngsers are measuring their own status as well as that of their schoolmates, by classroom achievements.

Enrollments Increase 10,000,000 Since 1950

With the arrival of what one authority has called "aero-space" age and the universality of concern for international relations, even the beginners may look forward to an introduction to the new sciences and to the far reaches of this exciting world.

Quantitatively, the number of children in schools annually has increased by ten millions from 1950 to the present. Qualitatively the collective intelligence of the average person has advanced significantly over the same period, according to the psychologists. The mounting need for knowledge and the expanded and actually more attractive educational facilities at all levels, are credited.

Some 680,000 classrooms have been added to the educational facilities in the United States since World War II, and yet the need grows. Overcrowded schools in some areas complicate the problem of education for eager youth. Some must go to school in shifts for lack of classroom facilities.

Fourth of Population

More than 46,000,000 — that is approximately one fourth of the population of the United States — will be enrolled in classes that stretch across the age groups from first grade through high school and into the graduate schools of Universities.

The overwhelming first objective of the average parent of today, is to make sure their children get a college education. A recent survey showed 68 percent of the parents interviewed to be so oriented. And, as has been observed, preparation for college now starts way back in grade school.

Thus with the interests of both the children and the parents focused on more and more learning, the days immediately before the opening of a new school term take on the greatest of importance. For this is the time, now, before the bell for the opening day sounds, to prepare the youngsters for their most important business—learning.

Now Parents' Turn

School administrators have been spending most of the summer getting the physical plan ready. Teachers —more every year - go "back to school" themselves to be refreshed on the newer, more effective teaching methods that have been another product of growing need for a more educated citizenry.

Now it's the turn of the parents—and the children themselves, who for the most part appear to be anticipating the return to classes with more than ordinary eagerness.

The task now confronting parents should prove somewhat easier than ever before, primarily because of the attitude of the children. The more knowledgeable teenagers of today, with the challenge of college entrance requirements ahead of them, should understand.

Though today's teen-agers have fads and fancies, similar to those of their age group through all time, many have tasted of the economic phases of life through part on full time jobs, have learned something about spending money, and have developed a wholesome spirit of selectivity.

They will need, principally, advice and counsel and encouragement.

The more demanding tasks may be that confronting the parents of the elementary school youngsters—also more knowledgeable, but less experienced.

In either event, the job for parents here entails checking up on health, and physical preparation for the return to school. This involves outfitting them with the clothes and shoes they need, the supplies they should have, it is concerned with their safety in this more complicated world, as well as for their mental attitudes.

The best assurance of maximum benefit for them from their coming new school term is to make certain they are properly prepared to resume their careers of learning.

More Workers

The population of the United States will increase from 180 to 208 million, up 28 million (15 per cent) over the decade to 1970, while the number of workers will grow faster, nearly 20 per cent, to 87 million.

Missionaries United In Palatine Church

Two missionaries were joined together August 20 at a double ring ceremony in Northwest Suburbs Bible church by a cousin of the bride, Rev. Robert Schroeder. Miss Joan Ninnemann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Ninnemann, 215 S. Brockway, Palatine, was escorted to the altar by her father to meet her groom, Byron McCreary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl McCreary of Middletown, Ohio. (Bak Studios) (S

Mrs. Robert Wade played the organ while Warner Buchelt sang 'Beneath the Cross of Jesus" and My Jesus, I Love Thee." White mums decorated the sanctuary.

bateau neckline and sleeves of french lace was styled with an empire panel, antique white satin bodice and skirt with half train. The fingertip veil was held in place by a Juliet cap of matching french lace. A white orchid with flowered white carnations and ivy made up the bouquet.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Wayne Ellis of Palatine, who wore a blue satin dress and carried pink feathered carnations.

James Hamblin of Krypton, Ky., was best man, while James Hamblin, also of Krypton, and Warner Buchelt of Chicago served as ushers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ninnemann chose a dress of chiffon over satin with a light background and flowered design. Mrs. McCreary, mother of the groom, wore a green dacron print dress. Both had white carnation corsages.

A week's honeymoon in northern Wisconsin followed the reception in the church parlors for 200 guests. After September 1 they will be home in Baxter, Ky.

THE BRIDE WAS graduated from Palatine high school and Columbia Bible college and is now a missionary with the Rehaboth mountain mission. Mr. McCreary graduated from Appalachian Bible institute and is a missionary under the Scripture Memory mountain mission. Both will continue in rural mountain mission work.

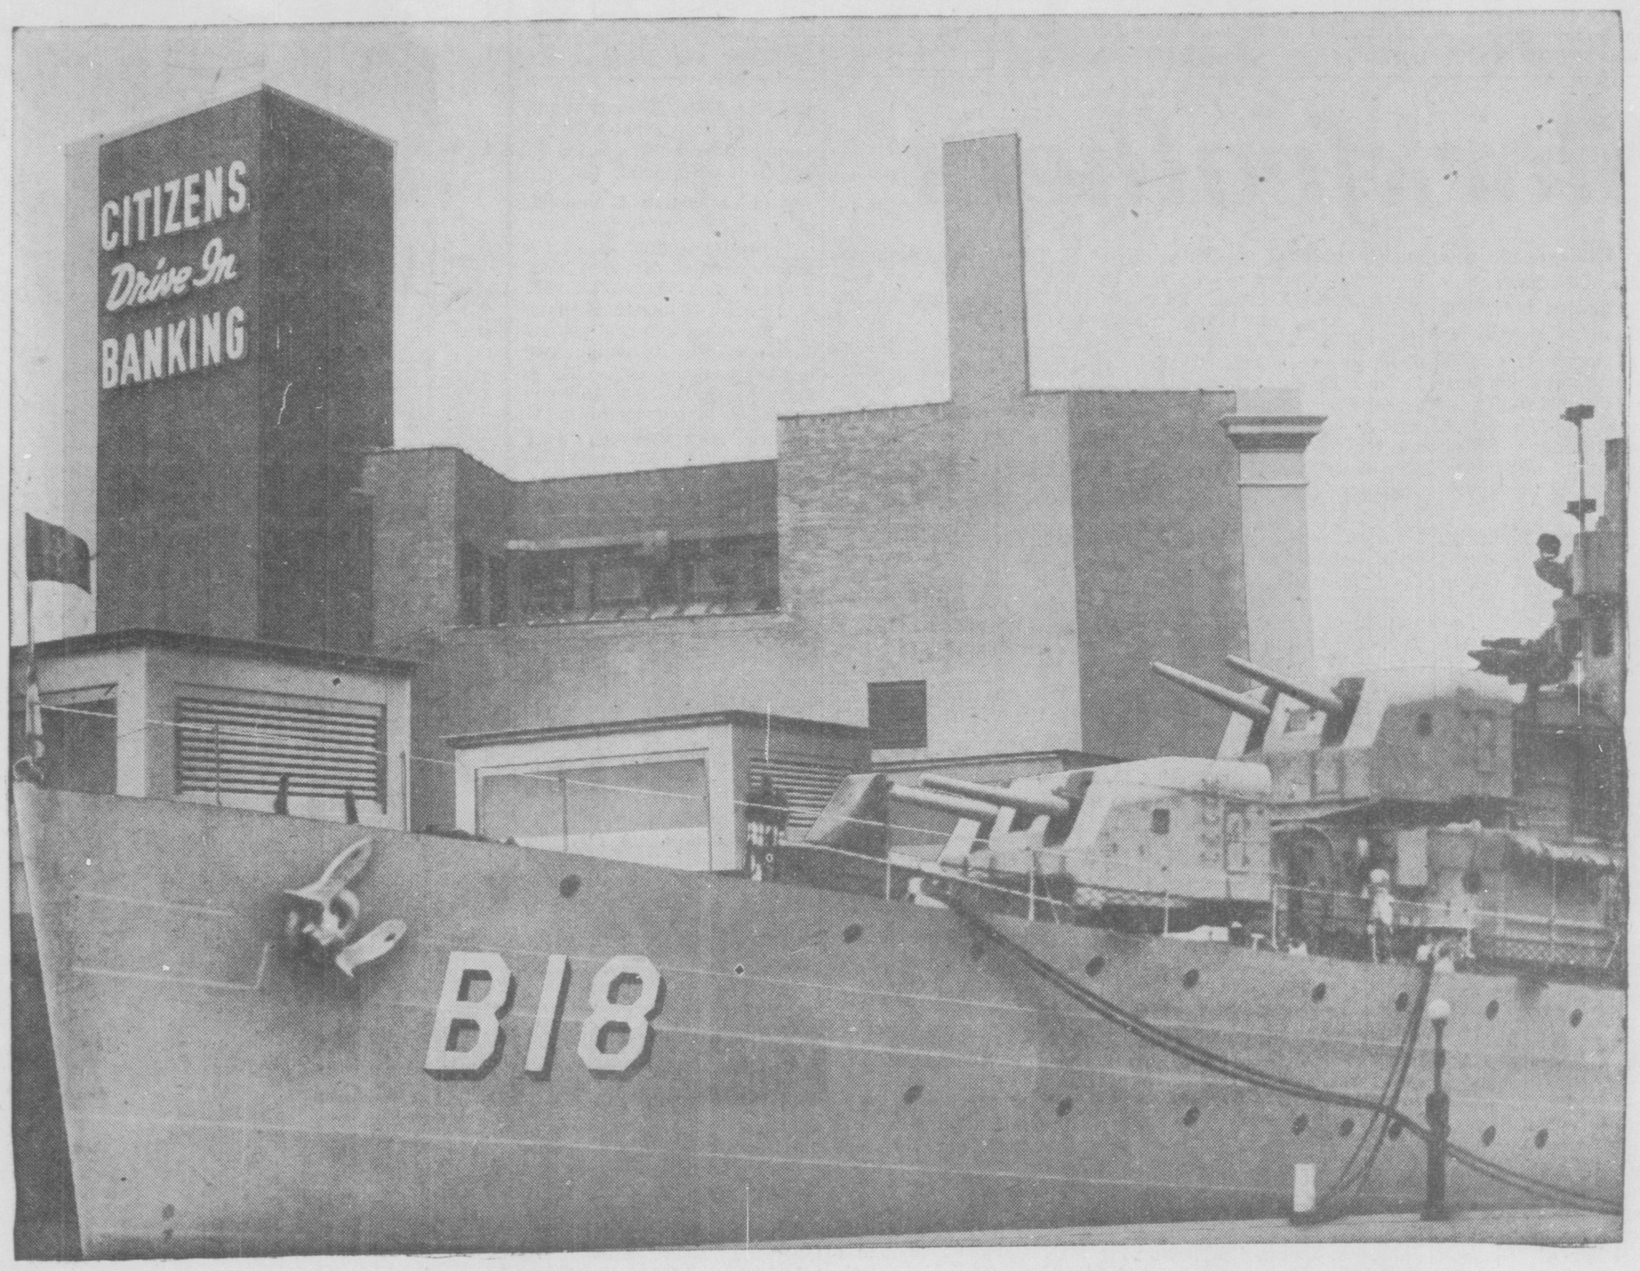
THE BRIDAL GOWN with

JUMBO sized pencils are among the new designs offered now by manufacturers to meet the demand among beginners for something easier to grasp and to write lines "they can really see."



The night the battleship parked in our drive-in lot

There she was next morning, and nobody knew what to do with her.

She took over most of the east side parking space and sat on top of pop-up cage number 6 so we couldn't get it out of the ground. She blocked the Touhy Avenue exits completely; customers had to back around and go out on Northwest Highway while others were trying to come in on the same lanes. You can imagine the congestion.

Otto Voight was still chief guard then, and he and his boys made a valiant effort to unscramble the traffic and try to explain. (Incidentally, Otto returned for a brief summer return engagement just so he could say hello to his hundreds of friends.)

At first it was a novelty. After all, it isn't everybody who has a battleship in his back yard. But by mid-morning we'd all agreed something had to be done. Still and all, she did look mighty sleek and impregnable.

That's when Art Findall got his brilliant idea:

"Why don't we simply move her underground," he said, "and use her for our vault?"

You should see her now! The same 40 tons of impregnability, the same solid steel—it's all still there. But the wonderful thing now is that you can use it, too. There's no better place in the world to stow your valuables and precious keepsakes.

Art installed the latest six-lock protection system and put an electronically controlled door in her bow. He polished all the brightwork and even put mirrors in the ceiling.

Guess what you pay for this true battleship protection. As little as three dollars fifty cents a year!

And you do it entirely by mail or Art will give you sizes and details on the phone, and your key will be sent by registered mail.
